IN LLOYD GEORGE

VICTIM OF PNEUMONIA VOTES CONFIDENCE

Wales Has Expressed Herself in Cardigan Election, Says Papers.

London, Feb. 20.—The newspapers generally consider the result of the by-election in Cardigan, Wales, Sat-urday, when Captain Ernest Evans, coalition Liberal, who was supported by Mr. Lloyd George, was elected to the house of commons over Llewellyn Williams, independent Liberal, as a satisfactory answer to concerning the strength of Mr. Lloyd

"A specially selected constituency," The Sunday Times says, "declared the country's prime need is a premier and a policy that envisages difficulties and will endorse courage that tackies problems rather than one which problems rather than one which shrinks from them.

"The our guard of Liberalism, known as 'We're tree', harvested an even more ofter defeat than had been planned for the premier's candidate when announcing that 'Cardiganshire, the most typical, the most welsh, the most radical, the most non-conformist county in Wales' would speak for Wales to the world."

The Sunday Observer characterizes the election of Captain Evans as due to the activeness of the appeal of Mrs. Lioyd George and the continued ascendency of the premier in the mind of his countrymen. "To the premier this message of confidence from the people of his own land comes as no ordinary encouragement," says The Observer.

Adverse Criticism.

Only The Dispatch views the Cardigan election as a sign of weakness by the premier's followers.

"If the prime minister's supporters care to claim the Cardigan election election as a cardigan election as a cardigan election election of the cardigan election as a cardigan election of the cardigan election as a cardigan election as a cardigan election election of the cardigan election as a cardigan election election of the cardigan election ele election as a sign of weakness by the premier's followers.

"If the prime minister's supporters care to claim the Cardigan election as a triumph for the coalition Liberals, they are easily pleased," says the despatch. This newspaper describes the election as a vote of confidence n the prime minister, who was represented by an energetic wife, but says that despite her personality, the glamor of her husband's name and the magic touch of the Weish tongue, he could not prevent 10.500 Weishmen, most of them, who presumably were Coalitionists in 1919. from swinging in with the opposition.

Mr. Lloyd George, in congratulating Captain Evans by telegraph said:

"Your deciseve victory proves that Wales declines to be lured by hatreds into imperilling natomal unity. I shall enter the great conference of nations next week with a heartening knowledge that my fellow-countrymen in Wales still trust me to do my best."
