mificent Compared With Inter-

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3 .- The second step in the President's efforts to effect a settlement between the anthracite coal magnates and the miners every person who had been invited to lowed participate, except President Olymphant, of the Delaware and Hudson road, who sent his personal representative. David Wilcox, vice-president and general counsel of the road, and President Cassatt, of the Pennsylvania road, was present in the room of the temporary executive mansion, where President Roosevelt, since his return from Indianapolis, has transacted such necessary public business as could not be postponed. The President, during the conference, was seated in a large invalid chair, his left leg resting upon a cushion. The President cordially greeted each of his guests as he appeared. When all were them together. Fully realizing the imhe was to make, the President had prepared a carefully-worded letter, set-ting forth in detail his position on the controversy. The President said:

THE PRESIDENT'S APPEAL.

"I wish to call your attention to the fact that there are three parties af-fected by the situation in the anthracite trade: The operators, the miners and the general public. I speak for neither the operators nor the miners, but for the general public. The questions at issue, which led to the situation, affect immediately the parties concerned-the operators and the miners; but the situation itself vitally affects the public. As long as there seemed to be a reasonable hope that these matters could be adjusted be-tween the parties, it did not seem proper to me to intervene in any way. I disclaim any right or duty to intervene in this way upon legal grounds, or upon any official relation that I bear to the situation; but the urgency and the terrible nature of the catastrophe impending over a large portion of our people in the shape of a winter coal famine, impel me, after much anxious thought, to believe that my duty requires me to use whatever fluence I personally can to bring to an end a situation which has become lit erally intolerable.

FEELS RESPONSIBILITY.

"I wish to emphasize the character of the situation and to say that its gravity is such that I am constrained urgently to insist that each one of you realize the heavy burden of respon-sibility upon him. We are upon the threshold of winter with an already existing coal famine, the future terrors of which we can hardly yet appreciate. The evil possibilities are so far reaching, so appalling, that it seems to me that you are not only justified in sinking, but required to sink for the time being any tenacity as to your respective claims in the matter of issue between you. In my judgment the situation imperatively requires that you meet upon the common plane of the necessities of the public.

IMMEDIATE RESUMPTION. "With all the earnestness there is in ne. I ask that there be an immediate resumption of operations in the coal mines in some such way as will with-out a day's unnecessary delay meet the crying needs of the people.
"I do not invite a discussion of your

BEFORE THE CONFERENCE. Washington, Oct. 3 .- Long before the hour fixed for the conference a large crowd had assembled outside the tem-porary White House. The first official caller was Hon. Carroll D. Wright, commissioner of labor. He has made Differences of Two Factions Insig. an investigation of the strike situation, and the President desired to obtain from him what he considered important the operators and the miners. President Mitchell and his party were the first of the principals in the controversy to arrive at the House. Just after 11 o'clock. Presidents George F. Baer, or the Reading; E. B. Thomas, of the Erie, and W. H. Truesdale, of the Lackawanna, arrivwas taken today. At 11:10 o'clock ed in a carriage. They were soon followed by President E. B. Fowler, of the Ontario and Western; John Markle, of the firm of M. G. B. Markle & Co., independent coal operators, and David Wilcox, vice-president of Delaware and Hudson, representing President Olymphant, of that road. President A. J. Cassatt, of the Pennsylvania, who had been invited, did not come. He sent a telegram to President Roosevelt, explaining his inability to be present. The two delegations were escorted upstairs about 11 o'clock. Attorney-General Knox and Commissioner Wright remained with the President.

BASIS OF ADJUSTMENT.

When the President had concluded the reading of his statement he said that he did not expect that either party would be ready to submit propositions assembled, he stated to them in a brief at the time, but he asked them to take preliminary way his object in calling into consideration what he had said, and to return at 3 o'clock. He said portance of the communication that that he hoped that some proposition might be presented at that time, which would furnish the basis of an adjustment. The first conference then broke up. It had lasted less than fifteen minutes.

PRINCIPALS REFUSE TO TALK. The representatives of the railroads went to their carriages. They refused to say anything, except that they would meet again at 3 o'clock They would not even say where they were going to make their headquarters. When asked where they could be seen President Baer remarked to the newspaper men: "Gentlemen, what we want is to get some place where you can't find us and where we will not be interrupted." They then drove away. President Mitchell and his party followed soon after, refusing to anything. A little later Attorney-General Knox left the White House. It was understood that each party to the conference would formulate some proposition during the interim, on what the President had said, or that each would be prepared with a reply to present to the President when the Conference was resumed at 3 o'clock.

SECRETARY ROOT OPTIMISTIC. At 12:30 o'clock Secretary Root terminated nearly an hour's private conference with the President. The secretary was in an optimistic mood when he left the White House. He said he could not communicate anything further than that already given to the press, but he did not hesitate to express his individual opinion that the prospects were bright for some satisfactory outcome to the negotiations instituted today.

UP GO FREIGHTS, NOW

Old Country Mine-Owners Can't Fill Orders as Consequence.

London Oct. 3.-Inquiries made at Liverpool show that large orders for Lancashire and North Wales coal continue to be received from America, but the exporters have great difficulty in getting freights, the rates for which have been increased $1 during the present week. The president of the Miners' National Union. Mr. Burt. M. P., in his monthly circular to the Northumberland miners, resers to the coal strike in the United States. He says: "Apparently the strike of 150,000 respective claims and positions. I appeal to your patriotism to the spirit that sinks personal considerations and are returning to work in small batches, probably starved into acceptance of the employers' terms. They were the poorest and lowest paid laborers in the United States."

HIGH HANDED, BUT CREDITABLE.

New York, Oct. 3 .- The Rev. R. L. Paddock, who is rector of the Church of the Holy Apostle, in Devery's district, said yesterday:

"The action of the convention in excluding Devery may have been somewhat high handed, but it is an action that will redound to the credit of the delegates to the convention,"

Saratoga, Oct. 2.-There has not been a Democratic State convention in 30 years like the one which ended its labors at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Some of the old-timers say that they have attended Democratic State conventions like this one. It was a oneman convention from start to finish. Devery was the great hero of the convention. David B. Hill was described by one of the speakers as the "Napoleon of American politics." He tics, it was declared here, and then it on some occasions, little on others, and that I am out of politics," replied brutal always. Hill was not a patch Richard Croker at Wantage tonight, on some occasions, little on others, and in the convention as a hero alongside

REFUSED TO DO HILL'S BIDDING. Saratoga had its last glimpse of Devery at 5:50 o'clock yesterday afternoon as he waved a big American flag from the rear platform of a rapidlydeparting train. Devery had come and had seen, and if he had not conquered the convention he had at least established himself as a friend of most of the persons who made up the convention, except the leaders who ordered his expulsion. And as the big chief was going away it became known that had he been willing to do the bidding of David Bennett Hill, whom he now contemptuously calls "that incompetent leader," he might have carried his point and seated his delegation in the convention.

WE WON, SAYS DEVERY.

New York, Oct. 2 .- "I got my candidate. I was for Coler all the time. He was my man, and I'm goin' to try elect him," was the message Big Bill Devery brought to the ninth, when his special steamed into Thirty-fourth street and Eleventh avenue at 11:40 o'clock last night.

"We won everything," he said, with a sweep of his arm. Bill was very husky. The crowd thought he was opening a joke and broke into laugh-

"Yes," insisted Big Bill, "we got the man we wanted nominated for governor. I want every one of you who's got a drop of Democratic blood in him to support the ticket. Just because we didn't get that seat, we weren't bea-en. I'm for Mr. Coler, and I want you all to vote for him."

Here a man from the waiting crowd sprang up on the step beside Devery "Mister Devery, you've come back stronger than when you went away. You got the ninth for good." Big Bill got down from the steps and after he had put Mrs. Devery and her daughter in a carriage, he started at the head of the band, the delegation and the crowd that had come to welcome him, toward the Pump. The dog mascot frolicked along in front. streets were very bright with red lights. When Devery reached the Pump he was tired and hot, but he had a few things to say about his experience.

New York, Oct. 2.—Conventions were held today in the congressional dis-tricts within the boundaries of the oroughs of Manhattan, the Bronx and Richmond. The nominations follow: Interest in the nomination centered in that to be made in the eleventh district by the Democrats because Tamleaders had announced earlier in the day that William S. Devery and his delegates would not be allowed seats in the convention. Devery, on hearing this, sent an emissary to the hall. He threatened mandamus proceedings and said if it was too late for the method of attack he would attack the legality of the convention proceedings if a nomination was made without recognizing him and his associates. Before the convention met Secretary Smith, of Tammany, nounced that the leaders recognized the legality of the selection of the Devery delegates and that they would be given seats. The nomination went to William R. Hearst, editor and proprietor of the New York American. He was placed in nomination by former State Senator T. C. O'Sullivan and William S.
