THE EMERGENCY

And at the back of all the long debate in parliament we must remember Mr. Borden says there is an emergency and it is because of that emergency that we have the Borden naval policy.

The Borden naval policy, bad as it is, is made even worse by its emergency accompaniment. The naval policy is bad medicine with an emergency as a chaser which is even more bitter than the medicine itself.

The fact that international conditions have very greatly improved in the Old Country has had no effect upon the decision of the Borden government to press the naval policy with the emergency excuse.

Eastern exchanges compare the result of the election of last week with the election in 1909 and give the standing of the previous election as two Conservatives and one Independent Conservative, the former being George Howley and R. B. Bennett and the latter Edward Michener.

Some time before the election The Albertan quoted a prominent Calgary Conservative editor as authority for the prophecy that the opposition would get 16 seats.

There is but little difference in the strength of the government after the election and before the election. Then the government had 31 supporters out of a house of 41. The opposition included seven Conservatives, one Socialist and J. K. Cornwall and A. C. Robertson.

NEW LEADERS
Uneasy rests the head that wears the crown. This seems to be particularly true in political leadership.

Every day there is some new indication that Bob Rogers is seriously contesting for the leadership of the Conservative party in the Dominion.

However that may be, it is certain that no man can aim at supplanting Sir Wilfrid in the leadership of the party with any hope of success.

It was said some time ago that the Conservative party in Alberta would probably have a new leader after the election.

It is hardly likely now that the honor will be pressed upon him. Then, according to an evening paper, Florinus Robertson may be elected for the Hand Hills.

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE?

In a letter to this paper, Harold Riley complains that The Albertan was in error when it said that the present election act was passed by the Alberta legislature and that the Alberta government was opposed by the members of the opposition when it attempted to pass a new act.

Mr. Riley is partly right and partly wrong. The Alberta was partly wrong and partly right. The province did pass an election act, which was practically the same as the old election act of the North West Territories.

Heavy Immigration From the United States Into Canada

In the Canadian West the number of real estate transactions is not now greater than in the most normal times. There is no sign of feverish conditions, but there is some anxiety as to payments.

The speculative element. Of the latter there will always be a certain proportion. At present, however, conditions may safely be regarded as normal.

The Situation in Winnipeg. Mr. Charles G. Stewart, president of the Stewart-Walker, Limited real estate brokers, of Winnipeg, thus sizes up the outlook.

There is one very marked condition in the real estate situation in Winnipeg at the present time. It is the absence of the "crazy buyers" who think that prices have reached their limit and that there might be a danger of a loss.

Money does not appear to be as free as it was at this time last year. Although our own sales have been very much larger, the rate of discount on our property is much more liberal.

There is a very optimistic note from Mr. F. MacLure Scandlers, Saskatoon. "Things are looking well here. Every legitimate line of business is up to 25 per cent better than at this time last year."
