PART 1.

THE CELEBRATIONS ENDED

The Excellent Tact Displayed by the Emperor at the Hamburg Banquet.

Critical Comparison of the Various Fleets—The Critique—New York.

Berlin, June 22.—Public interest as might be expected has been monopolized in the past week with the festivities at Hamburg and Kiel, upon the occasion of the Kaiser Wilhelm canal, and Berlin has been deserted by nearly all the prominent men. The newspapers have devoted pages every day to the canal celebrations and everything done and said has been liberally commented upon. Emperor William's speech at the Hamburg banquet was enthusiastically received here and the stress laid by him on the peaceful significance of the event caused general pleasure and a most agreeable content seems to exist between the Emperor and all the German sovereigns. At the Hamburg banquet the Emperor, the moment the King of Bavaria rose to speak, poured wine into the latter's glass and his cordial attention to the King of Saxony were favorably noticed. His Majesty's pacific utterances have also been very well received in Austria. Dispatches from Vienna state that Herr Dumba, reporter of the budget committee, speaking to the Austrian delegation to-day, referred to the speeches of the Emperor saying: "The assurances of peace by our august ally find a mighty echo which is in perfect harmony with those words of peace. The creation of such a work of peace as the Baltic canal is a proof that both states and peoples nowadays are engaged in a widely different struggle and that the competition in the world's trade is now purely confined to the domain of economy."

The Emperor William and two of the leading marine painters, Heren Bolnot and Saltzmann, went to the opening of the canal, where he indicated to them, during his four days' stay, the best moments and occasions for sketches. They will execute a series of paintings representing the most striking views of the ceremonies and the paintings will be presented to the national gallery. The naval correspondents of the German and Austrian newspapers have highly commended the appearance of the United States vessels and crews. They praise the display of maneuvering and seamanship of their manoeuvres, according to their place in this respect. They style the New York the finest vessel of her type at Kiel. In this connection the critical comparison of the various warships at Kiel made by an English naval expert now there is especially interesting. Omitting the British fleet comparison, in order to avoid a semblance of partiality, he expressed the opinion, after taking careful notice that, in respect to value and efficiency the various crews might be placed in the following order: (1) The Germans; (2) the French; (3) the Americans; (4) the Austrians; (5) the Russians; (6) the Italians; (7) the Swedes; (8) the Dutch; (9) the Danes; (10) the Roumanians; (11) the Portuguese; (12) the Spanish.

Among Emperor William's special guests at Kiel were Lord Lansdale and Mr. Poutney-Bigelow. The latter went to Kiel in his canoe from this city in five days, sailing or paddling and sleeping in the canoe.

It is expected that an international monetary conference will be called by Germany before October 15th. The Bundesrat, after receiving replies from the various federal governments, stands 16 to 43 in favor of such a conference. The opposing 16 members come from the three South German states and the Hansa towns of Hamburg, Bremen and Lubec, while Prussia, Saxony and the Middle States favor the calling of a monetary conference. The only point still unsettled is to what extent Germany, in calling the conference, is to engage herself. Whether she is to state the purpose as being the ultimate restoration of bimetalism or only to fix upon a new ratio between gold and silver?

The Emperor took a trip to Munich, Bavaria, on Monday last in order to determine upon the site and make the necessary arrangements for the building of the new Schack gallery of pictures, etc., which he has presented to that city. Count Adolphe Frederick von Schack, the millionaire author, died on April 15, 1894, and bequeathed his large picture gallery to Emperor William with the stipulation that it be added to the Berlin museum, but the Emperor decided that the gallery should remain at Munich, as that city was proud of it and its removal would have fostered an anti-imperial tendency in the South German states. The people of Munich were so delighted at the action of the Emperor that they have decided to place a statue of His Majesty in the famous gallery with the wording of the telegraph conveying his determination to the Munich authorities inscribed on the pedestal. His Majesty's visit was quite unexpected and consequently there was nobody at the railroad station to meet him. He jumped into a common hack and while he was being driven to the palace of the regent, Prince Luitpold, he was saluted, being in plain uniform, by the officers of the garrison whom he passed on his way. Among the latter was Prince Arnolph, youngest son of the regent and lieutenant-general of the first division in the infantry in the Bavarian army, and the husband of Princess Theresa of Liechtenstein, who would be supposed to be well acquainted with His Majesty, but nobody recognized the Emperor for more than an hour later, when he happened to meet the prince regent in some painter's studio. The art world of Munich, however, is delighted at his visit and with the Emperor's keen judgment and unaffected homeliness.

Mr. Gladstone, during his stay at Hamburg, expressed a desire to visit Prince Bismarck, but the latter declined. This report, however, is only a distorted version of the story called exclusively by the Associated Press on Sunday last that Sir Donald Currie, upon the steamer, the Tantalus, Castle, Mr. Gladstone was a guest, visited Friedrichshafen with others on Saturday and Prince Bismarck expressed himself as desiring to see him, and Mr. Gladstone, upon a card upon behalf of his father, who did not accompany the party.

The officers and men attached to the American squadron are delighted with their visit. They have been most favorably impressed with all that they have seen and expect to remain here some days enjoying the hospitality of the various fleets. The officers consider the canal a most wonderful undertaking and say that the programme has been an astonishing success, and that the fetes from the first to last have been the best thing of the sort seen anywhere.

The officers of the American squadron are also much struck with the attention paid to the details and the perfect organization noticeable not only in connection with the canal but also in the whole of the proceedings. After the banquet last night the American officers were all presented to Emperor William and the Duke of York. The former was extremely affable. He cordially shook hands with the American officers and had a friendly word for each. During his conversation with Admiral Kirkland, Emperor William especially referred to the great interest shown in American naval matters. He mentioned Captain Alfred T. Mahan's book on "Sea Power." Of this work he spoke in terms highly eulogistic, adding: "I have told all my officers to study Captain Mahan's book well and to sleep with it under their pillows."

The American ships have been subjected to much attention, the naval officers in attendance admiring especially the Columbia.

The sailors from all the American boats have been daily fêted. All of the ships have been illuminated each night from stem to stern, exciting the admiration of the crowds on shore. The illuminations, torchlight processions, music and festivities everywhere continue to-night. The manoeuvres of the review were universally pronounced a brilliant success. The movements of the ships were witnessed by princes and diplomats, while thousands of persons followed in steamers, launches and yachts.

CANADA FOR THE CANADIANS.
New Party Formed in Toronto—Too Much Federation.

Toronto, June 22.—A new party which may make radical changes in the government of the country was formed here last night under the title of the Canadian National Association. Some of its objects are the fostering of a national sentiment, working for the removal of the present system of dual languages, for the abolition of separate schools, so that there will be but one official language and one system of schools for Canada, and to disseminate information concerning Canada's mineral, agricultural, marine and lumbering industries. Only Canadians by birth are allowed to join the new organization, and thousands of applications have already been received. "Canada for Canadians," will be its motto.

ROSEBERY HAS RESIGNED

His Resignation Accepted With Out Reluctance—Salisbury Summoned.

"Joe" and the Duke Have Been Invited to Join the New Tory Cabinet.

London, June 24.—Lord Rosebery has resigned. Lord Salisbury is summoned to London.

Commenting upon the resignation of the ministry the Times says: "The ministers must be congratulated upon having rejected trickery and the cowardly advice of one of their supporters to remain in office. Obstacles to the assumption of office by the Unionist coalition have been grossly exaggerated and can be easily overcome. We believe Lord Salisbury will feel it his duty to accept the task of forming a cabinet and the new ministry will be composed of representatives of both sections of the Unionist party. The dissolution with a view to which a Unionist ministry will be formed cannot long be delayed and it will not be necessary to fill all the places in the ministry before taking steps for an immediate appeal to the country."

The Daily News (Liberal) says: "The Queen has accepted Earl Rosebery's resignation as she accepted Mr. Gladstone's, without any expression of that reluctance with which she favored Lord Salisbury. The sitting of the cabinet was chiefly occupied in weighing the respective arguments for dissolution and resignation. The idea of reversing Friday's vote and proceeding with business found little support. It is believed both Lord Rosebery and Sir Vernon Harcourt from the first strongly favored the course ultimately adopted. Lord Rosebery considered that the government which was weakened by defeat on the foreign affairs. When Sir Vernon Harcourt has announced the resignation in the commons he will probably move an adjournment for a few days. The impression prevails that Lord Salisbury will dissolve parliament immediately. It is well known that the opposition believe an election in July will give them the best chance of getting a majority." The Daily News says in an editorial: "Lord Rosebery and his colleagues have shown high and prominent qualities of statesmanship and duty requires that he should be allowed to desert Mr. Campbell-Bannerman. Moreover the government is at the mercy of accidents and an unexpected catastrophe and cannot conduct business with credit to themselves or advantage to the country. With the original majority of 40, reduced by the desertion of the Parnellites and losses by elections, the government has performed an amount of legislative work which exacted a reluctant assent from Mr. Chamberlain. Its success may be more cautious, but will neither be so bold nor so truthful."

The Times says that Lord Rosebery resigned on Saturday evening. "We understood that absolute agreement prevailed in the cabinet council on Saturday as to the resignation. There was a consensus of opinion that Mr. Campbell-Bannerman had been insulted and that his retirement from office must mean the breaking up of the cabinet."

The Standard (Conservative) says: "The government has been trading upon fraudulent representations from the beginning and probably Sir Wm. Vernon Harcourt is not sorry that the ignoble farce in which he played a leading part should be brought to a close. We have reason to believe that the Duke of Devonshire, Chamberlain, Sir Henry James and Lord Lansdowne have been invited to join the cabinet. The return of Mr. Gladstone is awaited by the Liberals with the greatest interest. There is no prospect that he will take a personal part in the campaign, but the impression prevails in Liberal quarters that he will issue a manifesto in support of the Liberal programme. The idea prevails that the Unionist government will endeavor to arrange a compromise on the Irish land bill in order to pass it before the general elections. There will undoubtedly be some settlement of the Irish land question and it will be one of the first measures of the new government, but it is probable they will prefer to introduce their own measure in a new parliament."

Most of the members left when the House went into committee. Numerous questions were asked regarding the agreement with Russia on the Behring sea question, and the complaints received from the government of the Dominion of Canada on the same subject. The parliamentary secretary of the foreign office, Sir Edward Gray, replying, said satisfactory assurance had been given Canada on the point raised by the fisheries bill then passed its third reading. Mr. Charles Tanner, member for the middle division of Cork, anti-Irishmen, raised a disturbance by exclaiming that he did not see why the fisheries bill should be given precedence over the Irish land bill. The House then adjourned.

The Marquis of Salisbury conferred this morning with the Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, Conservative leader of the house of commons, the Duke of Devonshire, the Unionist leader in the house of lords, and the Rt. Hon. Jos. Chamberlain, Unionist leader in the house of commons, at his house in London. The best informed speculations regarding the cabinet agree in the belief that Lord Salisbury will accept the task of forming a cabinet and the new ministry will be composed of representatives of both sections of the Unionist party.

In the house of commons to-day there was a most animated scene and outside the houses of parliament large crowds of people gathered eagerly discussing the situation. The speaker, Mr. Wm. Court Gully, took the chair at 3 p.m. Soon afterwards the secretary of state for war, Mr. Campbell-Bannerman, entered the house amid prolonged Liberal cheers. Mr. Balfour followed and was greeted with vigorous cheers from his supporters. At 3:30 p.m. the chancellor of the exchequer, Sir William Vernon Harcourt, entered the house and the Liberals rose in a body and cheered him to the echo. The supporters of Mr. Chamberlain made a similar demonstration when the Unionist leader entered. Sir William Vernon Harcourt said: "It is my duty to make the announcement to the house that the division on Friday last was a vote of censure on the secretary of war, than whom never a more able, respected or more popular minister ever held office. The government, of course, associated themselves with their colleagues, and feeling unable to pass the votes for supply resigned and their resignation had been accepted. Under ordinary circumstances it would be incumbent to move an adjournment, but the seal fisheries bill must be passed before July 1. When it has passed its third reading the government will move the adjournment of the house."

The chancellor of the exchequer then said that his supporters acknowledged the consideration shown to the government by their opponents. Tears were in the eyes of Sir William when he uttered the last words. Mr. Balfour criticized the conduct of the government. He said he thought the constitutional manner of the proceeding would have been to advise the Queen to dissolve parliament instead of throwing the burden of continuing the government on the opposition. At 3:43 the house went into committee on the seal fisheries bill.

It is officially announced that the Marquis of Salisbury has accepted the task of forming a new cabinet.

The British Preparing to Fight in Formosa.
London, June 20.—The Standard's Rome correspondent discusses the great attentions which the Vatican has paid to Cardinal Gibbons, and says: "The secret history of all this is rather curious. Cardinal Gibbons is a power in America, both by his sound doctrine and his personal influence, and, with few exceptions, holds all the Catholic forces there in his hands. This is not altogether pleasing in the highest quarters, especially when coupled with the fact that the American bishops show great spirit and independence. The pope instituted the apostolic delegation at Washington with a view of checking this independence. Cardinal Gibbons came to voice the disapproval of the American bishops of the step. Meaning, however, the question has been carefully discussed here, and the result is that Bishop Sotelli will be a cardinal. This, together with the special attentions shown to Cardinal Gibbons, must tend to convince him that the presentation of the bishops' memorial would be both useless and inopportune. A dispatch to the Times from Hong Kong says that the Black Flag general has demanded the withdrawal of the 200 British marines landed at Amping, on the island of Formosa. The British officer commanding the marines has refused to withdraw, and is preparing to fight.

A dispatch received at Madrid from Havana says Lieut. Col. Rodan, with three hundred infantry, charged a band of insurgents in the mountains of Santa Barbara with the bayonet and took a trench on the heights. The insurgents left five dead and six wounded. The troops had one killed and two wounded. Another engagement occurred at Caney Sitio, in which the insurgents lost twenty-two killed and wounded.

THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS.

Cable Communication the Vital Feature of the Government's Policy.

Reported Filibustering Expedition of 1000 Strong Ready to Leave Frisco.

Honolulu, June 16, via San Francisco. President Dole in his address to the first legislature of the Hawaiian republic said: "One of the matters to which I would especially direct your attention is cable communication with the outer world. Until such communication is secured, Hawaii must remain isolated. To do everything within our power to establish such communication is and must continue to be one of the items of the Hawaiian policy until accomplished. But two bills have been introduced in the legislature so far—the new land law and the supplementary appropriation bills, one item of which is for the settlement of Princess Kaiulani. She is to receive $4,000 a year from the government, commencing April 1st last. This money will be paid as long as she does not meddle in politics."

There is a well defined rumor about the effect that the ex-Queen will be pardoned at an early date. Her health continues excellent. The government has declined to liberate a number of rebel prisoners on July 4th. This fact will be disappointing to several who expected pardon, Major Seaward among them. The last words, Mr. Balfour criticized the conduct of the government. He said he thought the constitutional manner of the proceeding would have been to advise the Queen to dissolve parliament instead of throwing the burden of continuing the government on the opposition. At 3:43 the house went into committee on the seal fisheries bill.
