Great deeds are great legacies, and work with wondrous usury. By what man has done, we learn what man can do, and gauge the power and prospects of our race. A great career, though baulked of its end, is still a landmark of human energy.

Why is a lady, while decorating her fingers, like one in distress?—Because she's wringing her hands.

Woman's "Empire State" is matrimony. Here she is always in her majority—always reigns, and (as scurrilous bachelors say,) sometimes

What was the difference between Noah's Ark and Joan of Arc? One was made of Gophir wood, the other was Maid of Orleans.

What town in England is Jenny Lind's sister like?—Cirencester (syren's sister).

"What, Mr. Speaker, what shall I say to my constituents?" exclaimed a wrathful member of Congress, on the passage of a bill to which he was utterly opposed. "What shall I say?" he repeated; but found it impossible to get beyond the interrogatory. "Tell them," replied the waggish Speaker, "that you tried to make a speech, but couldn't."

Politeness.—It is a graceful habit for children to say to each other, "Will you have the goodness?" and "I thank you." I do not like to see prim artificial children; there are few things I dislike so much as a miniature beau or belle. But the habit of good manners by no means implies affectation or restraint. It is of some consequence that your daughter should know how to enter and leave a room gracefully; but it is of prodigiously more consequence that she should be in the habit of avoiding whatever is disgusting or offensive to others, and of always preferring their pleasure to her own. Nothing tends to make people so awkward as too much anxiety to please others.

"I never had these panes before," as the mended sash said to the glazier.

comes out of the reservoir, but the thick tar—and gradually mix as you would mix water with the mortar or plaster, until the heap is about the consistence of pretty thick mortar. In forming my yards and sheds for cows, and those attached to loose boxes for horses, two years ago, in order that all the fluids should draw towards a tank, I employed this compound on a surface formed with stone broken very small and a small quantity of gravel scattered over them and then roll-
