

All Local Gridders Out Tonight For Real Drill

Scrimmage On Training Bill Starting at 5 o'Clock at Tecumesh Park-Squad Improves Daily.

Another big workout for local pigskin chasers at Tecumseh Park tonight at 5 o'clock, when it is expected that every available prospect for local O. R. F. U. leams in the city will be out.

A little bit of everything is on the boards for tonight's canter, Light scrimmage will be ordered, and a brief helping of that should give the supervisors a line on the strength and ability of several promising recruits in actual play. The rest of the workout will include a full repertoire of training stunts, and will undoubtedly give Ald. Albert Judd, Bill Friend and Boyd Fisher, the three men who have been supervising the drills to date, something to think about, as the time for selecting an at least temporary line-up draws near.

Local gridiron crews are beginning to show results from the drills which have been doled out the last two weeks. It's early yet, but if the fans put half the enthusiasm behind the L.A.A.A. elevens that the players are putting into their work, this season should be a record one that the players are putting into their work, this season should be a record one for London.

Monday's workout drew out one of the higgest preliminary drill attendances that has ever tried avoirdupois-reducing that has ever tried avoirdupois-reducing at Tecumseh Park. Several of the men, who have been playing all summer, are already in good shape, but others, with a few laps to go in the conditioning chase, have been taking all the work offered without a whimper.

Western U. candidates are arriving, and while the fall term does not begin until after the end of the month, several football men are in the city. Dr. George Smith stated last night that he had examined some so far, and that others would be along practically daily. Football training would start immediately. Central Collegiate, too, is hard at it. Daily workouts are the order, and under the coaching of Messrs. Doolittle and Adamson, and the leadership of Ted Johnston, who was named temporary captain the other day, the squad is taking definite shape.

Most of St. Thomas Players Will Take Trip to World's

St. Thomas, Sept. 18.—A decision was St. Thomas, Sept. 18.—A decision was lefinitely reached here today to give every member of the St. Thomas baseball team an opportunity to attend the world's series this year. As some members are not desirous of attending the series, arrangements will be made to give them a long trip, in recognition of their splendid services during the season.

Several of the members expressed desire to travel west of Chicago. and their requests will be granted. Each member will be apportioned his share member will be apportioned his share of the surplus earnings made by the club this year. Manager George Nether-cott stated this afternoon that it was the only course to pursue in order to conform with the O. B. A. A. regulations. The money cannot be given the players, as bonuses would savor of professionalism, he said, but the tickets and transportation can be secured for them.

Danny McPhee and William Rise-borough are two of the players who have definitely decided to attend the l's series. reference to baseball next year.

In reference to baseball heat year, it was learned here today that the prospects for the retention of Riseborough during the 1924 season, are bright. He is a fifth year dental student and expects to graduate next year, and practice. Danny McPhee has been lost to the St. Thomas club, as he will line up with one of the big league clubs. Although Danny has not signed a contract, he is virtually on the roster of the Brooklyn Nationals for 1924. The loss of the famous southpaw will be a sad blow to the local team, but it is hoped that the gap will be filled by a twirler almost as capable.

It is a far cry from a team out in front and certain of a pennant, and a club hopelessly mired in the ruck of eighth place. Yet, real ability will come to the front on the the eighth place team as well as on the leader. There is Sam Jones of the Yankees, who recently pitched a no-hit game and followed it up in a few days with a two-hitter, and Howard Ehmke of the Boston Red Sox, who also pitched a hitless game after Mr. Jones did, and then beat the Yankees, with only a single hit separating him from another seat in the hall of fame.

If there was any doubt attached to the no-hit game of the two hurlers they immediately removed it by coming back and pitching games only a shade less brilliant. Jones and Ehmke of the game, yet differ distinctly in the style of their deliveries. But they get results.

Manager Nethercott pointed out that the success of any team depends upon its pitching staff. William Billings will be the stronghold of the Saints next year, but another man to help out is required. There are a number of young men playing on independent teams here who give promise of making a berth on the senior line-up next year. St. Thomas expects to have another strong aggregation next season.
