Theatrical

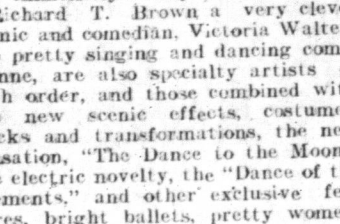

"The Tyranny of Tears," presented by a strong company headed by Mr. Reeves-Smith and Miss Robinson, held the boards at the Grand Opera House last evening and delighted the audience.

It is a charming light comedy—one of the brightest and best that have appeared here this season—and was much appreciated.

The cast was excellent throughout, while the work of the principals was really of excellence.

It has been customary to introduce throughout the performance of "The Devil's Auction" a number of special vaudeville features, whose "act" while not strictly identified with the plot of this popular spectacle, is by clever stage management and costuming, made a most interesting part of the same.

In the past Manager Chas. H. Yale has been fortunate in securing at all times uncommon special features or rather novelties, and in the 20th edition of this production, there will be no deviation from the rule. A splendid novelty has been secured in the odd specialty of Fox and Foxie, which will have to be seen to be appreciated. Another novelty will be seen in Bush and Gordon, comedy acrobats, who not only excel in great acrobatic feats, but are immensely funny besides.

Richard T. Brown, a very clever mimic and comedian, Victoria Walters, the pretty singing and dancing comedienne, are also specialty artists of high order, and those combined with the new scenic effects, costumes, tricks and transformations, the new sensation, "The Dance to the Moon," the electric novelty, "The Dance of the Elements," and other exclusive features, bright ballets, pretty women, very funny men, clever dancers, male and female acrobats, gymnasts and pantomimists will all go towards the 20th edition of the Everlasting Devil's Auction without question the "best ever."

"Camille," that ever-popular play, taken from the younger Dumas' immortal masterpiece, "La Dame aux Camélias," will be presented in this city, by Eugene Blair, and will be supported by company at the Grand on Thursday, Feb. 27th.

As "Camille" is so familiar to the theatre-goers of the present day, a lengthy description would be superfluous, but it may be mentioned in passing that this very play has proved to be the vehicle that carried many a stage "star" to the pinnacle of dramatic fame. In the role of the unfortunate heroine, "Margaret Gauthier," Miss Blair has received the unanimous praise of the leading critics of the country, thereby enhancing her reputation and earning the deserved distinction of being the leading emotional actress of America. Miss Blair's conception of the character is a soulful one, and so impressive that a leading critic of the Denver press wrote that her interpretation of this role compared favorably to that of the only Bernhardt.

Miss Blair's support will be seen in Miss Eleanor Montell, the beautiful and talented leading woman, while the clever romantic actor, Mr. Vaughan Glasser, will essay the role of "Armand Duval," a part to which he is ideally fitted. The remainder of the cast is exceptionally strong and well selected. Miss Blair will, as usual, wear a number of superb gowns, the creation of such masters as Worth, Felix and McInoir, while the costumes of the other ladies in the cast will be well in keeping with the sartorial splendor of the star.

Boys drink themselves tight, and their sisters lace themselves tight, and wear their shoes tight, and it is a tight squeeze to tell which habit is the greatest evil, philosophizes the editor of the Fort Steele Prospector.

Supt. Jones, of the Waterworks department, says the commissioners are responsible for the laundry war. They reduced the meter rents from 30 to 25 cents and the clothes washers wished to give the public the advantage of the reduction.

When that Windsor waterworks engine is throwing out the pipes, he might turn a little of that electricity on Windsor, and see if he cannot bring that place back to a semblance of life.
We're afraid, however, it will take more than Gabriel's horn to do that.

It is the custom with some men when they want a public office to ask everybody they meet to sign a petition. The meter generally gets soiled with much handling and the petition is almost worth the paper it is written on, but the paper might be worth a little.

We are glad to know there is something the editor of the Growler can really do.

Over-the-Creek residents for the val-done by the mineral water. Mayor Sullivan says that if the taxes are according to the strength of the disinfectant, that the Over-the-Creekers will have to pay a powerful lot of taxes.

Still Quick With Interest

Overcoat Sale

We've sold a great lot of overcoats in the last two weeks. Even though the woods are full of bargains, the public is quick to appreciate a real chance in live, meritorious, fashionable garments. The response to our sale announcements has been worthy of the goods and of the store's reputation. From every point of view it pays to win and hold the confidence of the people.

But though sales have been on a large scale there is still room for lively selling in the next few days. Most of the wanted styles are still well represented in our stock. Swagger coats, long loose raglan bodied shapes, big, boxy chesterfields. Plenty of smart pea jackets for men and boys, and a good showing still of those splendid frieze ulsters. It's a boys' sale as well as a man's. Ask for the sort of coat you want whether it is described or not—everything goes at sale prices.
