

A SAD ACCIDENT.
MONTREAL, May 12.—Leaving behind him a trail of his child's blood, Joseph L. Walker, of 145 St. Urban street, ran from his home to the General Hospital yesterday with the unconscious and bleeding form of his six year old son, Louis, in his arms. The little fellow had been struck by an automobile while crossing the street in front of his home. He was so badly injured that he died almost as soon as his father turned him over to the physicians at the General Hospital.

"Mother's Day" at the S. A. Citadel was fittingly observed. The different services were conducted by members of the Citadel Band, and were very largely attended. Brown read the lesson and gave a most earnest address, taking for his text, "Behold thy mother." The speaker said that although he was not wearing a flower that day, yet by his service to God, he had striven to cause the flowers to bloom daily in his life, and urged every young man present to take his stand by the Cross and serve his mother's God.

GETTING READY FOR EARLY FIGHT

Conservative Members Are Going Ahead With Their Convention.

The question of an election still hangs in the balance, but the Conservative members of the Legislature are apparently proceeding on the conviction that it will come in a few weeks, and arrangements are now being made for numerous conventions.

The Speaker, Hon. W. H. Hoyle, will be renominated by the North Ontario Conservatives on May 29, the riding convention having been called for that date at Cannington. The West York Conservatives will hold their convention on June 6th. Dr. Forbes Godfrey, the sitting member, is certain of renomination. A dozen or more others have been practically settled upon.

The action of the members in going ahead and calling their conventions without waiting for an election announcement may have some influence in impelling the Government to have the fight brought on at once. But to do so the writs must be issued this week.

Sir James Whitney put in a busy day in his office, and resumed his daily practice of receiving the newspapermen. The Prime Minister, when questioned about the expected election, stated that the Government did not have to go to the people for nearly two years, but intimated that an election would likely be held much sooner. He was unable to say when the election would be held.

HAPPY TIME AT ALEXANDRA

Anniversary Concert Last Night Proved a Pleasing Affair.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of Alexandra, there was held last night in the church, a most successful and high class concert which was thoroughly enjoyed by the large number present. Mr. Harold Jarvis and Miss Lyons captivated the hearts of their audience in a program of refinement and merit.

With the crowded house, and the anticipation of an entertaining evening ahead, the Rev. Mr. McClintock in some happy sentences declared the program open.

A reading rendered doubly pleasing by reason of the cultured and expressive delivery of Miss Mary Lyon, entitled "The man in the shadow," was listened to with great attention and understanding. This lady has a gift rarely bestowed and often-times unwisely assumed; and without a doubt has by intuition and training developed a fascinating public manner. Her encore, "Written by other smiles," was a charming piano dialogue that quite touched a new chord of sentiment and delight.

"Where'er you walk," by the star gentleman, Mr. Harold Jarvis, was a rendering to which the rich baritone voice gave a full and easy interpretation—every note was round, full and splendidly appealing in its manly strength.

The deeper vibrant notes of the MacGregor's Gathering was his encore, and into it he put all the strength and verve that coupled with the physical proportions of the singer, quite filled the part of the chief who thus flung his defiance at the oncoming usurpers of the clans' rights.

Miss Lyons, in "Making a Mason" caused a ripple of merriment throughout by her apt mimicry and personations of the various human emotions inspired in contemplation of such an ordeal, from the viewpoint of the "eternal feminine."

"Rose of my heart," was next, and Mr. H. Jarvis seemed if anything to eclipse his previous efforts; there are few who can please repeatedly, but he is one of the elect in this respect, the audience gave him a hearty round of applause at its conclusion.

Other selections, "When you come to the end of a perfect day," Mr. H. Jarvis, and a varied repertoire of short piano readings and laugh raisers were put through by Miss Lyons, the whole maintaining a high class and refined taste in their choosing, that is wholly delightful, when the ever banal vagaries of present day tendencies is contrasted.

"A little Japanese Maiden," a rather pretty and sentimental song was sung by Mr. Jarvis, and as previously, seemed to further delight the large audience.

A delightful skit on the women's suffrage movement, filled with feminine logic and the rare genius of feminine humor, was treated in an entertaining way, Miss Lyons has a most adaptable range of expressions, at her command, one could listen to her, and forget how time is flying.

Undoubtedly it was a night of well spent enjoyment, and to conclude, on the request of Mr. Jarvis, the audience rose and closed the evening in singing the National Anthem.

Boy Knight Notes

The Boy Knights held a splendid church parade on Sunday, the turnout of boys being a record one. They made a fine appearance in their neat blue uniforms with service hats and puttees. Half Company Leader Rogers took command of the parade. The armories were well filled with parents and friends at the bright and interesting service that was held there. Miss Goodson and Mr. Rogers sang solos during the service. Mr. John Hawke and Mr. H. Rogers read the lessons, while the commanding officer conducted the service. He gave a fine address from the 34th and 35th verses of the 10th chapter of Acts, "Then Peter opened his mouth and said, O a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons. But in every nation he that feareth him and worketh with righteousness is accepted with him."

The good order that was kept and the attention given to the speaker was most marked, and many practical lessons were taught that will be of benefit in the lives of the young men.

Mr. James Hawkes made a brief address at the close of the service. He stated that the Boy Knights was a strong and live organization, having double the strength that they had a year ago, marked progress having been made along all lines. It was not a spasmodic movement, but one in which the work was carried on the year round.

The Boy Knights will parade with the 25th Dragoons at their annual church parade.
