H. H. Johnston and all responsible druggists everywhere.

A FORTUNE
Inherited by few, is pure blood, free from hereditary taint. Catarrh, consumption, rheumatism, Scrofula, and many other maladies born in the blood, can be effectually eradicated only by the use of powerful alteratives.
The standard specific for this purpose —the one best known and approved—is Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the compound, concentrated extract of Honduras sarsaparilla, and other powerful alteratives.
"I consider that I have been SAVED
several hundred dollars' expense by using Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and would strongly urge all who are troubled with lameness or rheumatic pains to give it a trial. I am sure it will do them permanent good, as it has done me."—Mrs. Joseph Wood, West Plattsburgh, N. Y.
Dr. J. W. Shields, of Smithville, Tenn., says: "I regard Ayer's Sarsaparilla as the best blood medicine on earth, and know of many wonderful cures effected by its use."
"For many years I was laid up with Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and after taking three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I did so, and By Taking
about a dozen bottles, was restored to perfect health—weighing 250 pounds, and an active believer in the merits of Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—James H. Hays, Mine House, Brook-ridge Coal Co. (Limited), Victoria, Ky.
"My niece, Sarah A. Lane, was for years afflicted with scrofulous humor in the blood.
About 18 months ago she began to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and after taking three bottles was completely cured."—E. C. Caffall, Mt. Lewis, Ind.
Ayer's Sarsaparilla
Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.
Cures others, will cure you.

SAFE NO. 27.
BY CARLOS KING.
(Conclusion.)
I passed a sleepless night, thinking over the whole situation. It was impossible to avoid the conclusion that some danger menaced Miss Gower's jewels, yet, at present, it was so intangible that I could not make up my mind to take anyone into my confidence. I was not afraid of an attack upon the vault; it was too strongly guarded. I could only think of one plan by which I could insure the safety of the jewels, and to follow out that plan might place myself in an awkward predicament. I resolved upon it, however, and waited my opportunity.
The first time old John Seaton went away for a few hours, leaving the keys with me, as usual, I went to the vault, straight to Safe 27. I took out the iron-clamped box, opened it, and removed the jewel level case, of which Miss Gower alone held the key. I put a small letter weight or two in the box, and filled it up with copies of old deeds, receipts, and such worthless documents. I replaced the box in Safe 27 and locked it carefully.
The letter case I took up to the second floor, to my own room, deposited it in a strong little box of my own, and that in the bottom of my wardrobe, which was always securely locked. The event proved that I was right; but I positively troubled myself to think how easily I might have been arraigned as a thief had the jewels been found in my wardrobe.
About a week after I had transferred the letter case to my own keeping, John Hessel came into the bank, fresh and smiling as usual. After his pleasant and courteous greetings he presented to old John Seaton an order, written in Miss Gower's firm handwriting, bearing on its face the half of the secret code, and requested that the iron box containing Miss Gower's jewels be given to him;—he would be returned exactly.
I saw Mr. Seaton referring to his private ledger to verify the code, smiling the while at an amusing episode Hessel was relating in his gayest manner. I could scarcely contain my uneasiness. What if Hessel had the key of the letter case, and should wish to open it there? What if all were being done in good faith, and he should really convey the box to Miss Gower?
After a short absence, Mr. Seaton returned, bearing the iron box, which he wrapped up in brown paper, passing a round about it for easy carrying. He delivered the key from his own ring, and handed it also to Hessel.
"See you at Sir Gilbert's to-morrow," Varncomb called out Hessel, gayly, as he was passing out with his prize. I only nodded in response; in truth, I was almost incapable of speech without betraying my anxiety. The torture compressed into the next two hours was endless; I did not know what to do. I went up to the vault and took out the box, and shook it over and over. I was sure my head was aching badly. I only shook my head, and worked on desperately, for I must be on the spot when Colonel Gower and his daughter would come in to denounce the thief who had stolen the Hessel jewels! I did not even go up to lunch, but made old Martha, our housekeeper, bring me some biscuits and cheese and a glass of milk.
When three hours had passed without any alarm being given, I went to the other extreme of feeling, and could have screamed with relief. I did not speak a word; I only said, "I did not know what to do," and then I went down to my room, and lay down, and tried to go to sleep, but I was sure my head was aching badly. I only

tried to go to sleep, but I was sure
my head was aching badly. I only
shook my head, and worked on desperately,
for I must be on the spot when
biscuits and cheese and a glass of milk.
tried to go to sleep, but I was sure
