FEEL TO DEATH DOWN ELEVATOR WEL

Melvin Spencer Killed Wednesday Working on New Royal Bank Building

SKULL FRACTURED; DIED SOON AFTER

Made a Mistake in Signaling While Working the Elevator, and Plunged 40 Feet to the Ground—Second Fatality in a Week.

For the second time in one week there has been a fatality on the new building of the Royal Bank of Canada now under construction by the Canada White Company at the corner of King and Canterbury streets. On Saturday last Michael Gillen had his life crushed out by the iron door of a vault falling on him and between 7:30 and 8 o'clock Wednesday night Melvin Spencer met his death by falling down the elevator shaft.

Spencer's death is regarded as having been purely accidental. He had been employed as a laborer by the Canada White Company for two or three weeks, since night work on the building was started. He was known as the signal man on the elevator, a regular code of signals by striking a bell having been arranged for use in the operation of the lift.

About 7:45 Spencer went up on the elevator with a wheelbarrow, intending to get off on the third story. Upon reaching the second floor he gave the signal to stop. There was a plank placed on the floor diagonally from the elevator well for the purpose of running the wheelbarrows and they were not much more than half an inch from the edge of the platform of the lift. Standing in the elevator, on the very corner of the elevator floor Spencer again gave the signal to stop. His intention of stopping when in a position to run the wheelbarrow on the plank. The stop order that should have followed was never given. It is supposed that Spencer's standing where he was, in some way lost his balance and fell head first into the ground, a distance of some forty feet. The man in the meantime went on to the top of the building.

As soon as the accident was perceived, Spencer's employer, Stephen Murphy, was notified and he hurried to the scene. A telephone message was sent to Dr. E. E. Berryman, who was soon on the spot. He at once saw the man in a serious condition and ordered him removed to the hospital in the ambulance. This was immediately done, policeman Totten accompanying him.

The doctors at the hospital said that there was no hope of saving Spencer's life and notified the home of his wife, Mrs. Spencer, who was notified that her husband was in the city no longer to be lost in notifying them as he was fatally hurt. The man died about more than half an hour elapsed from the time of the fall till he breathed his last.

The injuries received by Spencer were of a serious nature. His skull was broken, face cut and body bruised. He had been working about two or three weeks on the Royal Bank building and had been employed as a laborer by the Canada White Company for two or three weeks, since night work on the building was started. Spencer's father was killed in a railroad accident sixteen years ago near Boston.

Coroner Berryman said last night that the circumstances seemed to point altogether to purely accidental death.

Women's Presbyterial Elect Officers and Finish Session

St. Stephen, N. B., June 12.—The sessions of the St. John Presbyterial today were interesting and helpful. After the opening exercises this morning, Miss Carrie Carmichael, of New Glasgow, was nominated as president of the W. F. M. Society.

F. M. S. in eastern Canada, to be paid over by her from time to time to such students as the said Presbyterial shall direct, and that any auxiliary which shall during any one year contribute the sum of $100 or over shall have the privilege of designating the student to whose use the said $100 or over shall be applied."

Discussion on "students in boys' work" was participated in by Miss Clark, Mrs. McFarlane and Mrs. Crookshank. The latter, although not present, sent some interesting facts.

The papers "What Do We Give?" and "A Call to Service," read by Mrs. Jamieson and Mrs. A. W. Mahon, were excellent and elicited many favorable remarks. Officers for this year: President, Mrs. A. H. Fruit-a-tives

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" differ from any other remedy in the world.

They cure, absolutely, Stomach, Liver, Kidney, Bowel and Skin Troubles.

Because none of the usual remedies have given you relief, is no reason why you should not give "Fruit-a-tives" a good, honest trial. Fresh fruit acts directly on the three great eliminating organs—Bowels, Kidneys and Skin. But fruit contains only a minute quantity of the medicinal principles and in order to receive any marked benefit from fruit, one would be compelled to eat more than could be assimilated by the system.

"Fruit-a-tives" contain all the cumulative virtues of fruit in a wonderfully concentrated form. In making "Fruit-a-tives," the juices of apples, oranges, figs and peaches are combined—and, by a wonderful discovery of a famous physician, a chemical change takes place in the juices, by which the medicinal action is many times increased. These tonics are added, and the whole compressed into tablets.

"Fruit-a-tives" contain no Calomel—no Cascara—no Senna—no Morphine—no violent purgatives—only fruit juices and tonics. "Fruit-a-tives" act directly on the Bowels, Kidneys and Skin—strengthening them—and arousing them to vigorous action. With the Kidneys healthy—the Bowels moving regularly every day—the Liver active—and the pores of the skin doing their full share towards ridding the system of waste—there can be no disease. "Fruit-a-tives" mean health for every member of the family.

ORCHARD'S SIX DAYS GRILLING FINISHED

(Continued from page 1.) "But somehow along the line the thought came to you that you could get out of it by laying it on to somebody else?"

never be hanged for killing Stuenenber. Then came a snowing as to how the prisoner had been dressed and groomed for the trial, and lastly, for a climax, they showed Orchard pleading for and saving the life of Bob Wetter, condemned to death for murder. Orchard admitted that he had appealed to Governor Gooding about Wetter and that later Gooding first reprieved Wetter and then commuted his sentence to life imprisonment.

Orchard left the stand at 2:30 o'clock just before he was excused and remanded he went back to the hands of the prosecution and identified the casing of the bomb he planted at the gate of Judge Goddard's house in Denver.

Orchard is to return to the witness chair later because the defense must lay the formal lines for impeaching him and the state must still have its red-ink examination.

Witnesses Corroborate Orchard. Immediately Orchard left the stand, the state began the corroboration of the Bradley poisoning story. Mrs. Sadie Swan who, as Miss Sadie Bell, was a maid in the Bradley home at Silver Creek; the milkman who sold the milk that was poisoned, and P. L. McCready, the chemist who analyzed the poisoned milk, carried the receding tale of the discovery that showed from forty to sixty grains of strychnine in a quart of it. Mrs. Swan identified Orchard as the man who had been given to him by the Almighty.

For hours the defense hammered at the motive of saving his own life. They insisted to show it in the force of example drawn from the immunity of informers in the Mollie McGuire case, but this the witness would not admit. Next they sought for it in Orchard's effort to bring Steve Adams to the state and then in the subsequent meetings with McParland and Governor Gooding. Once again they emphasized the fact that the witness had twice written his testimony out, but Orchard repelled the suggestion that it had been changed by McParland, Attorney Hawley or anybody else.

Dented Ho Was Coached. After that it was suggested that Orchard had placed his future in the keeping of McParland, that the Pinkertons had sent money to his family in Canada; that he had been supplied with dates by the Pinkertons; that McParland had trained him as a stage manager would for his appearance on the stand. But all this Orchard denied.

Then they tried to show him a pauper, petted hero-like prisoner, fed from the table of the warden, and addressed as "Harry" by Governor Gooding. When the witness was asked if he had ever had another man's wife and sold short weight cheese in Canada? asked Richardson.

Orchard said Mr. McParland told him he was in a position to do the state a good deal of good and that the state usually acted fair with its witnesses.

"Did he tell you your attorney had deserted you and that the state could use you either way it wanted to?"

"No, sir," Orchard replied. "You hadn't given orders not to admit your attorney, had you?"

"No, sir," Orchard replied. "You hadn't given orders not to admit your attorney, had you?"

Orchard declared that his talks with McParland may have induced him to tell his story earlier than he otherwise would have done, but he had made up his mind to do it.

"I didn't want to live any longer in that way, I went on, and I was tempted to do myself out of the way. I began to think about my past, and the unnatural manner I had been, and I did not care much what happened to me. I was afraid to do it, too, for I came to believe the wire did not end it all. It was after I received a Bible from a missionary society in Chicago that I came to the conclusion that I would be forgiven if I truly repented and made a clean breast of it all. And I have never been in doubt from that moment on."

Several times Attorney Richardson attempted to stop Orchard in his dramatic recital, but he was prevented by Attorney Hawley.

When Orchard paused at last, Richardson sneered: "Did McParland help you on this speech?"

"No, sir," replied Orchard. Orchard said he had once been a member of Colburn Canada Lodge of Masons. He knew that Peabody, Bell, Goddard and others whose lives he had attempted were high degree Masons. He did not know that Stuenenber was, however. As to his confession, Orchard said he felt he owed it as a duty to his God, his country, society and himself. "Where did you get that language?" "God gave it to me."

"You got it from McParland, didn't you?" "I did not."

Orchard said he promised McParland and the penitentiary warden to do what he could to make Adams tell all he knew to tell the truth.
