REV. NEWMAN HALL D. D.

The Distinguished London Clergyman Died This Morning.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—The Rev. Newman Hall, D. D., former chairman of the Congregational Union, who had been ill for some time past, died at half past nine o'clock this morning. He was born May 22, 1816.

Rev. Newman Hall, D. D., was appointed minister of the Abston Congregational church in 1842, and in 1854 became minister of Surrey Chapel, known as Rowland Hill's church. The nature of his work was the inauguration of a weekly lecture on "Monday evenings in the chapel, as a Sunday attraction to the public house. He was always an advocate of peace and of the non-resistance of all evangelical churches. He was favored in 1847 in the American civil war, and after its close made two tours of the United States, doing much to ally the British and the American people. He was asked to open congress with prayer and also preached in the house of representatives. The next day he delivered an address on International Relations, and Gen. Grant and members of both houses heard him. America he received £3,500 towards an international monument to Lincoln, and British citizens subscribed £1,000. The Lincoln tower, adjoining Christ church, London, was erected. This church was built to perpetuate the institution of Sunday school, and cost £20,000. It was consecrated July 4, 1878. Dr. Hall was a life long teetotaler. He was one of the best known London preachers, and also a voluminous writer. His devotional treatise "Come to Jesus," reached a circulation of millions, and has been translated into many languages. His writings include both poetry and prose.

MILLIONS FOR EDUCATION.

Rich Men Unite to Create a Great Fund to Be Used to Promote Learning Among the Poor, Particularly in the South.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Men of millions and prominent educators have united to create a great fund for the promotion of educational work throughout the country, especially in the South.

Through the agency of the National Educational Board, an outgrowth of the Southern Educational Conference, of which Robert C. Ogden is chairman, it is planned to carry on the work. Millions will be raised, and it is hoped to inaugurate a general movement on a large scale and of a greater scope than has ever before been attempted for this purpose.

Magnates are Interested. John D. Rockefeller, Andrew Carnegie, Morris K. Jesup, William H. Baldwin Jr., W. J. Schieffelin, Dr. Lyndon Abbott and Isaac N. Seligman are among the men who are interested in the plan, and it is understood that a vast sum has already been pledged for the project.

The organizers of the movement were inclined to be reticent today, but it was admitted that the project had taken definite shape.

"It is a mistake to think that the idea is new," said Mr. Baldwin today, "for during the last year quite an amount of money has passed through the hands of the educational board. All of this has been devoted to work in the South, for both the negro and the white. But, gratifying as the results have been, we all sincerely hope to be able to do more in the future."

Baldwin Not at Head. Mr. Baldwin denied the report that he would be the head of the board.

At present, the Peabody educational fund and the Slater educational fund are the two largest devoted to promoting education in the South and Southwest. The former amounts to $2,100,000 and the latter to $1,000,000. Through them large sums have been advanced annually. The Southern Educational Conference, out of which the present movement has grown, has devoted considerable money to Hampton Institute and Tuskegee Institute. In the work of the educational board there will be no distinction of race, color or creed.

ALWAYS AS YOUNG AS YOU FEEL.

(Success.) People grow old by thinking themselves old. When they reach the age of forty, fifty, or sixty they imagine that they look like the others of the same age, and that they soon will be useless, unfit for work and unable to perform their wonted duties. As surely as they think this it will come true, for thought is creative. How many of us can say, with Job, "The thing which I greatly desire is come upon me."

The time will come when children will not be allowed to celebrate their birthdays; when they will know that, by thinking themselves young, they will cease to grow old when they cease to believe in old age. The body is built up of beliefs, and our convictions are stamped upon every fiber of our beings. What we believe, what we think, that we are; so people who remain young in spirit never grow old.

Not one of a hundred students, of whom the writer was one, under Oliver Wendell Holmes, at Harvard, ever thought of him as an old man, although he had then passed his eightieth birthday. His spirit was so young, and he was so buoyant, so fresh and full of life that we always thought of him as one of ourselves. His vivacity and joyousness were contagious. You could not be in his presence five minutes without feeling brighter and better for it. The genial doctor never practiced medicine, yet he did more to relieve human suffering than many practicing physicians. His presence was a tonic; it was a perpetual delight to be near him.
