

A LESSON DRAWN FROM CANADA IN HOMERULE DEBATE

AUGUSTINE BIRRELL, who at the start of his speech on February 12, paid Sir Edward Carson a compliment by telling him his speech had been very forcible and had proved that however much he hated Home Rule, he loved his country more.

WILLIAM O'BRIEN, who recently resigned his seat by reason of numerous absences through illness and the abstention from voting of seven O'Brianites, who are resolved to take no part in the proceedings of parliament until William O'Brien is re-elected, the government's majority of 93 last session, by which the Home Rule bill was carried, was reduced to 78 on February 11.

LORD LANSDOWNE, who made several references to Canada in the Lords, "Any who have watched the history of our Dominion know perfectly well all the rights of disallowance which are conceded in distinctly drawn, constitutional and growth little more than the paper they are printed on. You will find at any rate in Canada several of the most powerful ministers their country has known have owed their downfall to an attempt to insist on these rights of disallowance against a strong body of local feeling in the provinces."

FIRST POULTRY SHOW ATTEMPTED IN 1849

Since That Affair in Boston Events Have Become an Institution

PREPARATION NECESSARY

Exhibitors Must Consider Many Things if They Would Win in Modern Contests

The modern poultry show far surpasses anything dreamed of by that ill-fated exhibition of fowls in the city of Boston in 1849.

The most important part of a white bird's toilet is the washing of the plumage. The standard demands pure white plumage, and any trace of yellowishness is a big handicap.

Some successful conditioners wash their birds but once, others apply the treatment two or even more times at intervals of a few days.

The washing should be done in a room heated to a fairly high temperature. Three or four room tubs and a plentiful supply of clean water are required.

The specimen is first placed in a tub of water, which is at blood heat, and thoroughly soaped. The drier is completely lathered all over at the same time taking care to avoid breaking or roughening them.

Combs, face and wattles are finally massaged to soften them and bring out their color. After this the general wash is clean and comfortable until ready for shipment.

Much damage may be done and the effect of this painstaking work nullified while the prospective winners are en route to the show if proper shipping conditions are not used.

These details of preparation are observed by all successful exhibitors. It is doubtful if any bird, no matter how good, could win in a show where there is hot competition if shipped exactly as picked up in the poultry yard.

As stated previously, the details of this art, for art it can be learned only through experience. The beginner who plans to make a name for himself in the show room must start well toward the bottom of the ladder.
