THE BOERS IN CAPE COLONY

The Most Formidable Command does out the Midlands.

Considerable Progress Made by the British Columns More Horses and Greater Mobility of Columns Needed.

London, Nov. 13. — A correspondent of the Times, writing from Middleburg, Cape Colony, says considerable progress has been made in operations against the Boers. The most formidable commandoes have been driven out of the Midlands. The work of clearing out the Boers is necessarily slow and harassing, as at least two-thirds of the inhabitants of the country districts are sympathizers with them. The responsibility for the fact that the work of clearing out the Boers is done more quickly rests on those who allowed the troops to grow stale by not relieving them in regular rotation. More horses and greater mobility in the columns are required.

TALK OF THE BOER DELEGATES.
Berlin, Nov. 13. — The Frankfurter Zeitung to-day publishes an interview with A. D. W. Wolmarans, the Boer envoy, now at Amsterdam, in which the latter is quoted as declaring that the alleged impending peace negotiations between the Boers and British are unfounded. "So long," says Wolmarans, "as the British ministry maintains the attitude outlined by Mr. Chamberlain and Lord Salisbury's question the question of peace cannot be entertained. The idea of the cession of gold fields is absurd."

TWO CANADIANS WOUNDED.

Ottawa, Nov. 13.—Lord Minto cables to Lord Minto as follows:—"Johannesburg, Nov. 13.—Regret to inform you that A. 1798, Trooper William Volians, was seriously wounded Nov. 4th at Triekfontein; E. 2209, Trooper John D. Ludgate, accidentally, quite seriously wounded in the leg at Veriver, 7th November, 8th South African Constabulary. Next of kin, respectively, Mrs. G. T. Volians, Portland, Oregon, U. S. A.; mother; Mrs. Ludgate, White Lake, Ontario."

London, Nov. 13.—Mr. Brodrick, the British War Secretary, speaking to-night at a banquet given in London in his honor by the City Carlton Club, declared that the Boers were hiding their tracks by murdering Kaffirs behind them. "Lord Kitchener wired to-day," he continued, "that the cold-blooded murder of natives had become frequent, and that the Boers were hiding their hands behind the backs of the natives. On Nov. 10 at the bottom of a mine shaft."

42,000 BOER PRISONERS.

Later in his speech, Mr. Brodrick said Great Britain now had 42,000 Boers in custody in the concentration camps and on various islands, and that 11,000 more had been killed or wounded or had left the country on parole. He added that he believed the number of Boers now in the field was about 10,000.

TO THE BITTER END.

"The country has set its teeth and intends to go through the process of wearing down," he exclaimed. "We intend to provide Lord Kitchener with fresh troops to replace the tired ones. Only to-day a certain colony made an offer of help."

SORRY FOR BULLER.

Mr. Brodrick said he was sorry anything had happened to affect the career of Sir Redvers Buller, and he assured the company that the deafness of Sir Buller was the result of the work that officer had to do as commander of an army corps.

CAVALRY FROM INDIA.

Mr. Brodrick explained that four battalions and two cavalry regiments would be drawn from India for service in South Africa.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube and restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

One of the happiest men in the County of Hants to-day is Mr. James McBride, of Jamestown. Theatrical

Among the many magnificent musical organizations which have from time to time visited the Maple City there is none the merit of which has entitled it to a position premier to that won by the Fadettes, of Boston, at the Grand last evening.

When the New York Sun described this splendid ladies' orchestra as "par excellence" simply justice was extended. It is unquestionably without a peer.

Mrs. Caroline B. Nichols, the accomplished lady director, has under her baton a coterie of artists in which no flaw is to be found. The violinists circling in the centre are veritable virtuosi, on the left the flutist and clarinetist are doing magnificent execution, to the rear the young lady who manipulates the traps and drums is a genius, to the right the brass is characterized by pure and delightful tone production. Every unit of the orchestra, from the massive, fluted horn to the diminutive piccolo, seemed perfection.

Not a number went unenjoyed by the large, delighted and enthusiastic audience, and the orchestra was exceedingly generous in responses thereto. There were ten numbers upon the program and the audience secured 22, and were anxious for more.

All the artists who contributed individual numbers deserve praise. "Little Lina" is a gem, and her posing and recitations were really charming. Miss Rogers, mezzo soprano, has a magnificent voice, and uses it well. Miss Reuck-Wilczek in her violin solos exhibited marvellous mastery of her instrument and a brilliancy of technique and tone.

The Fadettes will present an entirely new program at the Grand to-night and are well entitled to the biggest house of the season. Chathamites will wait long ere opportunity may again offer to hear such a superior musical organization.

"The House that Jack Built," a new comedy by George H. Broadhurst, who introduced the "Joneses" and the "Smiths" to the stage, begins an engagement at the Grand on Saturday evening, Nov. 16th. The new play differs radically from any of the author's previous comedies. It has no relation to the familiar nursery jingle, but takes its title from the fact that the house takes place in a new house which is built and tenanted by a wealthy but eccentric Doctor whose name is "Jack." One of the most humorous situations, and one of the most novel, is a super-heating scene, which is a magnificent piece of business and is infinitely funny. Author Broadhurst wishes to go on record as saying that he considers Mr. George H. Summers, who plays the leading part, as one of the best non-star English speaking actors on the American stage. The house is tenanted by a number of other prominent people, whose principal mission is to evoke laughter.

FROM SCOTLAND YARD.

A new, sensational melodrama is "From Scotland Yard," which comes to Chatham for presentation at the Grand next week. It is a play that teams with exciting episodes. The story is told in five acts and there are fourteen scenes which show bits of celebrated London and views of the charming domesticity of the provinces. A capable company of actors have the several roles.

The story of "From Scotland Yard" revolves about a young Irish detective sergeant, Cleve Ryley, in the criminal investigation department of Scotland Yard. His endeavor to hunt down crime is made the greater by the introduction of a spirit of revenge for a Captain Nero, a leader whose gang made the best element of society tremble for years. Each of the several incidents which are features of the play actually took place and are introduced by the authors, who listened to a recital of the details by men who had in instances taken part in them. Thus the murder of Herbert Mason, the recital of the bullet which and the slow torture death inflicted by the burning cord will be found in the annals of England's great penal institution. A greater interest attaches itself to the play when it is recalled that these exciting incidents are actual happenings.

Too much that is good cannot be said for "Mistress Nell," the charming comedy that comes to the Grand next Thursday evening. Plays that have achieved a success equal to that of "Mistress Nell" are few. The triumph of the merry play is one of absolute sensation and would at a glance seem almost impossible. Its success caused its author, Mr. George C. Hazleton, a lawyer with a lucrative practice, to lay aside his law books and take to play writing in order to supply the demand for work from his pen. The players presenting the piece here have been carefully selected and a really excellent organization, under the management of Mr. Maurice Campbell has been formed for the present tour. Miss Agnes Ardick will be seen as "Mistress Nell."

WOMEN IN CASE

Rathbun now says his Wife and Another Woman had Part in the Insurance Conspiracy

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 13.—Newell C. Rathbun, who is in jail here on suspicion of having murdered Charles Goodman in Jeffersonville, made another damaging admission to the detectives to-day. For the first time he admitted that he had a confederate in Little Rock and when closely questioned, he stated that his wife was in part of the conspiracy to secure insurance money illegally, although he insisted that she was entirely innocent of complicity in any plot to put Goodman out of the way. At first Rathbun had stated that his only confederate was a deserter from the regular army by the name of Blanchard, but he finally admitted that this was false, and Blanchard fictitious. He then stated yesterday morning that he had worked the plot alone. The suspicions of Captain Sullivan were aroused this morning by news from Little Rock that a Miss Corrine, Prior had stated that Rathbun had proposed a very much similar plot of defrauding an insurance company to her, and had said that if she would marry him and carry out her part that he would send a corpse home; that it could be buried as him, and that he and she could divide the insurance money. He also learned that Mrs. Rathbun insisted that the corpse sent from Jeffersonville, and now in Little Rock, was that of her husband.
