A very successful Red Cross entertainment took place on November 30th, at the home of little Miss Doris Wade, 157 Market street. Twelve little girls all under the age of twelve years, put on the play "Cinderella" and together with songs and dialogues, made a very pleasant evening. One of the interesting features of this money-getting entertainment is the fact that it was thought out and gotten up by these little girls, they being actuated by a desire to do something for the Red Cross. They succeeded in netting the sum of $11.56. The large audience was delighted, and manifested their appreciation by frequent applause. This group of young girls style themselves "The Junior Pansy Club." Mrs. Coghill presided at the plano, and Miss Iva Tolhurst acted as chairman, and delivered a splendid address. This club is composed of the following young fairies, Marguerite Tuck, Nellie Tolhurst, Edna Glebe, Vera Glebe, Edwina Montgomery, Gladys Montgomery, Doris Wade, Eva Phillipson, Catherine Parker, Margaret Sparks, Dorothy Gardiner, and Edna Rathburn. The intention of the club is to continue the good work. Much eregit is due Miss Annie Patterson, Market street, for training the children. The money has been handed over to the ladles of the Red Cross Society.

Powerfully, eloquently, tenderly, and with a wonderful insight of the needs of the human heart the preacher of minated the great congregation. The story was that of Samson the mighty weaking of the days of the Judges. He was the hero of his times. He was noted for immense physical strength, and courage, by which he ripped open the jaws of the lion, carried away the gates of Gaza, and with the jawbone of a heast, picked up by the side of the road, slew a great host of the Phillitius. Yet like life was a tragedy, off him it could be said. By strength shall no man prevail.

Bettrayed by his friends, weakened by fine nemies, after they had made him a prisoner, to grind corn, Samson stands cut as a lesson to all. Though his end was wonderfully dramatic, when he pulled down the pillars and let the roof and walls of the heathen temple fall upon his tormeistors, and thus slew more in his death, than in his life. His life was a failure when it might have been a great auccess. He did not know how to play the game of life.
