LARGE RESERVES.

Toronto Saturday Night: There is a better demand for money for mercantile borrowers, with no changes in the rates. A round amount has been reported on bonds at 4 per cent., but this is ed on bonds at 4 per cent., but this is exceptional. The near approach of the harvest season when large sums will be required to move the crops, has the tendency to stiffen the market some, but there is no apprehension of dear money the coming autumn. Canadian banks have $116,000,000 in call loans in New York and London, and this with other large reserves, makes it tolerably certain that there will be enough funds to supply all legitimate requirements at home without the necessity of resorting to any extreme measures of liquidating o any extreme measures of liquidating loans. The Bank of England is unusual loans. The Bank of England is unusually strong on reserves just now. They amount to 52.24 per cent. of liabilities. This compares with the very high average of 48.01 per cent. for the past nine years, and we have to go back to the period of abnormally easy money following the panic of 1893 for parallel figures. The bank's position, in fact, is embarrassingly strong in the present state of the money market. The New York banks are lending $81,000,000 more than a year ago, with $77,500,000 more deposits. They hold $1,200,000 more in lawful money reserve with the greater liability through increased deposits, causing $18,000,000 less surplus, but $33,000,000 is a comfortable excess of reserve at mid-July, as crop-moving looms up. Two years ago there were but $9,000,000 surplus at this time, prior to the panic. Smallest of Railroads.

East Frisia can certainly boast of the smallest railway in the world. Its entire length is but five miles, and the breadth of only 2½ feet. It employs the huge staff of one guard, one enginedriver, one fireman, and only one platelayer; 24 10s. is paid in wages every week. It has two engines, three carriages, four trucks, and a couple of vans. The engine and tender together only weigh seven tons. The fares are in proportion to the size of the company, and average 3½d. "all the way."

A foreigner, supposed to be one of the gang who robbed the bank at Rainy River, has been arrested at Winnipeg. In Paris they call radium le metal conjugal, because it was the joint discovery of husband and wife. It was Mme, Curie who first suspected the qualities of uranium and drew her husband's attention to the subject.

LONELY AND SHY THIS YEAR.

The Fashion in Lovers as Depicted by the Summer's Song.

The position of the lover in the popular ballad changes each summer. This year's style of swain is a bashful youth who is so lonely that his most devout wish is that he had a girl.

Ballads which deal with affairs of the heart are not affective, whilings find heart are more effective, publishers find, if there is a plaintive appeal in them. All the world loves a lover, but the song buying public does not care much for the successful lover. The more sorrow-ful his plight the better the public likes it.

There always is a crop of girl songs, but the midsummer 1909 variety is the shyest youth that the lyric writers have taken for their hero in many years. The stage last summer had an unusually large crop of songs dedicated to the eyes of women. In these compositions the lover was a courtier gallant and bold, who paid beautiful compliments to the windows of his loved one's soul. He described their color with enthusiasm, although there is a popular belief that few men can tell the color of women's eyes, or her hair either, for that matter. St. Lawrence sugars are quoted as follows: Granulated, $4.70 per cwt., in barrels, and No. 1 golden, $4.30 per cwt., in barrels. These prices are for delivery here. Car lots 5c less. In 100-lb. bags prices are 5c less.

eyes, or her hair either, for that matter.

Then every one remembers the descriptive songs where the gallant lover sangsthat his heart was not moved because "her hair is curly," or "because her "yes are blue," but "because you're you."

Likewise the man who courted the girl in the song because "You're just my style," or a laconic "You look awfully good to me," is readily recalled.

One collection of songs was written about the doubtful lover, the man who was not sure whether his courtship was or could be successful. He constantly asked "Tell me that you love me," and implored just one look "from your dear eyes." CHEESE MARKETS.

FISHING FOR SHARKS.

Large Experiments Caught on Lines

Along the Mexican Coast.

The shark fishing season is on now and furnishes quite a pastime for those addicted to such dangerous sports. The sharks seem to be bolder than usual Ottawa.—The following quarterly bank dividends are announced at the following rates per annum: Bank of Hamilton, 10 per cent.; Bank of Ottawa, 10; Home Bank, 6; Bank of Montreal, 10. very large ones coming into the bay, while generally they keep out toward the entrance.

very large ones coming into the bay, while generally they keep out toward the entrance.

Yesterday quite a large one was caught from one of the piers. It measured over two meters in length and caused quite an exciting battle before the fishermen got the second harpoon into it. This morning another much larger one was caught by some fishermen in a boat. It was only subdued after a hard struggle and finally towed alongside the sea wall and hoisted out with a derrick. The animal was near three meters long and was still alive after being hoisted out onto the dock and it slashed around at a lively rate, causing the crowd that had gathered to see it to scatter in all directions to avoid its enormous tail. After being killed the animal's liver was removed and it measured more than three feet in length. This furnishes a very fine transparent oil that is used for many purposes.

Only a short time ago Capt. Washburn, of the Ward Lines tug Neptune, caught one of these monsters, and came very near losing out with him, as the fingers of both hands were so badly burned by the line which held the shark that he was laid up for several days with bandaged hands.—Vera Cruz correspondence Mexican Herald.

The mining market in Toronto was quite dull yesterday and for the most part prices values were easier. Crown Reserve struck a new high level, selling up to 3.71, closing at 3.69 1-4. Beaver was inactive around 38, Nova Scotis closed at 73 and the other issues were practically neglected. Coniagas held steady at the decline of Thursday. Coniagas, which passed its dividend yesterday, has paid in all since May, 1907, 26 per cent., involving $1,040,000.

OUTLAW MEETING.

Referring to the proposed outlaw meeting at Delorimier Park, Montreal the Canadian Sportsman says: The way of the transgressor may be hard, but it is also devious and persistent. Dufferin Park has been closed to the but it is also devious and persistent. Dufferin Park has been closed to the "cutlaw" gang, but it is said that they are not discuraged, but simply migratory. According to report, they have now settled on Delorimier Park for their operations, and propose to open there on July 31st. It need hardly be said that The Canadian Sportsman has heard this news with regret almost amounting to dismay. It shows that we have in our midst unscrupulous men, who are bent upon ruining decent sport for the sake of a few dirty dollars. There is but one remedy, and that is licensing. If, as we have long urged, the Provincial Governments would appoint racing commissions, with power to license, outlaw, purely gambling and cutthroat meetings would be at an end.

The colt was supposed to be a second Eye White and from 20 to 1 down to 3 to 1 they kept betting. One of the remarkable features was that the closing price at post time was 3-2-1. He failed to appear anywhere near the money, Fair Louise winning the race.

John E. McMillan broke down at the head of the home stretch in the fourth race and could not finish. Consequently the judges could not place a third

Pat Dunne, after numerous efforts to annex a race, finally got out of the maiden class yesterday by winning the last race of the day with The Peer. ATHLETES I HAVE MET

"The Captain" for July has the fol-lowing excellent article by Phil Paterson on "Athletes I Have Met (And Would Rather Not Meet Again)":

It's one thing to be an athlete; quite athlete-how, in fact, to "play the game" when playing a game.

when playing a game.

There are faults of manner that cause many a goods athlete to be "barred" by his fellows.

We'll suppose, if you like, that this is a motor-car trip, and each of these faults to be avoided is represented by a steep hill, with a danger-board at the top. Then, like a careful chauffeur, you will apply your brakes and glide safely over the dangerous place, where others have come to grief who had not these useful hints of warning.

Board No. 1.—We are coming to the steep descent known as "Gasbag Hill."

THE TALKATIVE PLAYER THE TALKATIVE PLAYER is a rare bird. He gets so sat upon while he is young, that he either gives up chattering like a magpie during ganns, or else takes to golf, where he has no one to be annoyed by his flow of language except one small caddie, and he is paid for the job. Of such are the coxswains of racing "eights," and very often schoolmasters are given to much talking on the field. But these are privileged beings, whose duty it is to make themselves heard. We will forgive them, and like them none the more. I referred a short time ago a hockey match between two preparatory schools. One side played silently, no one's voice except the captain's being heard, and his only when necessary. The other side seemed to think that their success depended on the amount of shouting they got through.
Even a master who was looking on kept up a running fire of exhortation and abuse. These boys will have a rough time in public school games unless they oheck the evil habit.
You will generally find that a man or a boy who uses his tongue freely on the field is not so ready with any other part of his athletic outfit. Learn to play in silence.

THE CONCEITED PLAYER.

Perhaps he is more "barred" than any other type of athlete. We all know him. He plays to the gallery, He thinks all the time that everyone is looking at him. He has been heard to remark when he has just been "yorked" by the first ball of the match; "I'm afraid we sha'n't do much against this bowling," or "Rotten pitch! That ball came back a yard," just as if he had seen it. This species of player is to be extinguished from the man whose anxiety to do well arises from pure keenness on winning. This person is apt to be a nuisance to the rest of the team, and very often spoils a good effort by over-anxiety; but he doesn't go wrong from a desire to, show off. "Cockiness" or "side" is no part of our true athlete's character. THE CONCEITED PLAYER.

Rather does he follow out the teaching of St. Paul (who, hy the way, would have been a splendid captain of any side), and "esteems others higher than hisself." He is always ready to sacrifice his own interests for the good of his side. He does not take care to run that last run before over is called so that he may get the bowling—unless it is necessary for the welfare of his side.

Board No. 3.—You may recognize

SPECIAL NIGHT

AT BRITANNIA.

The athletic and bicycle events at Britannia Park next Wednesday night will be an extra attraction. It has been decided to make this a special one by putting on several extra events and giving silver and bronze medals for first and second prizes in each event.

The grounds will be illuminated with large electric lamps, thus enabling the track. The admission fee will be, including grand stand, 25 cents.

A large entry of the best athletes in Hamilton is assured, and as the events are all handicaps it means keen competition from start to finish.

This will give the people of Hamilton who are interested in clean athletics a splendid opportunity of witnessing some first-class sport.

THE GRUMBLING HABIT.

What a kill-joy is the grumbler. The weather, the pitch, the captain, his luck, everything but his own stupidity comes in for a share of his growls. Now, no one ever lost a run or a goal through cheerfulness. As in life, so in games, let us make it our constant aim to look on the bright side of things. If "silp" drops a catch off your bowling, don't scowl at him and sulkily tooss up full-pitches to leg. The poor chap is probably feeling quite as bad as you could wish him to. Besides, you may do the same for him next over; then you will not like to be scowled at.

Above all, don't let the other side hear you complain about the state of their ground. The odds are that the secretary has spent hours of hard toil helping the ground man to get it ready, making the best of what is often a very thankless job. A gentlemanly player will never forgot the courtesy due to an opponent.

Well, my young friends, I hope I haven't bored you with my sermon. I'm not altogether talking "through my hat," as I have had experience of all the people I have tried to describe as a warning to you. May you never come to be classed among them. Put on the brakes as soon as you come to the danger spot, and then your athletic career will glide smoothly on to the pleasant places where "Blues," "County Players" and (who knows?) All-England (or whatever country you belong to) representatives do sport themselves.

FARMING FOR ENGLISH WOMEN.

Mrs. Victoria Woodhull Martin Reforming Village Life in England. London.—Mrs. Victoria Woodhull Martin is now engaged in making over English village life. The scene of her activities is Bredon's Norton, in the parish of Bredon. It may be further localized by saving that it's in Worcesparish of Bredon. It may be further localized by saying that it's in Worcestershire, near the border line of Gloucestershire; and, if that isn't enough, it's just off the main road from Cheltenham to Eckington. There the American widow of the English banker has a great estate, and there with the help of her daughter, Zula Woodhull, she is trying to win the English folks back to the land.

to win the English folks back to the land.

Some time ago Mrs. Martin established Bredon's Norton College, where women may learn agriculture and horticulture, and she set aside a large tract of land for practical demonstration. More recently she has taken a fresh step by dividing one of the large farms on her estate into small holdings, some only a fraction of an acre, others of sixteen or eighteen acres. As yet, these small holdings are let to women only, but as other of the farms become vacant and are divided men may have the privilege of renting.

An instance of the use to which these little farms are put is found in the case of a Scotch woman who has eighteen acres. Ten of these are devoted to cereals of various kinds and an acre to strawberries and the rest is under grass. Whether such a holding will pay is as yet uncertain.

Most of the small plots are devoted to some one crop, tomatoes having been chosen by one woman who leases an acre.
