THE EVENING TIMES AND STAR, ST. JOHN, N. B., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1911

Smokers can smoke There'll be no ill effects. The refreshing juice of crushed green mint leaves is the finest smoker's aid known.

The sweet pure fragrance and flavor of the mint juice is a delightful substitute for the traces of tobacco. It's the beneficial confector of the soothing occupation and the delicious relaxation. Fine for breath—fine for teeth—fine for nerves—fine for digestion.

Don't wait for it! ASK for it! Look for the Spear!

The Flavor Lasts!

KAISER WITNESSES 'INVADERS' REPELLED

Went Completely Defeated by Army Defending Berlin—Aviators' Work Extolled.

Wideng, Mecklenburg Street, Sept. 13—The imperial army manoeuvre ended this morning with the complete defeat of the invaders who had sought to hew a way to the German capital. The "enemy" were routed in a convincing attack by the two corps of Field Marshal Baron Von Der Goltz, in supreme command of the defenders, and severely handled. Given the state conditions in actual warfare, it would be hardly possible for a foreign army to regain the coast.

The battle was fought in a great natural amphitheatre and afforded a beautiful panorama for Emperor William and the other spectators to whom almost every note of the contending armies was visible. After the order to cease firing had been given, his majesty assembled the officers for the usual criticism. The aviation officers who participated were personally thanked for their brilliant work by the emperor.

Both commanders stated that they had based their strategy on the reports of the flying men.

The general staff issued an official statement extolling the work of the aviator and indicating their complete conversion to the viewpoint of the airman.

KILLS WIFE, FIVE CHILDREN AND ENDS HIS OWN LIFE TOO

Hanover, Ger., Sept. 14—The village of Wassel reports a domestic tragedy. A laborer named Zantze, while suffering from melancholia out of the throat of his wife and five children with a razor and then committed suicide.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by J. C. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from two to five grains, according to the severity of the case. It acts directly on the blood and mucous membranes of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

MONTREAL MAN IS FOUND GUILTY OF ATTEMPTED MURDER

Montreal, Que., Sept. 14—(Canadian Press)—Joseph Vaillancourt was yesterday found guilty of attempted murder after a trial which occupied the entire day. The chief witness against him was Joseph Colombe, who testified that on June 29 he was accosted by the accused and after some conversation was invited to his room in Ste. Christophe street to have a drink. On arrival there Vaillancourt commenced to act strangely and on Colombe refusing to agree to certain propositions, shot him five times with a .32 revolver.

Colombe escaped and called the police, who arrested Vaillancourt and found a revolver with five empty shells in a cupboard. Vaillancourt claimed that Colombe had attempted to shoot him and this in struggling the revolver went off, wounding him. The jury were out only fifteen minutes before bringing in the verdict of guilty. Vaillancourt will be sentenced at the end of the session.

CITY WATER MATTERS

At the meeting of the water and sewerage board yesterday afternoon it was decided that the city should take the work of finishing the Marsh bridge abutment out of the hands of A. R. C. Clark and finish the work itself. The engineer reported unfavorably, and as there was still retained by the city $1,000 of the contract price, this was called upon to do the required work. The deposit was ordered forfeited, and city workmen will finish the job.

The engineer was instructed to report on the amounts which the city would have to pay to the various land owners through whose property the proposed sewer would run in Kennedy street to Marble Cove. He recommended a new route from that through the property of Mr. Roway, who wanted $5,000 for the right of way. The engineer reported that the cost of the undertaking including everything, would be about $6,000.

Contracts for street work given to Messrs. Tobias & George, and Pollock & Nico were ordered cancelled, and the deposits forfeited because the work had not been commenced in the time limit. Ald. Scully, Ald. Wymore, and Engineer Murdoch were appointed to visit Spruce Lake and report on the lands bordering there on from which Carleton draws its supply.

THE SOVEREIGN BANK

The court of appeals at Toronto has handed down a judgment holding four of the directors of the Sovereign Bank liable for $178,794, others are liable for sums totaling $400,000. Action was brought against the directors after the collapse of the bank by W. E. Slavert, curator, but the action was dismissed and the curator appointed. The directors will appeal and the case will likely go to the privy council.

The directors and the amounts for which they are held liable are as follows: Donald McMillan and Jas. McPhee, $20,488; Donald McMillan, $33,110; Donald McMillan and Donald D. McMillan, $33,110; D. A. Campbell, $39,388; Jas. McPhee, $39,388.

The directors brought in the bank as a third party in an endeavor to recover against the bank, but this claim is dismissed.

"Fine sense and exalted sense," says Pope, "is not half so useful as common sense."

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

TRULY, I don't know whether to dislike them or laugh at them or be sorry for them the most.

Why the people with such an imperious air of self interest that anything irrelevant to themselves eddies, penetrates to their minds. Of course you've met these persons with whom all conversational roads lead promptly, not to Rome, but to home.

Which have you done, then?

Most likely you have taken a fourth alternative, (that is quite correct, my grammatical critics, I just looked it up), and have simply avoided them.

I met an unusually prudent member of this species the other day. She is a person whom I know but slightly so that I opened up several good leads for general conversation. Each time she promptly diverted the channel of conversation towards herself and her family and attempted to impress me with their position and importance.

Now, perhaps you are thinking of Bishop Selwyn's definition of a bore as "a person who will persist in talking about himself when you want to talk about yourself?"

If you are going to quote that against me I insist I have a right to plead not guilty. Truly all I desired was to find some general ground on which we could meet and share alike in the conversation, and that she would not let me do.

So, as soon as I will could, I fled.

Just as we all do.

That's what I meant by being sorry for these people. By their conversational selfishness they not only deprive themselves of the vast pleasure that comes from taking an intelligent interest in other's lives but they drive all who can escape away from them.

One of the prime instincts of the human mind is a love of fair play. And just as the boy who does not play fair is ostracized by the grown up man or woman who won't play fair conversationally is avoided and disliked by the grown up man.

No more learned and instructive conversationalists than Massey's ever lived, and yet he was carefully avoided by many men who would be expected to delight in him.

Well, let Charles Sumner explain. In writing to a friend about an interview with Massey he says that the latter is "truly oppressive; if you speak he does not respond to what you say, but while your last words are yet on your lips takes up again his voracious tale."

I will admit that Bishop Selwyn's definition is true in a certain way. We do dislike a man who persists in talking of himself all the time because we do want to be talking of ourselves. That we should wish to talk of a piece of human nature. But since we are in the habit of controlling that desire and listening to others some of the time, we think we have a right to expect a like self-restraint and forbearance from others and are justly offended with those from whom we do not receive it.

Massey thought he could talk all the time because he knew so much that he must always be interesting. But no one is clever enough, no one knows enough, no one has a sufficiently interesting life to enable him to monopolize the conversation.

And he who thinks he is entitled to do so will doubtless, like Cowper's cat, "learn in school of tribulation, The folly of his expectation."

Unless, perchance, this hint may help him to learn before he enters that unpleasant school.

HOT SHOT FROM A LIFE-LONG CONSERVATIVE

"I am a Conservative of the old school, and I cannot see why the leaders of my party at this time should turn their backs on the principle for which Sir John stood, for which this great party stood for so many years, a measure that will benefit the farmer and the workman."

The loyal cry raised by the Conservatives is rubbish. Reciprocity is a guarantee against annexation. Cheaper food, increased prosperity, and new manufacturing industries which Canada is bound to get with the great growth that follows Reciprocity will bury annexation for all time.

This Borden-Bourassa alliance is clearly a plot to oust Laurier at any cost. It is the most dangerous game that any political party in Canada ever attempted. It has raised the cry of race distinction, but it is going to act as a boomerang for clear-headed people who see through it will go behind the Liberal Party in thousands. I have connections all over this province, and I know what I am talking about. Laurier was my home for many years, and it always returned a Conservative with a large majority. Strong Conservatives there tell me they will elect a Liberal this time.

For the first time in my life I will support the Liberal Government because I know, like many others, in doing so I am acting in the best interests of the people of Canada, and because I am really supporting the old Conservative platform. The platform that was so dear to Sir John A. Macdonald, the greatest of the Conservatives and as loyal a Canadian as ever trod the soil of Canada.

"Before election day the clear-thinking Conservatives of this country will see through the dust the yellow journals are stirring up, and they will line up for Reciprocity. The loyal cry is a farce."—Dr. Ralston of Hamilton, Ontario, a life-long Conservative.

Promotion to Command at Aldershot—Lord Farquhar—The New President of Portugal

(Copyright, 1911, by the Brentwood Company.)

Count Gleichen, who spent a number of years in Washington as military attaché to the British Embassy, and who made many friends, has just been promoted to the rank of brigadier general, and given a command at Aldershot. Besides being the son of the King Edward, and one of his equerries, as he is also of George V. He is a cousin of both monarchs.

His father, the late Prince Victor Hohenlohe, who as Count Gleichen rose to the rank of admiral in the British navy, and distinguished himself in the Crimean war, was a favorite nephew of Queen Victoria. He was a son of her half-sister, Princess Frederica of Leiningen. General Count Victor Gleichen is married to the Miss Sylvia Innes, who was the daughter of Queen Alexandra. She spent some six years of her early girlhood at Washington, where her father, the late Henry Edwards, brother of the fourth Lord Kensington, was secretary of the British legation from 1877 to 1892.

Lord Farquhar

Lord Farquhar, who in recent years has made a point of holding aloof from politics, owing to his intimate connection with the reigning family, and with the royal household, of which he still forms part, as lord-in-waiting to the king, has just accepted the office of treasurer of the United party. This has created surprise, since Lord Farquhar, who is in the neighborhood of seventy, is not generally supposed to wish for greater leisure, and for a relief from every kind of work, that led him to resign his membership of the royal household some years ago.

Lord Farquhar's acceptance of the treasurer's office of the party has given new courage to its members, and is regarded as indicating a reorganization of the council controlling their affairs. He is an extremely able man. Fifth son of Sir Walter Townshend Farquhar, member of parliament for Hereford, he may be said to have founded his own fortunes, which he made by means of banking, with the Duke of Devon as his partner.

His close association with the then Earl of Life won for him the intimate friendship of the latter's only son, the late Prince of Wales, and when Lord Fife married King Edward's eldest daughter, being promoted from an ennobled to a dukedom on his wedding day, it was Lord Farquhar who officiated as "best man." He was created a baronet in 1882, and a peer of the realm in 1888, married Emily, Lady Scott, thus becoming the step-father of Sir Samuel Scott, and when Edward was still a prince, he was invited to undertake the complete reorganization of the royal household of several, including the high mass of skill, and without any unnecessary friction, introducing many reforms, and incidentally establishing his private fortune on a sound business basis. I understand that throughout the greater part of the last year he has been the business associate of Sir Ernest Cassel.

At any rate, he is exceedingly rich, and is one of the most notable figures in English society, as well as in the business world.

Portugal's President

Portugal's new president, Dr. Arraiza, curiously enough bears the same Christian name as his country's last king, namely, Manuel. He is also perfect in his knowledge of English, especially of English literature, that he spent several years as professor of English to the late King Carlos, and to the latter's brother, Don Alfonso, Duke of Oporto.

Arraiza has a strong strain of English blood in his veins, and, unless I am much mistaken, his mother was an Englishwoman, named Miss Street. He is a very handsome and stately looking man of commanding stature, having more white hair, and heavy white moustache and imperial. He will receive as salary $20,000 a year, with an additional $8,000 per annum as allowance for entertaining, etc. He will continue to live in his private home, the exclusive mansion of the republic, The Lisbon white house, namely, the palace of Belem, is only to be used for official ceremonies and functions. President Arraiza is a son of a family of the old Portuguese aristocracy, which for several centuries flourished in the Azores. He served his living for many years as one of the chief professors of the faculty of the University of Coimbra.

Meanwhile the Duke of Oporto, who is spending a few weeks at Aix, and who has having received nothing under the will of his mother, the late Queen Pia, is in a very "strengthened" "circumstances," has been obliged to disperse her household. Her members are being compelled to resort to all sorts of queer trades as a means of livelihood. The queen's principal chamberlain, the Marquis Supulveda, has been glad to receive employment in the administration of the Sea Castle Theatre and opera house at Naples. If nothing has been done for them by Queen Marie Amelia, by Don Manuel, by Queen Marguerite, and the other members of the reigning house of Italy, it is because of the irritation which prevails against them on the part of these relatives of Queen Pia, in connection with their action in refusing assistance of the clergy, to her death-bed, until it was too late.

Canada's trade with the United States

Canada's trade with the United States in 1910 was $111,022,513. Last year it had increased to over $404,000,000. Are Canadians less loyal because their trade with that country increased almost four-fold in fifteen years?

Obituary

George Duval

The death of George Duval, son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Duval, Leinster street, occurred in Boston yesterday. He had been a resident of Boston for the last twelve years. In addition to his parents, he is survived by three brothers, Louis, a missionary in Africa; William, of Quincy (Mass.); Foster, of this city, and one sister, Mrs. M. Sprague, of this city.

Patrick McGowery

Patrick McGowery, who was well known among the farmers of the vicinity of the city, passed away on Tuesday in the third year of his age. He was a native of Ireland, having settled in this country in 1850, when he had been farming in different parts of the province. He was a bachelor, and has a large number of nephews and nieces in the city and in the United States, who will be sorry to hear of his decease.

The funeral will take place on Friday from the residence of his niece, Mrs. Matthew Garey, 31 Albion street, at 2:15 p. m., to the Cathedral for high mass of requiem. Friends are invited to attend.

Morning News Over the Wires

General Otter, inspector general of the Canadian forces, will, it is believed, be retired on full pension. He will be succeeded by General Cotton, commander of the western Ontario division. Brigadier General Legard is slated for General Cotton's position. General Legard may be succeeded by either Col. Denison or Col. Henry Panet.

Miss Eleanor Gladys Brice, a school teacher at Snowflake, Man., was kept a prisoner in the forest for thirty-six hours by a man suspected to be Henry B. Wilson, of Tans, N. D. Men are searching for Wilson, but it is thought that he has escaped over the international boundary. Poses and blood hounds are on the trail and Premier Roblin, uncle of Miss Brice, has been in the search.

Coppola, one of the Italians on trial at the Camorra trial in Italy, has proved an alibi and will likely be freed.

Dr. Dube, a young Quebec physician, was killed almost instantly yesterday when a servant emptied some hot ashes on several sticks of dynamite in the rear of his house. The doctor was passing and was killed almost instantly.

New York, Sept. 13—The suspension of Van Schaick & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, is announced on the exchange. The firm has offices at No. 7 Wall street.

Sometimes a man fails to accomplish anything worth while because he is too busy criticizing some other fellow's work.
