

THE WESLEYAN.

A Weekly Paper, bearing the above title,—devoted to RELIGION, LITERATURE, GENERAL and DOMESTIC NEWS, &c.,—is published on Saturday mornings, in quarto form, 8 pages, at The Wesleyan Office, Marchington's Lane, Halifax, at the exceedingly low price of Ten Shillings per annum, payable half yearly in advance. Though under Wesleyan direction, there is nothing offensively sectarian in the management and tone of this paper. The aim of its conductors is to render it, in its Religious department, an acceptable vehicle for the dissemination of sound, scriptural truth, and a powerful aid to the Christian Minister in the great work of doing good. In its principles it is strictly evangelical—in its spirit catholic.

It designs to give the latest and most interesting Religious Intelligence respecting the Churches at home and abroad, and the state of the world at large.

It has a department especially adapted to The Family Circle, containing short, interesting articles on a variety of topics suitable for family reading.

Under its heading of General Miscellany, it takes a wide range and calls from every properly available source articles calculated to please and inform.

A portion of its columns is devoted to Religious Biography, or Memorials of the pious dead, so instructive and encouraging to the living.

The News department presents a well selected and arranged synopsis of really valuable and interesting general intelligence, British, Foreign, Colonial, and Domestic; with a full account of Shipping intelligence. All party-politics are carefully eschewed.

The important subject of Temperance finds a place in the columns of the Wesleyan; and due attention is paid to the claims of Agriculture—thus making it truly a popular periodical for all classes.

Marriages and Deaths are inserted.

The Editorial department is in the hands of an accredited Wesleyan Minister, whose energies are devoted to the interests of the Paper in all its departments.

An appeal is hereby made to Wesleyans, and to the public generally, for support to this cheap and useful Family Paper. The Wesleyan Ministers in the North American Districts kindly act as agents.

As there is good reason to believe that The Wesleyan is not surpassed in circulation by any paper in the Province, it affords to advertisers an advantageous and desirable medium of communication with the public.

The second volume commenced on July 13th. Back numbers can be supplied. Also the first volume.

BOOK and JOB Printing executed with neatness and despatch. Orders are respectfully solicited.
