Instant Dismissal of Germans Only Can Avert Serious Trouble. LONDON, Nov. 3, 4.43 a.m. - A Reuter despatch from Petrograd says "In reply to a telegram from the Turkish grand vizier expressing regret at the rupture of the good relations existing between Turkey and Russia, 'owing to an attack by the Russian fleet,' Sergius Sazonoff, the Russian minister of foreign affairs, denied that the Russian fleet was the first to fire and said he feared it was too late to enter into pour parlers of any kind with Turkey." The telegram from the grand vizier was read to foreign Minister Sazonoff by the Turkish charge d'affaires. It said: "Convey to Sazonoff our deep regret at the rupture of the good relations between the two powers which has been caused by the hostile acts of the Russian fleet. You can assure the Imperial Russian government that the sublime Porte will not fail to seek an opportunity to this question and will take measures to prevent a repetition of such incidents. You can declare to Sazonoff that the Ottoman Government has decided to forbid the Turkish fleet entering the Black Sea. We hope in turn that the Russian fleet will not cruise near our littoral."

"In the interests of both countries I firmly hope that the Imperial Russian government will show in this affair the same spirit of conciliation." Foreign Minister Sazonoff in his reply formally denied that the Russian fleet had been the first to undertake hostilities and he expressed the belief that it was now too late to enter into pour parlers of any kind. Sazonoff added that only if Turkey had immediately expelled all German military and naval officers in Turkey, would it have been possible to enter into negotiations with a view of providing satisfaction for those who had suffered by the treacherous acts of aggression on the Russian coast. As the declaration of the Turkish charge altered nothing in the existing situation, the Russian foreign minister informed him that he would receive his passports on Monday.

NAVAL RAID AT PORT

The German Fleet Made an Ineffective Raid Near East Coast. Halcyon Executed Clever Work Dangerous Zeppelins

The daring dash of a German squadron to within ten miles of the northeast coast of England indicates that the prolonged activity of the larger units of the German fleet has been broken. A raid on the coast of England but much satisfaction is expressed that the Cruiser Halcyon by her seamanship of her command escaped from a tight corner. The German squadron dropped off mines in its track and thus laid pursuit. These tactics, according to some opinion, have been realized that the mine question was probably of a recognized legitimate Hague convention.

Another German naval development was the long distance bombardment of the Dardanelles by a combined allied fleet. Allied reports show that the German fleet has been broken. The result of the engagement is unknown, except that a huge plume of smoke indicated that some of the shells must have found their mark.

The official reports from the more positive in their assertion that the enemy is preparing withdrawal from his hard-won position on the southwest coast of Belgium. It is believed that the German army has been evacuated, but not before the city had become an untenable ruin. The battle of the Sand Dunes now being said to be historic, the consideration is held likely that the Germans again attempt to move in that direction as the flooding of the country made it practically worthless battle ground.

Elsewhere along the western coast the battle front their usual attacks are reported without any indication as to exact point where the invasion may be expected to make next supreme effort to cut way through to Calais. In the east, Belgium, the exact point where the invasion is expected to make its main effort in which he says Turkey's action opens the way for Russia to accomplish her mission on the Black Sea.

The Germans have been in desperate assaults on the eastern right wing, and participated in fierce fighting is reported.

They Had Been Resisting at the Gloucester as Pr

Two Germans were arrested by the police last night. The Jonathan Distrikman, age 30, Fred Kizing, aged 24, both men are German army deserters and have been seeking to find way out of the Dominion in secret war. They were located Echo Place when the Chief Stable and Detective Charles took them under their care, made no fuss and were accompanied the officers to a court where they were placed behind the bars. They have been arrested were out of work. They have been making preparations to leave the city. Arriving in the Dominion of Quebec in May, they stayed there and then left to go. At Montreal they
