

Re: Julien LALONDE, Driftpile, Alta.--
 Murder. (Sec. 263) C.C. of C.

.....from our house.....
 I kept on washing.

(D) All at once I heard Jean's little girl, scream. Jean had taken her with her. Our door was open. I went to the door to see what was going on, and there I saw Dan with a board in his hand, and Jean was in front of him, coming to our place. Dan followed Jean to our door, but he did not come in. He threw the board away by our door, and he said: "I am going to see L'Heureux, the Indian Agent, all about this". From there he went down the road in the direction of the highway towards the Indian Agency- one mile east, and a half mile north of our place.

(E) Jean then asked me if I would come with her to the Indian Agency. I then asked my husband if he would look after the children. He said: "Alright, but don't stay long". Jean and I then came down the railway track to the Agency.

(F) When we got to the Agency, there was only a horse there. We were in the Agency Waiting Room and talking to the nurse when the police arrived. This was Const. Skead. Dan Williar was with him, in the policeman's car. They came in, and Mr. Skead asked Dan which one was his wife, and Dan pointed to Jean. Mr. Skead took Jean into the office and talked to her. When he finished with Jean, he called Dan and talked to him.

(G) After that Mr. Skead, Dan, left for Faust to get Julien. We stayed here. They came back with Julien Lalonde. Julien, the police, and Dan came into the office, and we - Jean and I, stayed outside. We decided they did not need us, so we left for home. We went by the railway track, but I might state that Dan had left the office a little before us to get his windbreaker. When we got to the crossing, the police was waiting for Dan, and Dan was coming back. Julien Lalonde was walking towards the crossing. He was walking fast behind us. I think he was trying to catch up to us. I kept on going, and Jean stopped. I continued on home. I did not hear them talk, as I was quite a piece away. When I reached home, Albert and our children were there. Albert then went to water his horses at the river. I stayed with the children. There was no one else there. It must have been around half past four when I got home. Albert came back with his horses, and Jean was with him. Jean came into the house, and Albert went and put the horses away, and came back into the house. I started to prepare supper. Jean sat on the baby's bed.

(H) Jean then said she would have to go and get her blankets outside of Pat Lalonde's place.

(I) While she was away, we had our supper. While we were still at the table, Jean returned. She had been gone about a half an hour. She took her jacket off and had her supper. After she was through, she washed her face, and powdered her face, and said there was going to be a dance at Faust, and that she was going there. She put on her jacket and left. All this time I did not see Julien Lalonde.

(J) I swept the floor, washed the dishes, then I went to bed, and Albert went out for some wood.

(K) I forgot to say that after Jean had left, and this was around seven o'clock P.M., Harry Willier came into our house, and asked me where he was to put Dan Williar's furniture, and I told him I had no room to place them. My husband went out, and Alex Lalonde was outside with a team and sleigh with Dan's furniture.

(L) Albert came back into the house, and he told me that he had seen Dan outside.

(M) As stated above, I went to bed. Albert took the wood in, and he too came to bed. It was around eight o'clock by that time, and I went to sleep.

(N) I think at around two o'clock in the morning (27th) I heard some one knock at the door. I got up and went and opened the door. Jean was there. She was alone. She came in, and went and sat on the baby's bed, and I went to my bed again.
