Obituary.

GEORGE R. LINDSAY.

It is with deep regret we announce the death of Mr. Charles R. Lindsay, who for many years was chief of the Delivery Department at the Postal Telegraphs, a position from which falling eyesight caused his retirement about three years ago. Mr. Lindsay was a son of the late James Lindsay, of Harbour Grace, and one of Mr. Roddick's pupils at the Grammar School in that town. He was for many years on the staff of Seftons and Cairns, later with Marshall and Rodger, and previous to entering the Civil Service was for some time with Ayre & Sons, Ltd. His wife, formerly Miss Facey, with one daughter, Alice, and three sons, Bertram, Harold and Raymond survive; also two sisters, and two brothers, Miss Lindsay of Circular Road, Mrs. Wm. C. Maw, of Rennie's Mill Road, Mr. Archibald Lindsay, Circular Road, and Mr. Eugene Lindsay, (Lawrence & Co., Ltd.) of Cathedral Street. Mr. A. Lindsay is at present on the West Coast, and the recent storm has rendered communication impossible. Mr. George Lindsay's health had for some years been uncertain, but there were no apparent indications to cause apprehension. Two or three days ago he was prostrated by an attack of an illness to which he had been previously subject. He was removed to hospital, where he passed peacefully away. To his widow, children and immediate friends the Telegram extends the sympathy of their many friends. The funeral takes place to-morrow afternoon.

Valuable Ruins Uncovered.

ARCHAEOLOGISTS GREATLY INTERESTED.

Athens, (Associated Press)—Dr. Karamanolis, one of the Greek inspectors of antiquities, has accomplished some most interesting work in the ruins of the palace at Thebes. According to legend, this place was founded by Cadmus, who is said to have first brought the alphabet to Greece. In previous campaigns, the remains of the fresco decorations of the earlier palace, 1600 to 1400 B.C., were brought to light. This consisted largely of a frieze of elaborately dressed and gilded women carrying flowers, painted jugs, or ivory boxes. This year the excavator has found some of the store-rooms of the later palace, 1400 to 1100 B.C. From these there have been extracted a hundred or more big stirrup jars. They are unfortunately broken but they can be put together again. A considerable number of these jars have painted on them inscriptions in the still undecipherable Mycenaean alphabet. The letters, or rather signs, are of a hieroglyphic character and are derived but differ from the well known and equally undecipherable Cretan pre-historic alphabet. Scientists believe it possible that the difference of alphabet means a difference of language. However much professors may dispute about the meaning and character of these alphabets, Athens archaeological circles attach special interest to the fact that ancient tradition has once more been proved right by the discovery of what might be called Cadmean letters in the ruins of Cadmus' city.

Bolsheviks Becoming Civilized.

THE RESTORATION OF THE BOILED SHIRT.

MOSCOW, (Associated Press)—Boiled shirts made their reappearance here at the opening performance of grand opera. There were seven of them, and not one was the sort that one scrubs with a sponge. This extremely bourgeois attire was an announcement that starch has arrived in the Moscow markets with the changed economic policy. The entire audience in the great opera house heralded the advent of a new era in Russia. Seats were sold in the old-time way. It cost $4,000 rubles to have an excellent seat in the pit or first balcony, and the seats were all full, as well as in the galleries. The mammoth auditorium is just as brilliant in its dull gold and red interior as it was in the days of the Czar. The initial opera was Glinka's "Russian and Ludmilla." It was brilliantly staged. There was a marked difference between the opera crowd this year and that of three years ago. In the opening months of the Soviet regime, Bolsheviks of both sexes nearly all wore black leather coats, which they donned very heavily at the opera and in all public places. The absorption of a large bourgeois population and three years of experience in government have changed the dominant party. The members have softened and become more conventional. The percentage of bearded-headed, masculine looking women is smaller. Femininity is reasserting itself. The old-time Russian courtesy is reappearing in all gatherings. Red army soldiers are now generally shaved and have their boots polished. The constant lecturing of the immaculate Trotsky has sunk into the army. He is a great stickler for proper care of clothing and equipment and the same word has been generally passed along in all government departments.

Unpatriotic Conduct.

ENGLISH FILM GETTING DONE IN GERMANY.

Not only is the British Post Office losing money through firms, to avoid the high postal charges here, sending circulars abroad to be posted to customers in this country, but printers are losing trade through the firms getting the circulars themselves printed abroad.

At a time when unemployment is widespread in this country it is a tedious matter to find work sent to the foreigner while British printers stand idle at home and draw out-of-work allowances.

Reading through the circular distributed by the German Post Office for a Coventry firm (a copy of which was sent to the Daily Mail), a typographical error aroused suspicion that the circular itself had not been printed in this country. On enquiring the firm stated frankly, that the circulars had been printed in Germany, at a price about 75 per cent. below the English charges.

We sent addressed envelopes to Germany," added the director, "but the British Post Office refused to carry them. We then sent lists to an addressing agency in Cologne, and it has despatched the circulars to England. Instead of a penny per packet, the postal post is, with the present value of the mark, about an eighth of a penny. We save on postage and we save on printing. We have spent £1,000 on advertising by this circular."

Backache

Backache is the outstanding symptom of kidney disease. Women often make the mistake of attributing other causes and overlook the derangement of the kidneys until serious developments have made it difficult to obtain permanent relief.

This letter points to a treatment which has been so thoroughly tried and proven so effective in the great majority of cases that you cannot afford to overlook it when cause arises for its use.

Mrs. Albert Brunet, R.R. No. 1, Ottawa, Ont., writes:

"I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for the past two months, having been afflicted with kidney trouble. I used two doctors' medicine previous to this without any result. A friend told me to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and the second box made me feel a good deal better, and an eighth box or so cured me, and am completely relieved."
