

AMERICAN YACHTSMEN FEAR LIPTON CRAFT

CUP DEFENDERS FAIL TO SHOW CLASS

Launch of SHAMROCK IV

(By Hugh S. Fullerton.)

American yachting experts from the entire Atlantic seaboard, studying the construction of the yachts that are to defend America's cup and the tuning-up performance of Shamrock IV, believe that, if America's cup is to remain on this side, it will be due to American seamanship rather than to the construction of the boats.

The showing of Vanitie and Resolute in the trial races has been far from satisfactory to the experts. They declare Vanitie silly in rig rather than in her lines and a boat that would have to have the luck of the weather to win her performance in the third race were frankish. In heavy weather and a heavy gusty blow she bucked and heeled. Resolute, built close to the old Herreshoff lines, they say is much better under all weather conditions. Vanitie's victory in the first class was due, they say, more to the luck of the weather than to any sailing superiority. Besides, Resolute was faulty in rigging, and the errors were corrected after the race.

Lipton's fourth Shamrock is keeping them all guessing. The English critics declare her a freak and say she either will be an immense success or a dismal failure. She is of the skimming dish type, and the sharp decline she violates a score of the accepted rules of yacht building. The American critics, however, are quite enthusiastic over her, although declaring that under certain weather conditions she will be hopeless. One yacht sharp writes me from New York that he believes either of the last two yacht defenders could beat Resolute, and that he is pinning his hopes on Resolute, which has been delayed, by changing rigging, from entering the trials.

Sir Thomas and many of his friends are enthusiastic. They have built a boat to meet the conditions of the contest. Heretofore the British critics have complained of conditions, that they favored American boats. Now Sir Thomas has built a boat that is more extreme than any he ever sailed against. It looks as if he will have better than even on measurements and allowances.

BASEBALL. The Juniors.

In Wright street field on Saturday, the Victors defeated the Maple Leafs. The batteries were—Winners, M. Dean and W. Evans; losers, Barker and Armstrong.

East End League.

Four innings of good fast baseball on the east end diamond on Saturday night resulted in a victory for the Commercial over the Nationals, four scores to three. Sterling was in the box for the victors, and although his work was not quite so effective as Boudreau's, on the opposing team, he was given better support. Gale, the Commercial's little outfielder, had a nice three-base swing to his credit, while Cullen and Cooper, of the Nationals, both got doubles.

Montreal's New Manager.

Kitty Bransfield has resigned as manager of the Montreal Royals and his place has been filled by Dan Howley. The Royals celebrated the advent of the new manager by winning the first game of a double-header with Toronto on Saturday.

Rocklands 7, St. Johns 6.

By a score of seven to six the Rocklands won from the St. Johns on Saturday.

TOUGH ON THE FANS

Jim Hart, who recently returned from another trip around the world, grew reminiscent.

"One of the funniest things I ever saw in baseball," he remarked, "was on our trip around the world twenty years ago. On our way west we scheduled a lot of exhibition games in towns that never had seen the game. One camp, up in Colorado, was anxious for us to stop, and the promoter wrote, asking what price to charge. I sent word—$1 for the grand stand and fifty cents for the other seats. When we got there we found he had built a grand stand and had built the other seats behind it."

day on the Marathon grounds before a fair sized crowd. J. Neil umpired. Stirling pitched for the St. Johns with six strikeouts, while Ansett tossed them up for the Rocklands and gave five the three strike number and gave the walk to first. McGowan of the Rocklands had a two base hit, while Donnelly, their third baseman, had two three baggers.

The Amateur Question. (Halifax Recorder)

Sporting Editor Recorder writes that Mr. Covey, of St. John, has suspended the baseball players after they had lost the other night that three of our boys were suspended for playing hockey last winter.

I want to learn if you know if the St. John players were suspended for playing baseball without registration cards and without permission, why has the M. P. A. A. not professionalized the hockey players in the Maritime provinces. Have all the baseball players in the Maritime provinces been registered, and can the boys play on the Common for a trophy without cards and sanctions?

A lot of us wish to do right and we want to know what does semi-professional mean. Perhaps Mr. Galtough or you can answer my questions.

AMATEUR.

[The St. John papers state the teams over there were suspended for not being registered and their league not being sanctioned. As far as we are aware, none of the leagues herabouts have been sanctioned, or have all players been registered. The rule applies to all parts of the Maritime provinces. There is no such thing as semi-professional; it is merely a term to designate teams where local players are playing with or against professionals. Once a man plays with or against a professional for a trophy or where gate money is charged he becomes a professional. Perhaps the M. P. A. A. U. of C. officials will give the other information asked for.]

Sydney Trims Halifax Twice.

Halifax, N. S., June 14.—The Sydney baseball team played rings around the Halifax professionals on Saturday, taking both games of a double-header in easy fashion. In the first game the score was 10 to 1, and in the second 9 to 0.

price of $12,500. This also was originally a friendly affair among members, but it has become almost a public business. Members subscribe for batches of tickets and sell them to outsiders at a premium. At par value of 38 the ticket brought five-sixteenths premium this year.

Nearly all the London clubs have their Derby lotteries. One pound (38) is the favorite price for a chance, but in some wealthy clubs there are five pound tickets as well, while in the less opulent club houses chances may be taken, for one dollar. Many of the gamblers are men who know nothing about racing, and in some clubs practically every member has a small investment. Even the king's name is put down at the clubs to which he belongs.

ATHLETIC.

F. McGill Takes Trophy.

By defeating Bob Zimmerman in the mile run in Montreal on Thursday, Frank McGill, of the M. A. A. U., becomes the first holder of the H. V. Meredith trophy.

CRICKET.

Centenary of Lords.

London, June 15.—The one hundredth anniversary of the organization of the Marylebone Cricket Club, the supreme legislative body of the English national game, is to be celebrated this month at Lord's, the club's headquarters in London. The club was founded by Thomas Lord, a well known cricketer of those days, who acquired the grounds at St. John's Wood, which now bear his name. The first recorded match on the grounds was held in 1787 and to celebrate this a cricket festival will open on June 22. The first match of the festival will be between the English cricket eleven which visited South Africa and the team representing the rest of England, while the second match, which it is anticipated will be attended by King George, will be between the army and the navy.

POLO.

Britons Win First Match.

Meadowbrook, June 14.—Completely demoralized by the speed and teamwork of the English challengers, the American team went down to defeat here this afternoon in the first game of the match for the international polo cup by a score of 8-1-2. After the first flurry in the opening period the defending team held away, being outplayed and outscored by the Hurlingham Club representatives and the English ponies.

The defeat came as a great surprise to the majority of the 40,000 spectators, who had expected an American victory and made the cup defenders 10 to 7 favorites in the wagering previous to the game. They were quick to appreciate the brilliant play of the invaders, however, and the stands rang with applause at the clever exhibition of the English players, who showed the blue-shirted riders from England.

Players We Know

Fred McGovern is in charge of the Sydney team and, according to the Sydney sporting writers, has one of the best ball clubs ever seen in Cape Breton. McGovern has a number of Dorchester, Mass. players with him at Sydney and the sporting writers are devoting considerable space to the bright playing of the team as well as to the individual work of the players. McDavitt, who is a pitcher and outfielder, got the hit in the game with Glace Bay, two doubles being among the lot. "Fank" Hughes is a pitcher and outfielder, and he has twice in four trips to the plate, while Finnamore had one single. He accepted eight chances without an error, but McGovern and Connel pulled off a double steal on him. Hughes accepted his only chance in one inning.

Bob Ganley is doing things in Perth Amboy, and now has his team out in the Atlantic League race. Robert Stephens' club got away to a bad start, but steadily overcame this and had a winning streak which landed them on top.

That Ganley has a pretty fair ball club is shown by the fact that Meana supposed to be his strongest hitting outfielder, was purchased by the New York Americans, and yet the team keeps on winning.

Shakespeare in the Sydney Record—The greatest act behind—McGovern at the home plate.

The Montreal Transcript says—"Jerry" McAlone, who played here last season, and George Boardman, who signed with Montreal as playing manager in the proposed Maritime pro league, are expected to arrive in Montreal on Friday, and they will perform for the locals in the opening game on Saturday.

"Any luck?" asked a friend.

"Well, said Comiskey, "I didn't lose as many fish as the Sox lost games."

The White Sox of Chicago have reached a stage where they refer to two bases on ball as a batting rally.

A FORTUNE IN EACH OF THEM

Here Are Some Wants of the World For Which Large Sum Would Be Paid

(London Ideas)

In no field today is there such a great opportunity for the get-rich-quick man as there is in the field of invention. A well-thought out patent will find its way into every market in the world, and the result into the pockets of the lucky inventor. For these persons who have the energy and thinking power, but who lack the necessary ideas to work upon, is appended a list of the world's requirements, together with prizes offered for certain inventions.

A device for pinning which will do away with the nose-disfiguring grip at present in use will earn a fortune.

Machinery is wanted that will engrave designs on metal.

Large fortunes are made every year by inventors of new toys, games, etc. An improvement on linsangs, which shall be less brittle than glass is urgently needed.

Means for releasing runaway horses; a transparent substance which will also serve as a powerful reflector; a plough that will guide itself and turn a uniform furrow without aid; a nail joint not requiring the use of fish-bones; a simple attachment for an ordinary sewing machine to work button-holes, are all included in the world's wants. An umbrella which cannot be blown inside out, an undecorated electric welder to join the ends of steel rails, and also a new and harder material for electric lights with the maximum candle power for the minimum consumption.

In chemistry there is unlimited scope for the inventor. A powdered milk would be a success of a welcome. We also want a process for treating the material of straw hats to prevent discoloration, a method of extracting nicotine from tobacco without injuring its flavor; a white ink which can be used on any material, and a method of preserving butter without undecorated electric welder to join the ends of steel rails, and also a new and harder material for electric lights with the maximum candle power for the minimum consumption.

In the metal trade improvements in steel rolling are in demand. The present method causes kinks in the metal and necessitates rehandling. Many attempts have been made to harden copper, but without success, yet the ancients possessed the art. Dispersed tin can have been treated to recover the solder, but no effective method has been devised for reusing the tin. Again, there is a commerdial demand for a process for recovering tin from tinned scrap metal.

The automobile fraternity are greatly in need of a valve grinder for the removal of carbon, an effective self-starting device to do away with the arduous cranking of a machine, a means for priming cylinders without having to raise the hood.

Further "wants" are, a machine to open oysters; a tool for cutting ice without wasting it; a substitute for putty; a funnel which stops automatically when the bottle is full; inexpensive means of melting snow in the streets; a penholder from which the pen may be drawn without soiling the fingers; a paint for the hulls of ships to prevent barnacles; an improved and more sanitary school slate; new methods of setting precious stones; artificial mica capable of being produced in sheets of any desired thickness, without the cracking tendency of the real thing; a match that defies ordinary winds, and is odorless; an appliance to remove fuel oil from whiskey and brandy; an economical means for soldering aluminum; an accumulator for aeroplanes with enormous storage capacity; a gasoline tank indicator for automobiles; an improved cooling device for vessels at sea; a parcel tie to take the place of string; a sugar cane moving machine; a cotton picker to replace the ordinary hand-picking methods. A machine of this class should be made to move between the stands of cotton and take up and pluck the cotton from the bolls.

This list will serve to show what a vast field of invention lies open to the man or woman of a mechanical turn of mind, who can originate new ideas. Even the least of these "wants" would bring in a fortune enough to last a lifetime without further work to the lucky discoverer.

Said W. Stephen Bush, in reviewing this feature: "I sat enthralled by the spectacle. . . . Once again two great nations fought on land and water. Once again the daring souls of Wolfe and Montcalm were embroiled in the bloody drama of battle. Once again the fight raged about the gentle and beautiful falls of Montmorency. . . . At times the realism was overpowering."

The bombardment of Quebec by the British fleet, the battle at Montmorency Falls, and the deadly combat on the Plains of Abraham between the French and English, are a few of the awe-inspiring scenes.
