"CRANK" BOMBARDS
WM. K. VANDERBILT'S
HOME WITH ROCKS

Tells Police Thought it was Rockefeller's, Whom He Blames for Sufferings of the Poor.

New York, May 31.—Carrying a leather bag filled with stones, Saerbas R. Fowdres, a wood carver of Yonkers, N. Y., stopped in front of the home of William K. Vanderbilt in Fifth avenue, today and began to hurl stones through the windows. A policeman arrested him as he was throwing the fourth stone.

The police said that Fowdres declared that he believed he was throwing the stones at the home of J. D. Rockefeller, who he said he held responsible for the sufferings of the poor. The policeman who made the arrest said Fowdres admitted that he and a friend had plotted to kill "Mr. Rockefeller" and that his associate had promised to meet him in the district of the supposed Rockefeller home.

Evidence that Fowdres had been an inmate of an asylum was furnished by a physician. He was held until the district attorney should decide whether he wanted the man recommitted.

NORWAY LOST SIXTY-TWO VESSELS
THROUGH ACTIVITY OF SUBMARINES

Washington, May 31.—Official figures published by the British embassy show that up to the end of April neutral nations had lost 121 ships sunk by submarines. Although the state department has had a vast amount of diplomatic correspondence on this subject, in the list appears the name of only one American ship—the Leelanaw, sunk July 25 last year.

Norway was by far the heaviest sufferer, with 62 ships lost. Denmark lost 22, Sweden 20, Holland 7, Greece 6 and Spain 4 ships.

HELL LET LOOSE

German Socialist Paper thus Describes Scenes During the Recent Food Riots in Berlin.

A first-hand account of some of the recent happenings in Berlin is now available through the medium of a copy of the Socialist Journal "Vorwärts," which escaped confiscation in transit through the mail. It shows that the Kaiser's capital is in a state of desperation bordering on actual revolution; that the respect of tradesmen is fading; the population into acts of lawlessness and violence only comparable with a condition of civil mutiny; and that constituted authority is set at absolute defiance by a people on the verge of starvation.

The "Vorwärts" story is evidently told under great restraint, but more than enough is said to show the temper of the people. The Socialist journal may well describe the scene as "a sample of hell let loose."

Last night hundreds of women had been waiting for hours in front of the Bleisold stores to purchase meat. The shop remained closed, and eventually a placard made its appearance in the window bearing the inscription, "Meat C. Robac, Houston, Me.; J. B. McNeill, New York; A. D. Poltras, Montreal; H. N. Rainnie, Halifax; H. V. Clements, Toronto; H. T. Deplock, Montreal; John Kennedy, Antigonish; Gard. H. Hallifax, Wm. P. Gibson and wife, Minneapolis, Minn.; J. A. Burbridge and wife, Halifax; H. O. Henschel, I. Stern, Montreal; W. N. Wear, Toronto; A. M. Mosley, Guelph, Ont.; A. W. Taylor, Halifax; Jas. Pouls, Ottawa; G. W. Badgley, Montreal; J. McTaggart, St. Marys, N. B.; W. H. Barnes, Montreal; J. Rosendahl, Levick, Norway; D. Townsend, River Glade.

Before long two officials arrived on the scene; they ordered Frau Rosa Bleisold, the proprietress, to open the door of her shop. The police entered, and descended to the vast refrigerating chambers, where they discovered thousands of pounds of bacon, hams, sausages, fresh beef and pork, salt beef, great crates filled with dripping and tallow, and many other articles; while in Frau Bleisold's villa residence were found huge stores of poultry, cheese, eggs, etc.

The news spread like wildfire throughout the district, and within an hour the Wilhelmstrasse and all the abutting streets were rendered impassable by the immense crowds of would-be purchasers who surged up and down in their excitement like ocean waves in a storm.

Gutting the Shop.

In the midst of the turmoil there came a great shout, "Down with the shameless ones!" and in an instant the cry was taken up by thousands: "Wave upon wave of agitation, most feminine, and all struggling, humanity flung itself against the front of the Bleisold establishment.

The people were knocked down, and the entrance hall became gorged with the writhing panting, shouting human torrent. The storm raged throughout every part of the building. From the vaults below great joints of beef and veal, carcasses of pigs, etc., were dragged up the narrow stairs by the puffing women with a masterful agility, while from the upper windows strings of sausages, hams, and sides of bacon were flung into the street on the heads of the agitated throngs.

When the premises had been emptied and several of the attacking party lay in a dead swoon in the street, and when five of them had received serious injury in the fearful crush in the hallway and passages, a force of mounted gendarmes arrived on the meat-and-sausage-strewn battlefield, and the mob was forcibly dispersed, many bearing the spoils of battle in triumph to their homes.

Thus at length did Berliners effectually take into their own hands the punishment which the established authorities should long ago have meted out to all those who perpetrate usury with the people's food.

"Irremediable Destruction."

After this it is refreshing to read in the official "Colonne Gazette" the story of the terrible plight to which England has been reduced, while "Germany still remains serene and confident."

In England an uneasy feeling has arisen, and is gradually paralysing the whole country under its dread spell, that the nation has gone further than its strength will allow, and that it is about to go further still.

Everybody is desirous of victory, but in regard to the way in which that victory is to be won a Babel-like confusion prevails. The abysmal and criminal dilapidation of Ministers who, without troubling themselves about the people's wishes, rushed the country into a war of the conduct of which they had not the faintest understanding, is at length meeting with deserved condemnation among all classes.

The general feeling is that with each succeeding step in advance a nearer approach is made to the fatal abyss, towards the edge of which dread and secret magnetic forces are drawing England on to irremediable destruction.

Were there any faith yet remaining in ultimate victory, military conscription, and God knows what more besides, would have been gladly accepted.

Futile Trade War.

In circumstances such as these it is not surprising to learn that all our efforts to wage a trade war against Germany have resulted in failure.

We perfectly understand the propaganda compiled by John Bull. Germany is to be isolated by fencing her round with a customs ring so that she can no longer be England's commercial rival. Then English goods may be planted down all over the world at the prices prescribed by London.

Of course, all the other nations will calmly and sweetly submit to this. France and Italy are already learning, even in war time, that in time of peace they can supply them with substitutes for the products that Germany has to offer. What would become of a Russia without Germany?

We entirely fail to see the benefit that can accrue to England's present friends from an everlasting state of war with the Central Powers, and from a monopoly of the world's trade by Great Britain. The only thing that can benefit them is that they will some day have to pay the costs of England's incapacity to kill Germany's trade.

To this incapacity numerous incontrovertible facts bear testimony. England has cut off Germany from her overseas communication, she has robbed her of her patents and of innumerable trade secrets, she has transported in a shameless manner against the internationally guaranteed rights of private individuals, and has left nothing whatever untold to ruin us. Yet her trade returns show that the success of all these desperate exertions has been absolutely nil.

Britain's Suicidal Policy.

The "Neueste Nachrichten" of Munich professes to take much the same view, but shows incidentally how bitterly Germany dreads the trade possibilities of the future.

Do not let us forget that even should the impossible happen, and the Allies succeed in forcing Germany to her knees, those behind a trade war against us. Even in France and in England itself intelligent politicians have expressed themselves as opposed to such a suicidal boycotting policy. We may, therefore, await with untroubled tranquillity the results of the Paris trade conference.

They will in the long run not hit us any harder than the great military offensive of our enemies, which hitherto has been repulsed only to their own bitter loss.—London Daily Express.

AUSTRIANS CLAIM
30,333 PRISONERS
FOR PAST 2 WEEKS

Berlin Report of Fighting on Italian Front Does Not err on the Side of Modesty.

Berlin, May 31, via wireless to Sayville.—The Austrian official statement says:

"Italian front: Austro-Hungarian troops under the command of Crown Prince Charles Francis have made further conquests in the regions of Asiago and Arseno. In the district northeast of Asiago our troops drove the enemy from Gallo and stormed positions on the heights to the northward. Monte Baldo and Monte Piave are in our hands. West of Asiago our front to the south of the Asse Valley was consolidated as far as the captured works at Punta Corbin. The troops which crossed the positions captured Monte Piave. Renewed and desperate efforts of the Italians to capture our positions south of Bettle resulted in failure.

"During the fortnight since the beginning of our offensive we have captured 30,333 Italians, among whom are 10,000 officers and have taken 298 cannons.

"This morning several naval aeroplanes dropped numerous bombs upon the railroad stations and military establishments at San Giorgio and Dinara. Four hits were observed on a railroad station.

"Balkan front: North of the Lower Voyuca (in Albania north of Avlona), our troops pursued Italian patrols. The situation is unchanged."

A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY FOR CANADA

Farmers Can Prepare for the Future and Reap Substantial Profits Now by Giving More Attention to Live Stock Raising.

There is no branch of agriculture in which increased production is more desirable than in live stock. In both Canada and the United States, despite the ever progressive invasions of artificial means of locomotion, horses have grown in numbers since the beginning of the century. Cattle and swine have increased in Canada to some extent, but not to anything like the equal proportion with the percentage that has been added to the population. Sheep, a most economical animal to keep and breed, have decreased materially. In the circumstances it is hardly strange that prices of meat, of wool, of dairy products, are in the ascendancy, and well maintained. That they will go higher yet is the opinion of all who have studied the situation. In their report the Commissioners of Inquiry into the cost of living, tersely describe the state of affairs in this fashion:

"The increased cost of live stock is due to under-production. The increase in cattle has not kept pace with the increase in population in the principal cattle-raising countries, excepting Australia.

Farmers tell us they have found dairy work and some other production of the farm, more remunerative than raising live stock, and that those conditions have tended to a falling off in the supply of cattle."

The conditions here described are more marked in the United States. There between 1900 and 1913 the cattle decreased 30 per cent. In Russia, Argentina and Brazil there were also decreases. In France, Germany, the United Kingdom, and Austria-Hungary there were slight increases, but only in France at the same ratio as the population. In Australia alone was there relatively a greater growth in the number of cattle than of people. In Canada the population during the period mentioned increased 35 per cent, but in cattle only 20 per cent. Those facts are surely pregnant with significance of the opportunity that lies before Canada in the breeding of cattle. The same state of things exists, only in a more emphatic way, as regards sheep. The population of the Dominion during the last year was of such extent as to produce a certain measure of scarcity this year. While prices fell in 1915, owing to an overstocked market and the demand for money, this year for hogs and all bacon products there has been a marked rise.

With the foregoing outline of home matters before them, it is hard to believe that breeders will fail to recognize the profit that will likely accrue from increased production in all lines of live stock. If, with the present difficulties of shipment overseas, the market is buoyant, it is surely reasonable to expect that its activity will be greatly accelerated when the warring nations shall have reached an agreement.

agreement, and decimated flocks and herds have to be renewed and revived. When that good time arrives, not only the twenty million men under arms, but a large part of the general population of Europe will hail with eager anticipation the chance to once more enjoy fresh-killed beef, mutton and pork. Breeders, too, will hasten to restore their vanished or decimated stocks. A dozen countries will then clamour for cattle, sheep and pigs. Canada with her channels of supply open, with her nearness to the sources of demand, will then be in the most favored position to avail herself of the situation to the full, and to obtain a reputation that will last. Canada must build up her reserves now. Her farmers will find it necessary to exert due to the limit of industry and investment in improving and increasing their stocks. They will need to maintain a steadfast eye upon the best. They will have to put to rest the utmost and wisest assiduity that thrift for which they have always been noted. In meeting these conditions they will enjoy the happy satisfaction of knowing that in serving themselves they are serving their country. They will also be taking advantage of a golden opportunity.

An Easy Way to Increase Weight

Good Advice for Thin Folks.

The trouble with most thin folks who wish to gain weight is the lack of nutriment in their stomachs of stuffing it with greasy foods; rubbing on useless "flesh creams," or following some foolish physical culture stunt, while the real cause of thinness goes unnoticed. You cannot get fat until your digestive tract assimilates the food you eat.

There is a preparation known to reliable druggists almost everywhere which seemingly embodies the missing elements needed by the digestive organs to help them convert food into rich, fat-laden blood. This modern treatment is called Sargol and has been termed the greatest of flesh-builders. Sargol aims through re-energetic, re-constructive powers to lax the stomach and intestines to liberally soak up the fattening elements of your food and pass them into the blood, where they are carried to the starved, broken-down cells and issues of your body. You can readily figure what result this amazing transformation should produce as with increased weight the cheeks fill out, allows about neck, shoulders and gut disappear and from 10 to 20 pounds of solid, healthy flesh is added to the body. Sargol is absolutely harmless, inexpensive, efficient. All leading druggists of this vicinity have it and will refund your money if you are not satisfied, as per the guarantee found in every package.

If you find a druggist who is unable to supply you, send $1.00 to the National Laboratories, 74 St. Antoine street, Montreal, and a complete ten days treatment will be sent you post-free.

NOTE.—Sargol is recommended only as a flesh builder and while excellent results in cases of nervous indigestion, etc., have been reported, care should be taken about using it unless a gain of weight is desired.

The House adopted by a vote of 129 to 103, an amendment increasing the appropriation for aviation from $2,000,000 to $3,500,000. This was proposed in the Republican minority programme.

COULD NOT BEND DOWN

BACK WAS SO BAD.

The bad back comes from the kidneys, and unless the kidneys are carefully watched and properly regulated many serious troubles may follow.

Doan's Kidney Pills will cure all forms of kidney trouble, and cure the kidneys so that they will stay cured.

Mr. J. A. Lubinicki, Dauphin, Man., writes: "It is my pleasure to write you in regard to Doan's Kidney Pills which I have been using for some time for kidney trouble, which used to affect my back so that at times I could not bend down nor could I walk straight. I learned about your pills from your Almanac, and I bless the happy hour I thought of buying this medicine. One time a druggist persuaded me to buy 'a Kidney Pills,' saying they were just as good, in fact he guaranteed they were. I yielded to his advice, and what was the result? I had bearing down pains in my back two days, so I took the balance of the pills unused to the druggist and told him to give me Doan's Kidney Pills as they would stop the pain in twelve hours at the outside. He told me he was sorry I did not use more of the pills, and I lengthened the time to await results. I told him there was no need waiting with Doan's Pills; they go right to the spot. No substitute for me."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50c per box, 3 boxes for $1.25. See that our trade mark, "The Maple Leaf," is printed on both the label and wrapper.
