ROUTED IN FOUR DAYS' BATT Kaiser Has Signally Failed to Penetrate French Centre, is in Retreat Before French Advance; His Lines of Communication in Danger and Retreat Into Belgium Liable to Be Cut Off.

Direct Copyrighted Cable to The Toronto World.

LONDON, Sept. 9 .--- It was officially announced here today that the French and British troops have routed the Germans in a great battle on the River Ourcq. Relating details of the fierceness of the struggle in which more than 2,000,000 men were engaged on both sides, the despatches say that two German regimental standards were captured by the French after a desperate hand-to-hand encounter.

It is stated that the kaiser has signally failed after four days' fighting to penetrate the French centre, and that he is in retreat today before the French advance. Military observers declare that his own lines of communication are in grave danger, the enemy threatening to cut off his retreat into Belgium.

According to late advices received here, seventy thousand British East Indian troops with 130 guns, have been landed in France and are fighting with the Anglo-French forces. News of the success of the allies has thrown this city into a fever of excitement. Londoners are highly elated over the change in the situation, and crodws

Despatches from Paris relate that British officers and soldiers arriving from the front today declare that the four day battle which still continues to the east of the capital is being carried on furiously. They assert that the French captured a considerable number of field and machine guns, while the Germans often surrendered in groups. Field Marshal Sir John French, the commander-in-chief of the British expeditionary force now fighting with the French army, looked perfectly satisfied with with the situation, according to the British soldiers. They say he went about the lines smoking a cigaret as tho he was on the parade grounds.

ATTACK ON NANCY ABANDONED

To the east of France, the attack on the great circle of forts at Nancy, begun under the personal command of the kaiser, has been abandoned for the time being at least.

A cable from Basle, Switzerland, via Rome, says the Germans have evacuated upper Alsace. The war office says "On the whole front the Germans appear to be beginning the failed and that the advance of the allies was now general all along the line. It is also said the French artillery proved

This is not surprising to military men, as the Germans have been compelled to advance thru the swamps of the Petit Morin, and then over bare up-lands to the extremely strong French position on the right. It is their only chance however, and it is expected that they will strike and strike again. They are bringing their reinforcements down from Chalons on the roads tead ing to Fere-Champenoise, Sommesous and Sompuis, in the face of the French artillery posted on the heights, which give it a great advantage, British Army Victorious,

General Pau, who commands the centre of the French army in this district, is reported to be advancing north of Sezanne towards the plateau which mands the centre of the whole battlefield. On his left the British force has driven the Germans across the Grand Morin and Petit Morin Rivers, towards the Marne itself, while on the extreme left the French sixth army, advancing from Paris along the Ource River, have had further successes and are threatening Gen. Kluk's communications.

In the east the Germans so far have failed in their attempts to break across the rivers and thru the hills of Argonne between Vitry-le-Francois and Verdun on the right wing of the allies.

Again, according to the French reports, there has been no action against the Grand Couraonne of Nancy, and in the Vosges and Alsace the situation remains unchanged.

All this favorable news has cheered the allies, but military critics warn the public that the battle has not yet been won, and that there probably will week or more of fighting before a decisive result is attained either way. There is a possibility that the Germans are trying to draw the allies into a attack upon the high ground that lies between the Marne and the Aisne, about Rheims, and while it is believed that some of the edg; has been taken off the German defensive, it is not at all probable that it has all been re-

Gen. Joffre, the French commander-in-chief, however, has won some points. He has secured the time he required, is in better positions and has completed his concentration so that he is now believed to have a fair chance against the invaders who have hewed their way from Mons to the gates of Paris

The Austrians and Russians are still battling in Galicia, and altho Rusan official circles are silent, reports from Rome, which generally have been accurate, coming as they do thru German or Roumanian sources, indicate that he Russians are making progress against Gen. Auffenberg's army, which is eing supported by Germans.

Some doubt is now expressed as to whether the Russian enveloping movept from the south of Lemberg can be developed quick enough to cut off the Austrians should they be defeated by the Russians advancing from the north. But should the Austrians be defeated, as Rome says, this second army is likely to hasten Gen. Auffenberg's retirement.

The official announcement was as follows:

"FIRST-On the left (French) wing, altho the Germans have been reinforced, the situation remains satisfactory. The enemy is retreating before the British army.

"SECOND-At the centre our advance is slow but general. On the right (French) wing there has been no action of the enemy against the great circle of Nancy. In the Vosges and in Alsace the situation remains unchanged. On the banks of the River Ourcq two German flags have been captured in the course of a great battle. One was taken from the enemy by force by a reservist named Gullmard, who has received the military medal from General Gallieni, commander of the French forces at Paris. This flag is of the Thirty-Sixth Regiment of German infantry, which was decorated in 1870 with the order of the Iron Cross."

MAUBEUGE DEFENCE CONTINUES.

MAUBEUGE DEFENCE CONTINUES. Sail On, Oh England! It may be but for a day-and we have passed thru-a dark enough August-but the outlook for our empire has improved and brightened since Sunday. The allies may have to sustain further trials and other reverses, but we know that we will survive them; and not only that we are sure to win in the end, but that we are determined to win, and to force our terms on the barbarian adversary. MAUBEUGE DEFENCE CONTINUES. A correspondent in Berlin, in a wireless message from that place, reports that it was announced at the German army headquarters that the French fortress of Maubeuge has been captured by the Germans. However, the French War Office officially reports that the defence of Maubeuge is a fortress of the first-class, and is situated in the Department du Nord, about six miles from the Belgian frontier. The German onslaughts have been going on there for a week. Under date of Sept. 5, despatches from France said part of the British army was at Maubeuge assisting the French sarrison. AUSTRIANS COMPLETELY CRUSHED. Further news from Petrograd (St. Petersburg) declares that the Austrian armies under General Von Auffenberg and General Danki have been completely crushed by the Russians under General Ruzsky. It is said that not only have the Austrians been entirely routed, but that among the prisoners are many Germans, indicating that the German reinforcements sent to aid the Austrians actually participated in the battle. The remnants of the Austrian forces are declared to be retreat-ing, hotly pursued by the Russians.

The main Russian attack was delivered from Rawa-Ruska, 35 miles northwest of Lemberg, where General Russky's army attacked the Austrians on their right flank, while the Russian forces that had been sent from Warsaw attacked from the rear.
