

Extract from the General Board of Health London, as to its efficacy in Cholera.

"So strongly are we convinced of the immense value of this remedy, that we cannot too forcibly urge the necessity of adopting it in all cases." From A. Montgomery, Esq., late Inspector of Hos-pitals, Bombay: "Chlorodyne is a most valuable remedy in Neuralgis, Asthma and Dysentery." To it I fairly owe my restoration to health after eighteen months'severe suffering, and when all other medi-cines had failed."

Never be tempted to buy Cholorodyne except in sealed bot-tiles, having the words, "Dr. J. Collis Brownes' Chlorodyne" engraved on the wrapper. A sheet full of medical testimonials accompanies each bot-tle. Sole manufacturer, J. T. DAVENFORT, 33 Great Russell street, Bloomsbury, London. It is surprising how quickly a sore, ulcer, or wound, deprives the body of strength, and unfits it for the duties of life; but it is no less wonderful to watch the effect of Hole; but it is no less wonder-ful to watch the effect of Holloway's Healing Oint-ment, when it is used according to the printed directions, and assisted by appropriate doses of the Pills. dition, and left Plover Bay, Behrings Straits, on the 23d September. The steamer George S. Wright, with Colonel Bulkley and party, was at Plover Bay when the Palmetto left. In a private letter written by the Colonel, he says :---- 'We have had a gale from eastward with snow, two days; this morning a cold wind is pouring from northward. Ice is making at the head of the bay, and winter is oped the fact that the Kirchpak river is the same as the Yukon, and is navigable for many mouths up to English Fort. Kenni-cott, with the party sent to evolve the sold of the military hospital authorisation home with him to treat at his sold of the party sent to evolve the sold of cott, with the party sent to explore the route from the mouth of the Yukon to New Westminster, British Columbia, was left at Fort St. Michael. They will go up the Yukon or Kirchpak in a small steamer, 35 feet in length, taken from here by the party, to the head of navigation, and then cross with reindeers or on foot over the ice and snow until they strike the settlements on the American side. The party found the earth on the American side thawed to an average depth of 10 inches, but frozen below to an unknown depth. Since their arrival in September, the country on the American side has been found rolling and broken, (but not high), and destitute of timber. Gratley Harbor was found to be best for land cable on American side. It is a safe harbor, with a good hard bottom. From this point soundings were made across the entrance of St. Lawrence Bay. The bottom was found to be very favorable, being mud and gravel all the way. The party found ice off St. Lawrence Bay for the first time. This bay is not favorable for laying the cable, as it is shallow, and exposed to southeast gales. Michime Bay was found full of ice. Pinkaker Bay was found to be a good place; hartor well suited for laying cable. The Asiatic coast was found entirely destitute of timber, and more moun tainous than the American. The ground was found thawed to a depth of 30 inches, and frosen below that. When the Palmetto left ice was forming constantly, and the N. W. wind was bitterly cold, and winter was fast approaching. The bark Golden Gate will return next January. The steamer Geo. S. Wright, with Col. Bulkley, will return in November next. The schooner Milton Badget returns here to winter. Three of the crew of the Badger were left on shore with the Indians. One of them was serving on the Geo. S. Wright. The expedition learned from the Indians that a tew days before their arrival there, the rebel pirate Shenandoah had made its appearance in those waters, and had destroyed several vessels. These were probably the same whalers of whose destruction we have already had the particulars. The last seen of the pirate she was heading south.
