NOVA SCOTIA'S DELEGATE

IS CHARGED AS A SPY

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 29.—The sensational announcement was made just before the adjournment of the miners' convention today that there was a spy sitting in the convention as a delegate, and when his name was demanded the delegate making the charge named J. M. McSweeney, representing a local in Nova Scotia, whose home, however, is said to be in New York state. He was said to be in the convention in the interest of coal operators of Nova Scotia, and for the purpose of discouraging the delegates from that district from continuing their alliance with the United Mine Workers. For this purpose it was charged, he maintained quarters at a local hotel, where he entertained delegates in furthering his object.

TEMPERANCE CAUSE IS

PROGRESSING IN IRELAND

Dublin, Jan. 31.—The temperance cause in various parts of Ireland is making satisfactory progress, and those who have promised to abstain are being provided with suitable amusements and companionship by means of local clubs, where every reasonable comfort is to be obtained, and where wholesome literature is placed for the use of members. In many parts of the country the clergy of all denominations are working thus to foster self-respect and manliness in the Irish peasant tradesmen and laborers, and although the experiment is only in its infancy the results so far are very encouraging. Wherever the temperance societies are at work the marked improvement in the dress and cleanliness of the school children is obvious, and optimistic look forward to seeing a sober, self-reliant, industrious young Ireland prepared to assume with dignity their future role as proprietors of the Emerald Isle.

My Lungs

"I have coughed and coughed until my lungs are sore and weak." Get at once to the doctor. Do not delay another hour. Ask him about Dr. Williams' Cherry Pectoral. Then take it or not, as he says.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By BETH CAMERON

HERE is a certain astonishingly common little social sin which has three roots—one in impatience, one in egotism and one in selfishness. I wonder if you can name it from that description. I mean the habit of interrupting.

It is not astonishing to me to notice how many people, otherwise well-bred, are guilty of this offense against tact. I know a dear little hostess, with charming manners for the most part, who continually embarrasses her guests at the table by breaking in on what someone is saying to ask if they do not wish to be helped to this or that.

Of course she only does this because she is anxious for the well-being of her guests, but surely they would not be in danger of suffering the pangs of hunger if she waited for a lull in the conversation to offer to replenish their plates.

Blatant and open interrupting is what another is saying by some remark of one's own is, of course, a fault easily recognized and promptly condemned, but there are some less obvious forms of interrupting that I consider quite as bad offenses.

For instance, to interrupt a general conversation on a subject which does not happen to interest one by abruptly turning the trend onto some subject which one does like, seems to me to be quite as bad as to break in when another is speaking.

And then there seems to me that the blank stare of those people, who always think of what they are going to say next while you are talking, deserves to be classed as an interrupting while you are talking, but none the less irritating, as all who have suffered it can testify.

Another brand of interrupter is the person who breaks in with a pun or joke, or something he has been reminded of in the middle of your narrative and shunts you so completely off the track that it is impossible, or at least most awkward to attempt to get back again.

If I had begun with my favorite lead, a question, and asked, "Do you ever interrupt?" you would doubtless have mentally answered, "Of course not." But now that I've explained all I mean by interrupting perhaps you won't be quite so positive. How about it?

Daily Hints for the Cook

HAM TOAST
A nice way to use the remnants of a boiled ham is to make ham toast. Grind the ham until you have about a pound of meat, using some of the fat, as which have been mashed with a fork. Season with pepper and a little salt. Pour spoonful of butter in a saucepan and add a tablespoonful of flour. As soon as blended, add a cup and a third of sweet milk. Let this thicken slightly, then add ham and the whites of two hard-boiled eggs. Cook for five minutes, and serve with a fork. Season with pepper and a little salt. Pour spoonful of butter in a saucepan and add

FIGURES THAT TELL STORIES

LONG DISTANCE TELEPHONE TRAFFIC

LONG distance telephone facilities are being more and more appreciated in Canada, for every year sees thousands of miles of new lines in operation. Unfortunately, at present no department of the Federal Government collects complete statistics of the hundreds of companies now in operation throughout the Dominion, but the records of the Bell Telephone Company, which is the largest single operating company, reflect the growth of long distance communication since 1885. This company commenced operations in 1885, so that the earnings first shown represent long distance traffic in its infancy. But its development has been marvelously rapid. In 1900 the earnings were $359,000, and in the decade since they have multiplied more than three-fold. The pictures up to 1905 represent the earnings of the Bell Telephone Company in five provinces, but since 1907 the company has disposed of its lines in Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba, and these are now being operated by the Provincial Governments. Consequently, the earnings for 1909 represent the receipts from traffic only in Ontario and Quebec. Some idea of the steady increasing business of these two Provinces is got from the fact that the earnings in 1909 for two Provinces are only some $34,000 behind what they were in 1907 for five Provinces; while the mileage of trunk lines was 48,969 in 1909 for two Provinces compared with 49,748 miles in 1907, for five Provinces.

THE PANEL AT THE BACK A NEW NOTE

Staight down at the back of many of the new costumes hangs a panel or two. The panel at the back of a square skirted dress has a little square train and the straight panels also give a square effect, though the whole costume gives an effect of height and grace. With the bottom. On evening frocks the panel suggests a sash, or separate tunic, as in this frock of white satin over which is a Paradise plume.
