RECITED AT BURLINGTON.
Of the eloquent work of Miss Clara Salisbury in Burlington, the Gazette says: "Miss Salisbury, eloquent, of Hamilton, proved to be one of the best that Burlingtonians have ever been afforded the pleasure of hearing. She made a decidedly favorable impression and we speak for her a successful future. Her impersonations were beautifully natural and her varied repertoire was such as to suit young and old. In her numbers wit and humor reigned supreme, and provoked much laughter."

Portuguese Election.
Lisbon, Nov. 30.—The government states that it has been decided not to hold elections until the political agitation has subsided, even if it involves waiting until the end of 1908. It hopes, however, that it will be possible to hold them early in the new year.

FRENCH-CLELAND.

Pretty Wedding at Carluke on Wednesday Last.

On Wednesday, Nov. 27, one of the prettiest weddings of the season took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Cleland, Spruce Hill, Carluke, when their only daughter, Lizzie, was united in marriage to Lewis French, of North Glasgow, by the Rev. Mr. Ellison. Promptly at 3 o'clock, to the strains of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March," the bride entered the drawing room on the arm of her father, who gave her away. The ceremony took place under a magnificent arch of evergreens and roses. The bride looked very beautiful in a gown of champagne colored crepe de chine. She carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses.

Miss Beatrice McLagan acted as bridesmaid, and was prettily gowned in pink grey, and carried a bouquet of pink roses, while little Ethel Rieger, as flower girl, looked very sweet in white Persian lawn. The groom was ably supported by Mr. A. Lowden.

The bride and groom received many beautiful and costly presents, showing the high esteem in which they are held. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold pendant set with jewels; to the bridesmaid, a pearl earring; to the flower girl a ring, and to the groomsmen a tie pin. After the many congratulations the guests retired to the dining hall, where a sumptuous repast was served, and many merry toasts were given. The table decorations were pink and green.

The bride's going-away gown was blue broadcloth with velvet toque, trimmed with aigrette. The happy couple left on the evening train for the east, amid showers of rice and confetti.

GEOLOGICAL.

Interesting Meeting of Local Association Last Night.

The Geological section of the Hamilton Scientific Association met last night at T. Neill in the chair.

Col. C. C. Grant exhibited to the section above 50 specimens, besides which he sent to the British Museum of Natural History in London several boxes of specimens, also some Ottawa and some to Albany, some very interesting specimens, notably a very large and well-preserved specimen of graptolite, also a large modiolopsis, showing both valves; a septobolus occidentalis; a lichenolites, from a Trenton boulder, found at Winona, also pteropods, sponges, etc.

Letters were read by Messrs. J. F. Whiteaves, H. M. Am, W. A. Parke, Toronto University, and W. D. Lang, of the British Museum of Natural History, acknowledging the receipt of fossils sent to them by Col. C. C. Grant, and requesting him to send specimens.

Col. Grant then read his paper entitled "Notes on the Late Collecting Season." He said that he had learned that another quarry had been opened near the head of the Jolley cut road. Towards the fall he found in this locality the very large specimen of graptolite dictyonema rectiformis, but without its connecting branches. He also noticed that the glacial clay occurs in patches in the new quarry. After quitting the quarry he visited the orchard which proved to be so rich formerly in sponges, had been ploughed up before his arrival. The soil overlying the chert is quite thin, and the weathering process evidently had laid bare organisms peculiar to layers of rock not represented near the city of Hamilton. Recollecting a swampy part of the field, he confined his search to that part, and in a short time had collected no less than seven specimens of Dr. James Hoth's lichenolites.

The city quarry at the head of the Strongman road has proved to be rich in fossils of late. Many remarkably well preserved specimens of graptolites have been found in it.

His trip to Winona was not fruitless in the way of fossil specimens because of the high water of Lake Ontario he could not work among the shingle found on the shore.

The section adjourned, to meet in December.

BENGOUGH AT BENNETT'S.

J. W. Bengough, Canada's inimitable cartoonist, humorist, and social reformer, will give a temperance address illustrated with crayon drawings in Bennett's Theatre on Sunday evening. Mr. Bengough draws with lightning rapidity, and holds the undivided attention of his audience. The Musurgia Quartette has kindly consented to sing. A rare treat is promised. The public cordially invited. Silver collection at the door.

The White Indian

ORATORY CONTEST. EAST END REVIVAL.

Y. M. U. Event in Barton Street Methodist Church.

When the Barton Street Methodist Young Men's Union take hold of any project they generally succeed in making it about the biggest thing of its kind. When they decided to hold an oratory contest people expected something out of the ordinary and they will not be disappointed. The contest, for which the Spectator has donated two medals will be held in the church, Sanford Avenue and Barton streets, on Tuesday, Dec. 10th. The various literary debating societies and unions of the city have entered their finest orators and as a result the entry list which has just closed, contains the names of eleven of the best young speakers in the city. The names of the contestants and their subjects in the order in which they were entered is here published:

Chas. Peebles—Canada.

N. E. Limmern—Canadian Citizenship.

F. H. Edmunds—Rome, the Palace of the Caesars.

George C. Sharp—Work, Humanity's Blessing.

H. J. Fenton—Opportunity.

Robert J. Menery—Elements of a Nation's Greatness.

James L. Jolley—The World's Magnet.

W. A. Blake—Success.

Joel K. Fenton—Hannibal.

Gordon M. Dobbin—True Liberty.

James Smuck—Present advantage.

"The order in which they speak will be announced in Tuesday's issue. The judges are His Honor Colin G. Snider, W. H. Wardrop, K. C. A. H. Briggs, K. C. Toronto.

The chairman will be Rev. Canon H. Palmer Abbott.

The church has been blocked off in reserved seats, where the various supporters of the contestants will be placed and the competing societies are expected to send very large delegations.

Admission to the contest will be by free will offering ticket, in accord with the rule of the church where the contest is being held.

Seating capacity is being provided for 1,000 persons and the committee is giving no effort to secure the comfort of their audience.

Felix Dache, Chancellor of the German Legation at Washington, has been arrested on a charge of embezzling over $10,000 of the funds of the legation. He will be sent to Germany for trial.

Y. M. C. A. Building Now Too Small For Crowd.

The attendance at the East Hamilton revival services last night was so large that the committee has decided to secure the Barton Street Methodist Church for services next week, as the work is being hindered by the crowded condition of the Y. M. C. A. building, and it is anticipated that the singing of Madam Egbert will greatly increase the attendance. The services will still be under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. and managed by the Union Revival committee.

A large procession of young men marched around the streets again last evening singing hymns, announcing Scripture texts and inviting people to the meeting, when they returned they could not get in, as the place was packed full, so they went down in the basement and had a big prayer meeting. A large number went forward again in the afternoon after listening to a soul-stirring address from Evangelist Turk. There were some very remarkable cases of conversion. A prominent worker said this morning that the revival just seemed to be beginning. A band of workers in charge of Mr. Geo. Crooks will take charge of the men's meeting in the Central Y. M. C. A. at 4.15 to-morrow afternoon, after which tea will be provided for them; then they will march together to Zion Tabernacle, and assist with the services being carried on there.

MISS PHILP IN DETROIT.

The Detroit Journal has the following reference to a well known and clever Hamilton young lady, Miss Gertrude Philp, daughter of Dr. Philp:

Admirers of Moritz Hauptmann were given a treat at Mrs. Edna Chaffee Noble's School of Elocution, 780 Woodward avenue, Tuesday night, when Miss Gertrude Philp, of Toronto, gave a recital of the German composer's weird play, "The Sunken Bell."

Miss Philp impersonated the different characters with ease and confidence, going through the entire five acts without a slip, a more than ordinary feat of memory. She scored a complete success.

Drowned From Launch.

The Business Man's Harvest.

(Written for the Times.)

He rises in the morning. When the wild alarm clock rings; And begins his bustling troubles, As he's putting on his things. Then he's off to get some breakfast, Mostly reads the news instead. He neglects his suffering stomach, While he over-works his head.

What a day of mighty efforts, And of pushing business through. His mind is like machinery, He's not simply "do."

With the quick lunch and the telephone, There is scarce a "see," to spare. Still, he's the better for a week, To cultivate his hair.

Back in residential quarters, As the car stops with a jolt, He scarcely takes a moment, For his home he makes a bolt.

Yes, he hustles making dollars, And the man who sows shall reap. But the hustler gets his harvest, When he tries to go to sleep.
