Cor. King & Victoria-sts., Toronto Robert Cochran received the following today over his private wire from Counselman & Day of Chicago: In the absence of other features the weather continues to be of chief interest to traders. The same influence which broke wheat 1½c yesterday was responsible for a recovery of about £ to day. The signal service map showed heavy rains between Omaha and Desmoines and two storm centres further west. Shorts covered freely in the early trading. Some few resold when estinates of cars were announced for tomorrow, but majority seemed to prefer standing freely in the early trading. Some few when estimates of cars were announced for tomorrow, but majority seemed to prefer standing even over night, but will probably be free sellers spain if a wet harvest scare comes to-morrow.
Heceipts at primary points again exceeded shipments. New York reported one cargo of wheat taken for Dec: shipment; we note that they don't Drummond & Brown received the following to-day over their private wire from Schwartz, Dupee & McCormick of Chicago: At the opening of the market there were indications that the short side of wheat was becoming too popular and that the larger class of bears preferred to take a side in which they had less company. There were heavy rains in Nebraska and lowa. The French authorities settled upon July 10 as the date for the reduction of the cereal duty, and the signal service predicted general showers for Friday. In spite of declines abroad shorts here were made uneasy by this combination of bull announcements. A disturbance of the present fine harvest conditions would pretty certainly frighten the large number of short sellers. Corn was sustained to-day by large; purchases for a local floor trader who is supposed to be long and is bulling the market to try to get out. Reports from the country indicate an increased movement. Oats were dull, being weak early and strong later. Provisions, which closed weak yesterday, were still weaker to-day, being seriously affected by sensational articles; published in our morning papers as to the discovery of trichines in a number of hogs which were inspected at the yards by order of the National Board. The weakness was increased by the estimate which was made that the first of the month would show an increase in stocks. The trichine articles were exaggerated and should not have affected the market, but with a very large outside holding they will undoubtedly precipitate heavy liquidation of long stuff.
