Towards apring when snow is deep and it is near the when the young deer are born, no uncommon sight to see fedeer lying dead in the woods g been killed by wolves, the sucked from the neck and the sucked from the wolf and a verage of twenty-five in a year. This being the case the wonder is that the wolves have not long ago exterminated the deer. But the wolves do not appear to multiply ash fast as might be expected, though they have no other enemy than man, and they are very hard to hutn or trap.

Many laws and rules have been made to regulate the killing of deer by sportsmen but the wolf is beyond regulation and those who annually visit the wilds are coming to the conclusion that if the sport is to be preserved the wolf will have to go. A substantial bounty has long been this does not appear to be sufficient. The most effective means so far discovered is to hire men to hunt and destroy wolves paying them according to efficiency as in other work.

WHAT MOTHER DOES

Collier's Weekly, in a recent issue carries a story, the truth of which is amazingly unusual. It ha sto do with the earnings of our mothers. It is generally the rule to refer to the head of the house as the bread winner, but the story which is reprinted below, gvies food for thought as to who, after all, is the "Great Heart" of the home. The story has been given wide publication and should be printed in every newspaper in the land. Here it is:

She never earned any money—she lives on an Ohio farm, but she lives on has earned nothing. No, but has served 439,983 meals; she has made 3,123 garments, 32,000 loaves of bread, 5,390 cakes, 7,932 pies, 1,500 gallons of lard; she has grown 1,432 bushels of vegetables, and has raised 7,660 chickens; churned 5,430 pounds of butter; put up 3,625 jars of fruit; scrubbel 177,825 articles of laundry; anl she has put in 15,839 hours of sweeping, washing and scrubbing. At accepted prices for this work it is worth $15,480.50 She can't retire on her savings—she has kept on. Not earning. The following statistics of our company might be of interest to you. The total cost of our telephone system to date is $30,190. We have approximately 150 miles of pole leads and over 500 miles of wire in use. We have 500 shareholders paying $9.00 per year, 23 renters paying $9.00 per year, 23 renters paying $15.00 and 55 renters paying $13.00 per annum. $28,435.00 of our Capital stock is now paid up and $21,565 still to collect.

EUGENIA POWER PLANT LOADED TO CAPACITY

In the fire on New Year's eve at Sydney, N.S., which rendered a number of families homeless, the list of losses included varying quantities of cash which mount up in the aggregate, to a considerable sum. Residential fires, with their consequent distress and loss of personal belong ings, are disastrous enough at any time, declares the Sydney Record, but when aggravated by the loss of money which might as well have been in the bank wher it would have been safe they afford still more opportunity for self accusation on the part of the sufferers. Insurance may be placed upon household effects and personal belongings. Money and the few small mementoes of personal value only, which every individual possesses, are the sole items which cannot be realised afterns which cannot be realised aft The demands from the towns served by the Eugenia development have been increasing very rapidly during the past year, says the Hydro-Electric Bulletin, and in the month of October approximately 6,000 horsepower was sold to the various towns and villages connected to the system. This demand has become such that the development is incapable of supplying additional power unless further extensions are made. The Commission is at present investigating the possibility of connecting the Eugenia system to the Niagara system by means of a transmission line between Harriston and Mount Forest, with a frequency hanging station at Durham. Should the results of this investigation prove satisfactory in all probability the power needed for the Eugenia system will be supplied from Niagara. This scheme seems to be more ecoomncal than the development of other water power plants in the district. The demands from the towns se There is no conceivable reason for keeping quantities of ready money about the house. The business of the bank, is to look after it and preserve it from loss. It is just as convenient to pay bills by check as any other way, and there can be no danger from fire, theft or unforeseen accidents when the balance is safe in the bank vaults. For other things of value, papers, letters and mementoes which cannot be replaced, the banks provide asfters and mementoes which cannot be replaced, the banks provide safety deposit boxes which insure against loss. It is true that many people hesitate to let the bank look Quebec was people hesitate to let the bank look after their money because their accounts would necessarily be small. That is a trifling reason. Whatever amount of money the individual owns, big or little, it is important to him—too important to be exposed to the chance of loss. It is better to have a small account in the bank the morning after the fire than to have a handful of charred ashes representing all the available cash one had in the world.

FINE BARN DESTROYED

Mr. Melvin Reid of near Lanes, Ashfield township, sufferd a heavy loss on Sunday morning last when ais barn was totally destroyed by are. Mr. Reid was using a torch to thaw out a water pipe, and some hay overhead became ignited. Almost instantly the fire was beyond control and Mr. Reid turned to getting out the stock. All the livecontrol and Mr. Reid turned to get-ting out the stock. All the live-stock, including poultry, was gotten out, but all the feed and a few im-plements were burned. Neighbors gathered and by the their efforts near-by buildings were saved. A cement silo withstood the fire and near-by buildings were saved. A cement silo withstood the fire and a large quantity of corn in it is thought to be all right.

Mr. Reid's barn was built only five years ago and it was one of the finest and best-equipped in the township. He has a fine lot of farm stock including a bunch of fat steers. For the present the cattle are sheltered in a neighboring barn which was not in use. The building and contents were sufficiently insured to greatly reduce the loss.

Mr. Reid is grateful to the neighbors who gave such valuable assistance in saving the house and other buildings. Sunday, it will be remembered, was a very cold day with high wind.—Lucknow Sentinel.

WOMAN SMOKED BIG "DAB"

While waitiny between trains While waiting between trains at Palmerston the other day we were surprised to see a respectable-looking old lady walk into the waiting room, with a big "bull dog" pipe in her mouth, and a cloud of tobacco smoke floating in her wake as she headed for the sitting room. This unusual spectacle quite took away unusual spectacle quite the breath of the wa unusual spectacle quite took away the breath of the waiting room crowd but one curious spectator strolled overwand began to question the old lady. The Elora Express has this comment: "During the past year one of the city houses that supplied the "ready print" side used by over 50 per cent. of the courty weeklies went out of business, and to a good many rural publishers this has meant an increased cost. In the case of the Express it means about five cents on each year's subscription On top of this there were increases in the express charges. It gets harder and harder to make the smaller concerns pay."
