

The ADVERTISER'S PICTORIAL PAGE

D. H. L. Gollam, the English sculler, who defeated Hoover, the American in the Diamond Sculls at Henley, England, being assisted from his boat at the conclusion of the race.

This may have all the outward appearances of a rum running crew at work on the Atlantic coast but in reality it is nothing more than a shipment of bees up the Indian River in Florida

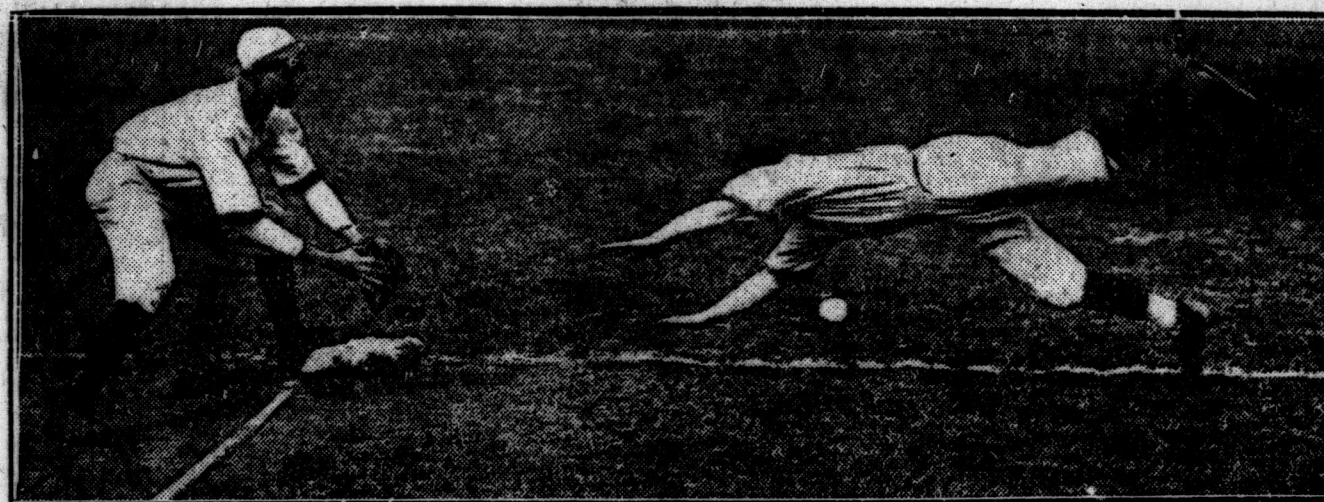

Mrs. Morgenwech, 78 years old and the mother of fifteen children, has been forced to enter an old woman's home because none of her children will care for her.

Norman D. Nairn, a New Zealander, plans a 15-day route from New York to Bagdad with a regular service across the Persian desert from Haifa.

Many think that Mrs. M. V. Holt will soon take the title of England's most beautiful woman and oust Lady Diana Manners.

Celebrating the 4th of July at Stamford, England, with a baseball game between Canadians and Americans. The Americans won.

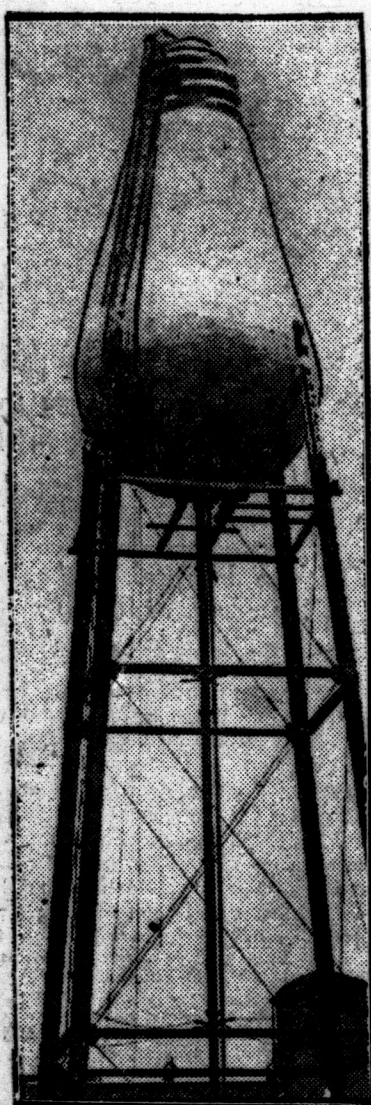

Mrs. Florence Crane, who went on the stage at the age of seventeen and then into the movies, finds herself with a fortune of $250,000 following the death of her fiancé in May last.

An outstanding bit of portraiture exhibited at a recent photographers' show by Ross R. Fleury of Windsor.

A smart two-piece affair from Paris. The jacket has bell sleeves and the skirt is of tan Canton crepe knife pleated.

A New Jersey electrical firm has erected this novel water tank as an unusual advertisement.

Miss Lenglen and Miss Kitty McKane snapped together as they arrived for their match at Wimbledon. The French girl won and thus retained the world's championship.

Neil McDougall, pioneer Canadian sportsman of Port Arthur, has captured a record speckled trout in Nipigon waters.

Alvarita Obregon, four-year-old daughter of Mexico's president, in the dress of a Spanish queen.

Jean Devaldez, France's sheik supreme, is coming to America to appear in the movies.

A picturesque scene in a Nova Scotia port. Handling the fish as the boats bring in their catches.

Britain, represented by Seagrave and Divo, took first and second places in the Grand Prix motor race. The photo shows the cars passing the tribunes as the race commenced.

M. Pavlowa and M. Feodor Chaliapin, famous Russian vocalists, at a farewell garden party held at the famous dancer's English home.