Brow ie, the popular Helena and Beston stage driver, says last Fralay night was little the worst night he ever put in on tie box. The snow on the Birt Tail was about three teet, and the road indiscernable, and to add to his discomfort the measly old jerry got tired and tumbled over on its side to t ke a rest. It is fair to presume that Brown cooled down his wrath by emitting copious mouthfuls of extra choice words, for watch he is funous. We have a faint recolsection of sinking out of sight in a snow bank while going over the Divide with Browne, on the box, some time ago; and when he fails to get out of a fix there is no stage driver in the world has any business to tackle the job.
