And how he'd softly pat her cheek,
And kiss it of er and o'et;
White she, that fair young motiver, there,
What his would she have upon?
With a sweet pledge of wedsed love!
A link within that chain.
Which binds two willing softs is one,
In hope and joy the same!

Oh! it's a cheerful sight, I ween,
To see two thus at play—
The mother and her cherub babo—
With hearts so light and gay!
We all have hnown a mother's care;
We all have ful ther kiss;
And, in our young and tender years,
What brighter dream than this?

Ah! then there's something holy, too, In word, and look, and smile.
A dreamy softeness lights her eye.
That touches as the while:
And we half sigh to share her joy—
Though sigh to share her joy—
Until our hearts are link'd like hers,
Within affection's chain.

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY FOR Colds, Coughs, Asthma, and Con-Howard's Wholesele House.

THE most celebrated and infallible remedy for Colds, Coughs, Ashima, and every form of Pulmenary Consumption, is the HUNGARIAN BALSAN OF LIFE, discovered by that enument medical chemist, Dr. Buchan, of London, England, and extensively known as the Great English Remedy.

querable malady. It is in fact the best remedy in the tworld?

[From the John Bull, newspaper, London.]

There is certainly some mysterious and occult virtue in the famous "Hungarina Balsam of Life," which the medical faculty are unable to discover, or Dr. Buchan would, not be permitted for so many years to enjoy the magnificent monopoly of the treatment and core of Commispion in Great Britain. No satisfactory analysis of this famous compound has ever, to our knowledge, been offered to the public.
