SAINT JOHN, N. B., THURSDAY EVENING, APRIL 30, 1874 VOL III. Lowell store when the identical nick I which left his pocket five years before was handed to him in change.

A new way of proposing marriage is reported, and we give the facts for the breat of those interested. A gentlem neattended a fair held in New York city recently and fell in love (as gentlemen sometimes do) with a demoiselle in the floral temple. He bought a ten-dollar basket of flowers, and handing her a difty-dollar bill, said: "If you don't give me the exact change I'll marry you." The blushing maiden handed him back thirty dollars (she was probably confused) and he remarked: "I thought so!" Cards will be out early next week! Dry Goods FLOOR OIL MOONSHINE. MAPLE HILL. BY G. L. RAYMOND.

The hills rang back our parting jest;
The dear dear day was over;
The sun was low beyond the west:
We walked home through the clover.
Our words were gay; but thought astray
The parting kept regretting,—
"The old, old way," it seemed to say,
"The suns are alw y/setting!"

Then gasing back with longing soon,
As once my step grew bolder,
For, bright and new, I spied the moon,
Just over my right shoulder. SALE! TO BOCK COMPANY FAIRALL & SMITH The Last Week. 900 yards Choice Patterns NEW SILKS! NEW SILKS (Same as gave so much satisfaction before), I turned about, and bade her look:
