

The Week's Colonist.

THIRTY-SEVENTH YEAR.

VICTORIA BRITISH COLUMBIA, FRIDAY JUNE 28 1895.

VOLUME XXXVII. NO. 29

NEWS OF THE PROVINCE.

Official Announcement Received Regarding Bishop Dart of Westminster—Delta Cannery Co.

Grand Lodge A. F. & A. M.—Police Investigation to Continue—News From the Mines.

(Special to the Colonist.)

VANCOUVER, June 20.—The attempt to unseat Ald. Gallagher and thus stop the police investigation has failed. Judge Bole this morning gave his decision against the petition.

The Grand Lodge, A. F. & A. M., in session here. The members were presented this morning with an address of welcome by Mayor Collins.

Another submerged water pipe is to be laid across the Narrows at a cost of $3,100. The contract has been awarded to D. K. Campbell.

WESTMINSTER, June 20.—No. 4 Co. B. C. E. G. A. are much pleased at having taken third place in Saturday's matches among the militia rifle corps throughout Canada.

The Delta Cannery Company's building is about ready for the plant, which will come this morning with an address of welcome by Mayor Collins.

The official announcement of the election of the new Bishop, Rev. Dr. Dart, has been received. The following is the record of the new Bishop: John Dart, Elchier Broughton, Manchester; St. Mary's Hall, Oxford, B. A. (second class law, etc.) 1867; M.A., 1869; D. C. L., King's College, Windsor, N. S., 1870; B. A., 1871; B. D., 1872; B. S., 1873; B. S., 1874; B. S., 1875; B. S., 1876; B. S., 1877; B. S., 1878; B. S., 1879; B. S., 1880; B. S., 1881; B. S., 1882; B. S., 1883; B. S., 1884; B. S., 1885; B. S., 1886; B. S., 1887; B. S., 1888; B. S., 1889; B. S., 1890; B. S., 1891; B. S., 1892; B. S., 1893; B. S., 1894; B. S., 1895.

also heard of the gold in British Columbia. He said few weeks would bring from the far famed mines such extensive returns as the improved mining now obtainable. The Kootenay were also said to be rich in gold. The British Columbia is on her feet.

THE CAUCUSING.

In Sunday's COLONIST we obtained it would be the last public meeting of the Trustees, who have made that certain ward—namely, Trustees and Lewis—had been in the manner of effecting changes in the trusteeship. It is described as a klanter method of work, since some persons in the trusteeship have given this reporter, I take this facts of the case truthfully.

ROSELAND, (From the Roseland Miner.)

The O. K. mine has been incorporated. The Mt. Kellogg is expediting operations on the St. Rita.

George Turner assumes George M. Fox as manager of the Le Roi mine. A. E. Humphreys, of Duluth, is engaged with the assistance of the Le Roi mine.

Mike Conway has been doing assessment work on Sunset No. 2 on Deer Park mountain, and has struck good ore.

The Butte, which was bought some time ago by Ross & Co., Upton and others, has been turned by work into a ten thousand dollar proposition.

Marlin Clark and John McHale, former owners in the Cumberland mine, Sinoan division, are getting the prospect, good veins peeping where the metal is yellow and the snowless is not.

Last Sunday the cable broke at Northport and the ferry boat was carried about half a mile down the river. The damage was not repaired till yesterday, and as a consequence ore shipments out and shipments of supplies in by this route have been interrupted for most of this week.

Messrs. Matthews & Nichols of Toronto paid Roseland a flying visit this week on their way home from Cariboo where they are interested. Great things are looked for in Cariboo, there being hundreds and fifty men are at work at the Horndy mine, and other hydraulic properties are being developed.

The action acquired on the St. Mary by V. D. Williamson has been taken by Mr. Farrell and the property will be opened up at once. The half interest in the Ottawa bought last week by J. M. Burke has been sold again and work is proceeding, good veins Ottawa is a promising prospect, good veins having been obtained by assay tests. The Wolverine and Iron Hill have been bonded for a big figure and a force of men is opening them up. The amount of work done there is not a better showing in Trail Creek. An option has been acquired on the Celtic Queen, the first eastern extension of the R. E. Lee, by H. B. Nicholls of Spokane. On the R. E. Lee and the Red River is progressing steadily and the appearance of the claims improving every day. Numerous other smaller deals have been made this week and development work is being done on a number of claims by prospectors. Altogether things look very promising south and east of Roseland. It is proving that this is one of the richest sections in camp. As a rule the recent pyrites which form the capping in this part of the country seem to give place to one not to be distinguished in appearance from Red Mountain ore and carrying a good percentage of copper.

NEW DRIVE, (From the Ledger.)

The mining receipts for May at the sub-recording office in Nakusp were $235.

The Ora Granda on Cariboo creek will make a shipment when the rail is finished.

The Noble Five people are considering the advisability of putting in an aerial tramway.

Poker Smith and Black Jack Cooke have made a couple of rich strikes on Cody creek.

William Thomlinson has purchased a third in the Evening Star on Springer creek.

McClintock and Shannon are opening up their property recently struck on Ten Mile. They have a beautiful showing of six feet of dry ore between walls.

A Harrison has a bonanza in his last stake claim on Eight Mile. The ledge is 50 feet in width, 17 feet of which have yielded the average assay of $85 in gold.

Hockman and McKinnon have obtained assays of 98 oz of silver and $15 in gold from their claims on the Inverness. The talo ran over 50 oz. in silver and $5 in gold.

Messrs. McKay and Richmond have tumbled on to a ledge of gold-bearing quartz, from four to ten feet wide, and easily accessible for a fifth of a mile. A surface assay of $12 has been made.

The fesse on the Rath has been increased this week. The tunnel is in 300 feet and shows five feet of clean ore in the breast.

PRESBYTERIAN GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

LONDON, Ont., June 20.—The Manitoba school case was warmly debated in the Presbyterian assembly at its session here yesterday.

Professor Grant, of the University of Kingston, moved "that inasmuch as the government are now negotiating in the matter we should be silent."

Rev. Dr. McVicar, of the college at Montreal, said the Catholics of Quebec were making themselves heard and the Presbyterian church would be derailed in her duty if she did not speak out and protest against separate schools being forced on Manitoba.

The Roman Catholics received the same privilege in the public schools as any other sect, and they should be accorded no special privileges.

The general assembly today passed a resolution to establish separate schools in Manitoba, and hoped the Presbyterian Assembly would stand by their brethren in that province.

A number of amendments were referred to the resolution, all of which were referred to a committee to bring in a deliberative which the assembly might adopt with greater unanimity.

The general assembly today came to the unanimous decision that education should be controlled by the state and based on Christianity. The assembly is opposed to the principle of separate schools and would deplore any interference with Manitoba by the federal authorities.

The general assembly of the Presbyterian church, which has been in session here for the last eight days, adjourned this evening to meet in Toronto next June. The Chinese question was the only one of importance before the court at the final session, and it was decided to memorialize the Dominion government to treat all nations fairly and alike. Ex-Moderator Mackay, of Formosa, who has labored among the Chinese for the last thirty years, was instrumental in putting this resolution through the assembly.

CAPITAL NOTES.

Bishop Gravel's Suggestions on the Manitoba School Question—"Le Canada's" Statement.

Government and the Savings Banks—World's Fair Awards—Newfoundland and Canada.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Ottawa, June 20.—Considerable sensation was created in parliamentary circles by the publication of a letter recently received by Bishop Gravel, of Montreal, in regard to the Manitoba school question.

The Ontario Department of Education has been notified by the Bishop that the Manitoba school question is a matter which should be carried out. The Bishop himself frankly states that Cardinal Vaughan did not intend to support the Manitoba school question.

There is little new to report in connection with the school question. It is not expected there will be anything definite done until the formal reply of Manitoba has been received here. The Canada is out with a positive statement tonight that a remedial measure will be introduced this session.

The banking committee threw out a bill to incorporate a school savings bank in Manitoba. The government has announced its decision to retain the people's savings in its own hands or in the chartered banks.

The Department of Agriculture has been notified that the World's Fair awards will be ready next August.

The owners of British Columbia will have an opportunity of showing their goods at the great grocers' exhibition next September. The Department of Agriculture has full information regarding it.

The exchequer court case against St. Louis commenced today. The amount the government seeks to recover is $148,000.

The Newfoundland question was discussed in the Senate. The Hon. Mr. Mackenzie King said he hoped the imperial government would devise a plan in order to bring Newfoundland into the confederation.

After a spirited debate the Senate divorced the Hon. Mr. Mackenzie King from the committee, with the exception of Hon. T. R. McInnes, who withdrew their resignation.

SASSOON SUFFERERS.

Boston, June 20.—The following is a copy of the petition from certain Sassoon sufferers in Erezerum, Eastern Turkey, which was addressed to the British, French and Russian consuls in that city:

"We, Sassoonians, in our homeless condition, are forced to flee and come to Erezerum to appear before you and narrate our bitter and agonizing story. The present severity of the government, and the only desire of the government is to see severe measures to prevent the people of Sassoon appearing before the commission to relate the true story, but it also implores them if they are bold enough to attempt to appear, or even plan to do so. They have even brought women and girls and imprisoned them, naked and barefooted, under the surveillance of a wild and fanatical people, trying to force them to do so. They have even brought women and girls and imprisoned them, naked and barefooted, under the surveillance of a wild and fanatical people, trying to force them to do so. They have even brought women and girls and imprisoned them, naked and barefooted, under the surveillance of a wild and fanatical people, trying to force them to do so.

They have even brought women and girls and imprisoned them, naked and barefooted, under the surveillance of a wild and fanatical people, trying to force them to do so. They have even brought women and girls and imprisoned them, naked and barefooted, under the surveillance of a wild and fanatical people, trying to force them to do so. They have even brought women and girls and imprisoned them, naked and barefooted, under the surveillance of a wild and fanatical people, trying to force them to do so.

They have even brought women and girls and imprisoned them, naked and barefooted, under the surveillance of a wild and fanatical people, trying to force them to do so. They have even brought women and girls and imprisoned them, naked and barefooted, under the surveillance of a wild and fanatical people, trying to force them to do so. They have even brought women and girls and imprisoned them, naked and barefooted, under the surveillance of a wild and fanatical people, trying to force them to do so.

They have even brought women and girls and imprisoned them, naked and barefooted, under the surveillance of a wild and fanatical people, trying to force them to do so. They have even brought women and girls and imprisoned them, naked and barefooted, under the surveillance of a wild and fanatical people, trying to force them to do so. They have even brought women and girls and imprisoned them, naked and barefooted, under the surveillance of a wild and fanatical people, trying to force them to do so.

They have even brought women and girls and imprisoned them, naked and barefooted, under the surveillance of a wild and fanatical people, trying to force them to do so. They have even brought women and girls and imprisoned them, naked and barefooted, under the surveillance of a wild and fanatical people, trying to force them to do so. They have even brought women and girls and imprisoned them, naked and barefooted, under the surveillance of a wild and fanatical people, trying to force them to do so.

They have even brought women and girls and imprisoned them, naked and barefooted, under the surveillance of a wild and fanatical people, trying to force them to do so. They have even brought women and girls and imprisoned them, naked and barefooted, under the surveillance of a wild and fanatical people, trying to force them to do so. They have even brought women and girls and imprisoned them, naked and barefooted, under the surveillance of a wild and fanatical people, trying to force them to do so.

They have even brought women and girls and imprisoned them, naked and barefooted, under the surveillance of a wild and fanatical people, trying to force them to do so. They have even brought women and girls and imprisoned them, naked and barefooted, under the surveillance of a wild and fanatical people, trying to force them to do so. They have even brought women and girls and imprisoned them, naked and barefooted, under the surveillance of a wild and fanatical people, trying to force them to do so.

They have even brought women and girls and imprisoned them, naked and barefooted, under the surveillance of a wild and fanatical people, trying to force them to do so. They have even brought women and girls and imprisoned them, naked and barefooted, under the surveillance of a wild and fanatical people, trying to force them to do so. They have even brought women and girls and imprisoned them, naked and barefooted, under the surveillance of a wild and fanatical people, trying to force them to do so.

THE BAL TIC CANAL.

Formal Opening by the Emperor—A Proud Day for Kaiser Wilhelm.

A Cordial and Impoving International Demonstration—France and Germany Shake Hands.

HOLSTENAU, June 20.—With pomp and ceremony, and with, it would almost seem, the great powers of the world through the Emperor William to-day formally opened the Baltic and North Sea canal. He entered the water by the new waterway at Brunshausen, not far from Hamburg, shortly after daylight, on board the Imperial yacht Hohenzollern and His Majesty arrived at the eastern opening of the canal here shortly after noon.

Both shores of the canal were lined with cavalry and infantry throughout the passage of the procession, and every point of vantage along the route of the new waterway was occupied by thousands of people. Gay decorations were to be seen everywhere, and the principal streets of the city were lined with the assembled spectators when His Majesty, on the Hohenzollern, emerged safely and triumphantly from the Holstenau lock at Brunshausen, at the eastern opening of the canal here shortly after noon.

The French flag was cheered to the echo, and the Kaiser's salute was given to the French flag, to the officers of the German battleship Bayern, who had entered the Baltic and North Sea canal in the latter occasion the German commander toasted the French President at the same time as he toasted the German Emperor, and referred to the cordial relations and comradely existing among naval men of the world over. The French commander, Admiral Menard, at the dinner to-day on board the Hohenzollern, with a similar toast and with a hearty salute to the Kaiser, which was vigorously responded to by the Kaiser, and followed this with the national anthem of his country.

It is difficult to fully describe the general enthusiasm which prevailed. One must stand on the vast fleet of over fifty war vessels, large and small, representing nearly all the nations, anchored in the blue waters of the Kiel bay, the sun shining brightly, the masts of the various ships flying countless flags, pennants and streamers, and their sides ballooning with the crowd of people, to get some idea of the scene. The Kaiser's yacht, the Hohenzollern, was most dignified and the Kaiser himself, in his uniform of an admiral of the fleet, his breast brilliant with orders and decorations, his broad orange ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle, his white uniform finished and as the smoke from the various guns was blowing away in dense clouds from the harbor, the Kaiser on each ship shouted "Hail to the Kaiser!" and followed this with the national anthem of his country.

It is difficult to fully describe the general enthusiasm which prevailed. One must stand on the vast fleet of over fifty war vessels, large and small, representing nearly all the nations, anchored in the blue waters of the Kiel bay, the sun shining brightly, the masts of the various ships flying countless flags, pennants and streamers, and their sides ballooning with the crowd of people, to get some idea of the scene. The Kaiser's yacht, the Hohenzollern, was most dignified and the Kaiser himself, in his uniform of an admiral of the fleet, his breast brilliant with orders and decorations, his broad orange ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle, his white uniform finished and as the smoke from the various guns was blowing away in dense clouds from the harbor, the Kaiser on each ship shouted "Hail to the Kaiser!" and followed this with the national anthem of his country.

It is difficult to fully describe the general enthusiasm which prevailed. One must stand on the vast fleet of over fifty war vessels, large and small, representing nearly all the nations, anchored in the blue waters of the Kiel bay, the sun shining brightly, the masts of the various ships flying countless flags, pennants and streamers, and their sides ballooning with the crowd of people, to get some idea of the scene. The Kaiser's yacht, the Hohenzollern, was most dignified and the Kaiser himself, in his uniform of an admiral of the fleet, his breast brilliant with orders and decorations, his broad orange ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle, his white uniform finished and as the smoke from the various guns was blowing away in dense clouds from the harbor, the Kaiser on each ship shouted "Hail to the Kaiser!" and followed this with the national anthem of his country.

It is difficult to fully describe the general enthusiasm which prevailed. One must stand on the vast fleet of over fifty war vessels, large and small, representing nearly all the nations, anchored in the blue waters of the Kiel bay, the sun shining brightly, the masts of the various ships flying countless flags, pennants and streamers, and their sides ballooning with the crowd of people, to get some idea of the scene. The Kaiser's yacht, the Hohenzollern, was most dignified and the Kaiser himself, in his uniform of an admiral of the fleet, his breast brilliant with orders and decorations, his broad orange ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle, his white uniform finished and as the smoke from the various guns was blowing away in dense clouds from the harbor, the Kaiser on each ship shouted "Hail to the Kaiser!" and followed this with the national anthem of his country.

It is difficult to fully describe the general enthusiasm which prevailed. One must stand on the vast fleet of over fifty war vessels, large and small, representing nearly all the nations, anchored in the blue waters of the Kiel bay, the sun shining brightly, the masts of the various ships flying countless flags, pennants and streamers, and their sides ballooning with the crowd of people, to get some idea of the scene. The Kaiser's yacht, the Hohenzollern, was most dignified and the Kaiser himself, in his uniform of an admiral of the fleet, his breast brilliant with orders and decorations, his broad orange ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle, his white uniform finished and as the smoke from the various guns was blowing away in dense clouds from the harbor, the Kaiser on each ship shouted "Hail to the Kaiser!" and followed this with the national anthem of his country.

It is difficult to fully describe the general enthusiasm which prevailed. One must stand on the vast fleet of over fifty war vessels, large and small, representing nearly all the nations, anchored in the blue waters of the Kiel bay, the sun shining brightly, the masts of the various ships flying countless flags, pennants and streamers, and their sides ballooning with the crowd of people, to get some idea of the scene. The Kaiser's yacht, the Hohenzollern, was most dignified and the Kaiser himself, in his uniform of an admiral of the fleet, his breast brilliant with orders and decorations, his broad orange ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle, his white uniform finished and as the smoke from the various guns was blowing away in dense clouds from the harbor, the Kaiser on each ship shouted "Hail to the Kaiser!" and followed this with the national anthem of his country.

It is difficult to fully describe the general enthusiasm which prevailed. One must stand on the vast fleet of over fifty war vessels, large and small, representing nearly all the nations, anchored in the blue waters of the Kiel bay, the sun shining brightly, the masts of the various ships flying countless flags, pennants and streamers, and their sides ballooning with the crowd of people, to get some idea of the scene. The Kaiser's yacht, the Hohenzollern, was most dignified and the Kaiser himself, in his uniform of an admiral of the fleet, his breast brilliant with orders and decorations, his broad orange ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle, his white uniform finished and as the smoke from the various guns was blowing away in dense clouds from the harbor, the Kaiser on each ship shouted "Hail to the Kaiser!" and followed this with the national anthem of his country.

It is difficult to fully describe the general enthusiasm which prevailed. One must stand on the vast fleet of over fifty war vessels, large and small, representing nearly all the nations, anchored in the blue waters of the Kiel bay, the sun shining brightly, the masts of the various ships flying countless flags, pennants and streamers, and their sides ballooning with the crowd of people, to get some idea of the scene. The Kaiser's yacht, the Hohenzollern, was most dignified and the Kaiser himself, in his uniform of an admiral of the fleet, his breast brilliant with orders and decorations, his broad orange ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle, his white uniform finished and as the smoke from the various guns was blowing away in dense clouds from the harbor, the Kaiser on each ship shouted "Hail to the Kaiser!" and followed this with the national anthem of his country.

It is difficult to fully describe the general enthusiasm which prevailed. One must stand on the vast fleet of over fifty war vessels, large and small, representing nearly all the nations, anchored in the blue waters of the Kiel bay, the sun shining brightly, the masts of the various ships flying countless flags, pennants and streamers, and their sides ballooning with the crowd of people, to get some idea of the scene. The Kaiser's yacht, the Hohenzollern, was most dignified and the Kaiser himself, in his uniform of an admiral of the fleet, his breast brilliant with orders and decorations, his broad orange ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle, his white uniform finished and as the smoke from the various guns was blowing away in dense clouds from the harbor, the Kaiser on each ship shouted "Hail to the Kaiser!" and followed this with the national anthem of his country.

It is difficult to fully describe the general enthusiasm which prevailed. One must stand on the vast fleet of over fifty war vessels, large and small, representing nearly all the nations, anchored in the blue waters of the Kiel bay, the sun shining brightly, the masts of the various ships flying countless flags, pennants and streamers, and their sides ballooning with the crowd of people, to get some idea of the scene. The Kaiser's yacht, the Hohenzollern, was most dignified and the Kaiser himself, in his uniform of an admiral of the fleet, his breast brilliant with orders and decorations, his broad orange ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle, his white uniform finished and as the smoke from the various guns was blowing away in dense clouds from the harbor, the Kaiser on each ship shouted "Hail to the Kaiser!" and followed this with the national anthem of his country.

It is difficult to fully describe the general enthusiasm which prevailed. One must stand on the vast fleet of over fifty war vessels, large and small, representing nearly all the nations, anchored in the blue waters of the Kiel bay, the sun shining brightly, the masts of the various ships flying countless flags, pennants and streamers, and their sides ballooning with the crowd of people, to get some idea of the scene. The Kaiser's yacht, the Hohenzollern, was most dignified and the Kaiser himself, in his uniform of an admiral of the fleet, his breast brilliant with orders and decorations, his broad orange ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle, his white uniform finished and as the smoke from the various guns was blowing away in dense clouds from the harbor, the Kaiser on each ship shouted "Hail to the Kaiser!" and followed this with the national anthem of his country.

It is difficult to fully describe the general enthusiasm which prevailed. One must stand on the vast fleet of over fifty war vessels, large and small, representing nearly all the nations, anchored in the blue waters of the Kiel bay, the sun shining brightly, the masts of the various ships flying countless flags, pennants and streamers, and their sides ballooning with the crowd of people, to get some idea of the scene. The Kaiser's yacht, the Hohenzollern, was most dignified and the Kaiser himself, in his uniform of an admiral of the fleet, his breast brilliant with orders and decorations, his broad orange ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle, his white uniform finished and as the smoke from the various guns was blowing away in dense clouds from the harbor, the Kaiser on each ship shouted "Hail to the Kaiser!" and followed this with the national anthem of his country.

It is difficult to fully describe the general enthusiasm which prevailed. One must stand on the vast fleet of over fifty war vessels, large and small, representing nearly all the nations, anchored in the blue waters of the Kiel bay, the sun shining brightly, the masts of the various ships flying countless flags, pennants and streamers, and their sides ballooning with the crowd of people, to get some idea of the scene. The Kaiser's yacht, the Hohenzollern, was most dignified and the Kaiser himself, in his uniform of an admiral of the fleet, his breast brilliant with orders and decorations, his broad orange ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle, his white uniform finished and as the smoke from the various guns was blowing away in dense clouds from the harbor, the Kaiser on each ship shouted "Hail to the Kaiser!" and followed this with the national anthem of his country.

It is difficult to fully describe the general enthusiasm which prevailed. One must stand on the vast fleet of over fifty war vessels, large and small, representing nearly all the nations, anchored in the blue waters of the Kiel bay, the sun shining brightly, the masts of the various ships flying countless flags, pennants and streamers, and their sides ballooning with the crowd of people, to get some idea of the scene. The Kaiser's yacht, the Hohenzollern, was most dignified and the Kaiser himself, in his uniform of an admiral of the fleet, his breast brilliant with orders and decorations, his broad orange ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle, his white uniform finished and as the smoke from the various guns was blowing away in dense clouds from the harbor, the Kaiser on each ship shouted "Hail to the Kaiser!" and followed this with the national anthem of his country.

It is difficult to fully describe the general enthusiasm which prevailed. One must stand on the vast fleet of over fifty war vessels, large and small, representing nearly all the nations, anchored in the blue waters of the Kiel bay, the sun shining brightly, the masts of the various ships flying countless flags, pennants and streamers, and their sides ballooning with the crowd of people, to get some idea of the scene. The Kaiser's yacht, the Hohenzollern, was most dignified and the Kaiser himself, in his uniform of an admiral of the fleet, his breast brilliant with orders and decorations, his broad orange ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle, his white uniform finished and as the smoke from the various guns was blowing away in dense clouds from the harbor, the Kaiser on each ship shouted "Hail to the Kaiser!" and followed this with the national anthem of his country.

It is difficult to fully describe the general enthusiasm which prevailed. One must stand on the vast fleet of over fifty war vessels, large and small, representing nearly all the nations, anchored in the blue waters of the Kiel bay, the sun shining brightly, the masts of the various ships flying countless flags, pennants and streamers, and their sides ballooning with the crowd of people, to get some idea of the scene. The Kaiser's yacht, the Hohenzollern, was most dignified and the Kaiser himself, in his uniform of an admiral of the fleet, his breast brilliant with orders and decorations, his broad orange ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle, his white uniform finished and as the smoke from the various guns was blowing away in dense clouds from the harbor, the Kaiser on each ship shouted "Hail to the Kaiser!" and followed this with the national anthem of his country.

It is difficult to fully describe the general enthusiasm which prevailed. One must stand on the vast fleet of over fifty war vessels, large and small, representing nearly all the nations, anchored in the blue waters of the Kiel bay, the sun shining brightly, the masts of the various ships flying countless flags, pennants and streamers, and their sides ballooning with the crowd of people, to get some idea of the scene. The Kaiser's yacht, the Hohenzollern, was most dignified and the Kaiser himself, in his uniform of an admiral of the fleet, his breast brilliant with orders and decorations, his broad orange ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle, his white uniform finished and as the smoke from the various guns was blowing away in dense clouds from the harbor, the Kaiser on each ship shouted "Hail to the Kaiser!" and followed this with the national anthem of his country.

It is difficult to fully describe the general enthusiasm which prevailed. One must stand on the vast fleet of over fifty war vessels, large and small, representing nearly all the nations, anchored in the blue waters of the Kiel bay, the sun shining brightly, the masts of the various ships flying countless flags, pennants and streamers, and their sides ballooning with the crowd of people, to get some idea of the scene. The Kaiser's yacht, the Hohenzollern, was most dignified and the Kaiser himself, in his uniform of an admiral of the fleet, his breast brilliant with orders and decorations, his broad orange ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle, his white uniform finished and as the smoke from the various guns was blowing away in dense clouds from the harbor, the Kaiser on each ship shouted "Hail to the Kaiser!" and followed this with the national anthem of his country.

It is difficult to fully describe the general enthusiasm which prevailed. One must stand on the vast fleet of over fifty war vessels, large and small, representing nearly all the nations, anchored in the blue waters of the Kiel bay, the sun shining brightly, the masts of the various ships flying countless flags, pennants and streamers, and their sides ballooning with the crowd of people, to get some idea of the scene. The Kaiser's yacht, the Hohenzollern, was most dignified and the Kaiser himself, in his uniform of an admiral of the fleet, his breast brilliant with orders and decorations, his broad orange ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle, his white uniform finished and as the smoke from the various guns was blowing away in dense clouds from the harbor, the Kaiser on each ship shouted "Hail to the Kaiser!" and followed this with the national anthem of his country.

It is difficult to fully describe the general enthusiasm which prevailed. One must stand on the vast fleet of over fifty war vessels, large and small, representing nearly all the nations, anchored in the blue waters of the Kiel bay, the sun shining brightly, the masts of the various ships flying countless flags, pennants and streamers, and their sides ballooning with the crowd of people, to get some idea of the scene. The Kaiser's yacht, the Hohenzollern, was most dignified and the Kaiser himself, in his uniform of an admiral of the fleet, his breast brilliant with orders and decorations, his broad orange ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle, his white uniform finished and as the smoke from the various guns was blowing away in dense clouds from the harbor, the Kaiser on each ship shouted "Hail to the Kaiser!" and followed this with the national anthem of his country.

It is difficult to fully describe the general enthusiasm which prevailed. One must stand on the vast fleet of over fifty war vessels, large and small, representing nearly all the nations, anchored in the blue waters of the Kiel bay, the sun shining brightly, the masts of the various ships flying countless flags, pennants and streamers, and their sides ballooning with the crowd of people, to get some idea of the scene. The Kaiser's yacht, the Hohenzollern, was most dignified and the Kaiser himself, in his uniform of an admiral of the fleet, his breast brilliant with orders and decorations, his broad orange ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle, his white uniform finished and as the smoke from the various guns was blowing away in dense clouds from the harbor, the Kaiser on each ship shouted "Hail to the Kaiser!" and followed this with the national anthem of his country.

It is difficult to fully describe the general enthusiasm which prevailed. One must stand on the vast fleet of over fifty war vessels, large and small, representing nearly all the nations, anchored in the blue waters of the Kiel bay, the sun shining brightly, the masts of the various ships flying countless flags, pennants and streamers, and their sides ballooning with the crowd of people, to get some idea of the scene. The Kaiser's yacht, the Hohenzollern, was most dignified and the Kaiser himself, in his uniform of an admiral of the fleet, his breast brilliant with orders and decorations, his broad orange ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle, his white uniform finished and as the smoke from the various guns was blowing away in dense clouds from the harbor, the Kaiser on each ship shouted "Hail to the Kaiser!" and followed this with the national anthem of his country.

It is difficult to fully describe the general enthusiasm which prevailed. One must stand on the vast fleet of over fifty war vessels, large and small, representing nearly all the nations, anchored in the blue waters of the Kiel bay, the sun shining brightly, the masts of the various ships flying countless flags, pennants and streamers, and their sides ballooning with the crowd of people, to get some idea of the scene. The Kaiser's yacht, the Hohenzollern, was most dignified and the Kaiser himself, in his uniform of an admiral of the fleet, his breast brilliant with orders and decorations, his broad orange ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle, his white uniform finished and as the smoke from the various guns was blowing away in dense clouds from the harbor, the Kaiser on each ship shouted "Hail to the Kaiser!" and followed this with the national anthem of his country.

It is difficult to fully describe the general enthusiasm which prevailed. One must stand on the vast fleet of over fifty war vessels, large and small, representing nearly all the nations, anchored in the blue waters of the Kiel bay, the sun shining brightly, the masts of the various ships flying countless flags, pennants and streamers, and their sides ballooning with the crowd of people, to get some idea of the scene. The Kaiser's yacht, the Hohenzollern, was most dignified and the Kaiser himself, in his uniform of an admiral of the fleet, his breast brilliant with orders and decorations, his broad orange ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle, his white uniform finished and as the smoke from the various guns was blowing away in dense clouds from the harbor, the Kaiser on each ship shouted "Hail to the Kaiser!" and followed this with the national anthem of his country.

It is difficult to fully describe the general enthusiasm which prevailed. One must stand on the vast fleet of over fifty war vessels, large and small, representing nearly all the nations, anchored in the blue waters of the Kiel bay, the sun shining brightly, the masts of the various ships flying countless flags, pennants and streamers, and their sides ballooning with the crowd of people, to get some idea of the scene. The Kaiser's yacht, the Hohenzollern, was most dignified and the Kaiser himself, in his uniform of an admiral of the fleet, his breast brilliant with orders and decorations, his broad orange ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle, his white uniform finished and as the smoke from the various guns was blowing away in dense clouds from the harbor, the Kaiser on each ship shouted "Hail to the Kaiser!" and followed this with the national anthem of his country.

It is difficult to fully describe the general enthusiasm which prevailed. One must stand on the vast fleet of over fifty war vessels, large and small, representing nearly all the nations, anchored in the blue waters of the Kiel bay, the sun shining brightly, the masts of the various ships flying countless flags, pennants and streamers, and their sides ballooning with the crowd of people, to get some idea of the scene. The Kaiser's yacht, the Hohenzollern, was most dignified and the Kaiser himself, in his uniform of an admiral of the fleet, his breast brilliant with orders and decorations, his broad orange ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle, his white uniform finished and as the smoke from the various guns was blowing away in dense clouds from the harbor, the Kaiser on each ship shouted "Hail to the Kaiser!" and followed this with the national anthem of his country.

WORLD'S W. C. T. U.

Second Day's Session of the Great Convention in London, England.

Reception by the Lord Mayor—Some Interesting Statistics Regarding the Organization.

LONDON, June 20.—The second day's session of the World's Women's Christian Temperance Union was this morning opened with prayer at the Queen's hall. During the course of the morning's work the report of the secretary, Miss Anna A. Goodwin, was presented.

The Lord Mayor of London, Sir Geo. Reynolds, and Lady Reynolds gave a reception to the delegates of the W. C. T. U. at the Mansion House. Lady Reynolds, the