Wigwam Western

A CHOICE OF PEN-NAMES

Dear Cousin Dorothy:—I have like reading the FARMER'S ADVOCATE Drop.

the British Empire?

I hope all the members had a good time on Thanksgiving day. I go to school every day and am in the second book. We are practicing for the Christ-notice in the Farmer's Advocate to-day mas Tree at our school. It was storm- and thought I would try and draw someing a little today, but my sister, Mrs. thing. I saw this on the Cypress Hills. Robinson, came home for the day with The Indian wasn't home when I went the baby. I have had my sleigh out there to get a picture, but his wife was. for a long time.

MARY GEMMILL. Man. (b)

A BRAVE FOR THE WIGWAM

Dear Cousin Dorothy:—We have fully taken the ADVOCATE for two years and I enjoy reading the C. C. and what the children of the West have to say. I saw in your paper a prize offered for the best wigwam and I am trying to win a prize. As I have never taken any drawing lessons I don't expect to win it, but I am trying for it.

The school is one mile from our house and I go nearly all the time. We have a man teacher and all like him. There are six of us going to school. The railroad runs through our farm and sometimes we walk the track to Binscarth. It is three miles up the track and four by road to town.

The snow is on the ground to stay till spring. It is not very deep and we have been having some bad days lately. We just finished threshing yesterday. It was a nice day in the afternoon but the morning was frosty. I stayed out of school to help them. They were at our place for a day.

I guess I must stop now, for I am making it too long. I can't have all the paper for my letter.

Man. (a) FARMER JILES. (14)

(Good for you, Farmer Jiles! You are made of the right kind of stuff when you think more of trying than you do of the prize. We need a lot more boys like you—and Western Canada has heaps of them somewhere—in our Western Wigwam. Write to us again.

TREASURER OF THE MISSION BAND

My dear Cousin Dorothy:-It is a long time since I have written. I have just finished reading the letters, and I think Wild Rose Bush or Duck Pond would be very nice. Why not call it the Children's Club? I belong to a Mission Band and I am treasurer. I belong to another club and they have a nice little button with a picture of a prairie chicken on it and the name of their club. I think it would be nice if our club had buttons.

HELEN McLEAN (11) Alta. (b)

TAME PLYMOUTH ROCKS

Dear Cousin Dorothy:-I have been reading the nice letters which the members have been writing to the FARMER'S ADVOCATE but I have never been able 200 hens and about 21 ducks. 'ur hens are Plymouth Rocks and are very tame; you can catch them 'any place.

read a number of books including country surroundings, with a predione remove from lunacy. At present bushes, the other open, was still, half"Black Beauty," "Ten Nights in a lection for indigestibles and inactivity. Jonah was in disgrace. Only the week muddy, and not inviting. Jonah baited Bar Room," "The Man of the House," Now he sat upon the horse-block and before, sent two miles into town with heavily, cast in, and set his stout and several others.

lings" Corner would have been a suit- the contrary. He was what is called bearing a most uncanny chart, a small him have it. Come out now, old rubberable name for our Corner. What do 'smart in the head.' This reputation microscope, and all his hair. you think, Cousin Dorothy?

Man. (a) MELITAVILLE.

A PICTURE FROM LIFE

Dear Western Wigwam:—I saw your Sask. (b) Lyle Hossie (11)

JONAH'S WHALE

worthy extent. It was thoroughly con- Here was half a dollar. ceded upon all sides that farming would Ebullitions of parental wrath had written to you many times before and be pleased to have a letter from Dew woods, even the strange rock formations week longer, though." very much.

Now I must close, wishing you and all the members a very merry Christmas.

"The Goose and the Golden Egg" or the Golden Egg" or the Golden Egg" or the Strange rock formations week longer, though.'

Now I must close, wishing you and all the members a very merry Christmas.

Man (2)

Man (2)

Words on such or such as fair. It was useless to waste knew those things.'

lived in them, and his shoulders seemed until night, when he arrived very tired craning anxiety for new discoveries. Already he could discourse with long and mispronounced words upon sub- chart was entomological in character, jects which interested no one but him- with magnified representations. self (the few tattered old books he had mysteriously acquired were so thor- room was newly decorated with a row oughly assimilated); already could he of little brown corpses on pins. This drive his unfortunate parents into a apartment was the family terror, as desperation of silence with unanswerable living surprises frequently emerged Three dollars is a lot of money when questions; and, while they endeavored upon the unwary from dark corners. you haven't it,' reflected Jonah, mourn- to appreciate the memory and mental not be his line. Beyond this, specula- recrimination. Jonah was very sorry tion went guessing.

The fact that the boy knew every didn't remember things after that. He had gone into a book store. He flower of forest and field within his They might have his third interest in limited radius of observation, every the pig (his only real property). And, bird which charmed the sweetness of yes, he would even submit to the I have quite a large collection of the short New England summer, every indignity of the yellow bowl and the picture post cards, have over 300, but insect which buzzed, stung, or piped, scissors, a hair-cutting operation of would like to receive more yet. Would all the little animals of the adjacent infinite humiliation. 'Let it grow a words on such as Jonah, who next To a certain extent, yes, but not as morning retired to his fastnesses with Jonah knew them. He loved them, the chart and glass, and was not seen to hunch his sharp nose forward in and happy with a whole pocketful of bugs.

It may be here remarked that the

The next day Jonah's small attic

Still, it was not molested now. That activity of their youngest-born, a wish had been given up. The fierce anger The hair of Jonah was long. It was that he were different oppressed them and grief of the boy upon the last occasion of removal had really frightened those concerned in the disturbance of

The visit to the book store, while productive of immediate happiness in the acquisition of means to count and comprehend heretofore invisible charms, also left a sting. There the lad had seen a set of volumes to be dreamed of.

his thoughts. For this reason he now sat in sorrowful consideration of apparent impossibilities.

Three, in particular would not leave

'I've got to have 'em,' he decided. 'Someway. Is there a thing I can do?' Over the mountains the aftermath of a night storm lowered in vapory masses, filling the ravines with fog-drifts, wreathing with shifting clouds the highest hill-tops, and hushing usual bird-song with a damp and gloomy Suddenly the brave sun sprang through the rifts, illuming with rosy fingers the disconsolation of Nature. Little voices twittered in the trees, the clinging mists dissolved and dissipated, great patches of blue sky appeared in cheering view, and Jonah smiled. He felt these things. A hope rose in him.

'What'll I do?' thought he. 'Go fishin'? It's just the day.'
'S-a-a-y!' an idea struck him. 'Why not? I might sell a few.' He slid off the square stone and disappeared around the barn.

Boys who can do nothing else can sually catch fish. This has been noted Jonah was no exception. In an hour he was on the big stream purring through the meadow, its waters swimming high with rain, kissing the weeds and grasses on the banks, and singing through the

It was a long pole for a boy, but he could handle it most efficiently. The basket, too, was of a size to lose small fish in. Jonah liked room in all ways. With a tin box of fat worms, his equipment was entirely to his mind for execution.

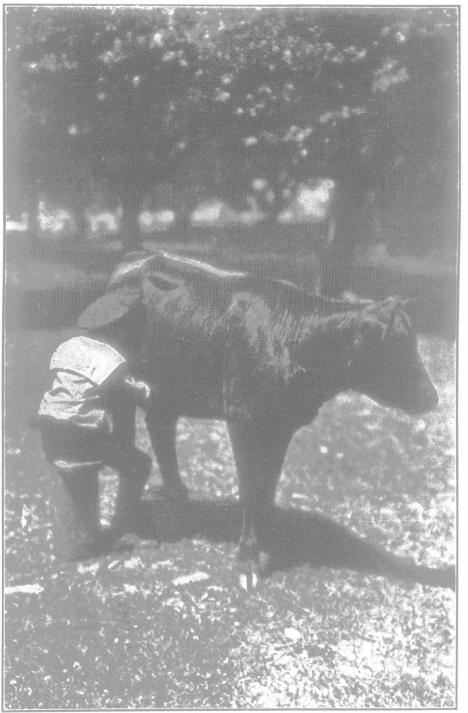

So it would seem. The trout were feeding. They were looking for fat worms. They found them. Then followed much flopping in the basket. By noon it was half full. The stomach of Jonah yearned for refreshment, but he kept on. The lunch had been overlooked in his hurry of departure.

'Such luck I never had,' he com-wastin' time. Guess I never caught one

This pool, one side fringed with Presently the line twitched slightly. I like the idea of having a pen name. Do not gather the impression that and have his half cut, with shining eyes, 'Sucker,' grumbled the boy. 'I'll let I have been thinking that "The Nest-Jonah was a brainless youth. Quite irresponsible and with shining eyes, 'Sucker,' grumbled the boy. 'I'll let I have been thinking that "The Nest-Jonah was a brainless youth. Quite irresponsible and with shining eyes, 'Sucker,' grumbled the boy. 'I'll let mouth,' he added, after waiting a

THE LITTLE MILKMAN

For the rest of his attractions, they alone. related simply to the appearance of any I am very fond of reading, and have fifteen-year-old lad developed amid have none of him, dubbing his ways but lamented his resources.

excused his feet and hands to a note-to get up enough courage to write the now. I live on a farm near Melita. It is a busy little town, and has a population of about 800.

We have 11 horses, 12 head of cattle, 200 hens and about 21 ducks. Our neighborhood of the farm resembled his hair in the least; of that he was a plain and practical mented excitedly. 'Nice ones, ain't had need to appeal to them, but disconcerted them badly. Therefore conhis hair in the least; of that he was avoided, but for that the but I'll drop in. Nothin' but suckers are recombled to the plant to be a population was avoided. But I one have untravelled between the plant of the plant to be the property of the plant to be the plant of the plant to be the plant of the plant to be plant to assured. But Jonah was untravelled, boy cared little. He liked to be let there now,' he ruminated. 'It's only

His elder brother and his sister would in the old ditch. two dollars and injunctions to buy shoes bamboo. Do not gather the impression that and have his hair cut, he had returned,

The shoes! Oh, he forgot the shoes, few moments.

25 in

of

of

to ut

st rs ite n.

re nd