Some people in Brantford had also obtained a charter last session, and intended to organize under it, but on consideration it appeared to them that Toronto was a more suitable place for the head office than Brantford would be, and, as Brantford was named in their charter, and a change would require legislation, it it was agreed to use the charter of the Traders' bank and drop the other, and open a branch of the Traders at Brantford as soon as the bank should be ready to organize. The stock books have been got ready and a considerable amount has already been subscribed, and nearly enough promised to start the bank, but as formal notice was required, and the time for opening the books according to the notice will not lapse till Jan. 5, what is being done is only preliminary.

Some Wedding Superstitions.

In Sweden, a bride must carry bread in salt in their pockets, and the Italians "blessed" charms. The Romans were very superstitious about marrying in May or February; they avoided all celebration days, and the Calends, Nones and Ides of every month. The day of the week on which May 14 fell, was considered very unlucky in many parts of "merry old England," and in Orkney islands a bride selects her wedding day so that its evening may have a growing moon and a flowing tide. In Scotland the last day of the year is thought to be lucky, and if the moon should happen to be full at any time when a wedding takes place, the bride's cup of happiness is expected to be always full. In Perthshire the couple who have had their banns published at the end of one, and are married at the beginning of another, quarter of a year, can expect nothing but ends.

Two Sides of a Congressman's Life. It is an error to suppose that the lawmakers have nothing more to do than attend the ordinary sessions of the senate or house and draw their pay. Some of them are models of industry-going to the capitol early in the morning, holding committee meetings for an hour or two, darting off to an executive department for information, taking part in the debates of E the respective houses, writing letters to constituents and transacting infinite odds and ends of business until dusk. And when they go home in the evening they are not always allowed to rest. They are when they go home in the evening they are not always allowed to rest. They are bothered by dissatisfied constituents; they are beseiged by strangers and friends, one wanting this done, another that, a third constituents. something else, until wearied and exhausted something else, until wearied and exhausted they sink into a restless sleep and dream hideous visions of the coming day.

Yet there is another side of the picture. They each receive five thousand dollars a year and perquisiter, to say nothing of the honor of writing "M.C." and "U.S.S." after their names; they are "distinshed gu sts" wherever they go; they are in vited to all levces and receptions, to all festivals and amusements; they are ban-quoted by the president and entertained by cabinet ministers; and they are welcome to every species of domestic and foreign hos-pitality, from a charity-ball to a german at the legation, where they may move solemnly through the figures of the stately minuet, or dance to the livelier music of a cotillion and Virginia reel. Altogether their careers are decidedly, agreeable and the average congressman would gladly serve his country for life, and "nominate by his death —From "Among the Law-Makers," by Edmund Alton, in St. Nicholas for January.

A New Craze in Photography.

The craze for photographing sections of of one, and are married at the beginning of the human form divine has not yet reached was lost. The missionaries tell them this New York, but it's bound to come. I have been looking over an English collection. There were hands—some of them stuck through holes in a dark screen and clasped and raised; others were taken singly, holding a flower; others again exhibited the palm in such a way that a fortune talken palm in such a way that a fortune teller could "read the lines." There were bare feet. If any one ever saw a bare foot that was pretty on anything but a baby, then they have seen Eliza Weathersby's (Mrs. Nat Goodwin). She has a beautiful foot without a blemish, and might be justified n having hers photographed. But the English feet that had been subjected to plain backs that are taken—just simple, plain backs, with moles, perhaps, or without; and sections of shoulders and napes of neck—scruffs of necks, the mutton sellers call 'em—or an ear, just one detached ear, for that ear is stuck through a slit in a spect of valvet.
