A judge's little daughter, although she had talked several times through the telephone to her father, had never gone through the formalities necessary in calling him up. The first time she tried it, she took up the receiver as she had seen others do. "Hullo ! I want to talk to papa," she said, when she had placed her lips to the transmitter. "Number, please ?" said the young lady at the exchange. " Singular ! " she answered, surprised at the question, but proud that she knew something of the rudiments of grammar.
