Computer Matches Brother and Sister

TORONTO (CUP) - The University of Toronto's sex-oriented computer dating program matched a male student with his sister, a programmer reported Tuesday (Nov. 15).

Programmer John Pullman, said the brother-sister match is the only "honest objection" he has received to the Engineering Undergraduate Society's computer campaign to share funds for SHARE.

Pullman, who is planning a thesis on computerized dating said reports of requests for homosexual dates were unfounded. Only one such request was received and it proved to have been falsified.
