Eloquently of the Preacher and of Sunday Cars. The agricultural editor of The St. The agricultural editor of The St.

Thomas Times, who, by the way, is a clergyman, spent last Sunday in Toronto. In an article in his paper he has the following to say with reference to Sunday cars:

Year and the detection of the Schuz of the Weston electric road.

Ed. Miles, who hails from Perth, Ont., was found lying in a woodshed of a house off Summerhill-avenue, and given 21 days by Police Magistrate Moyes for vagrancy. ence to Sunday cars:

"Finding It convenient and necessary to stay over Sunday in Toronto during Exhibition time, I had a great wish to attend service at St. James' Cathedral, mainly in order to hear Canon Du Moulin preach. In the carrying out of this wish I had a very practical illustration of the working of the no-street car arrangement. My quarters were at the head of Spadinavenue, two miles distant from the point I desired to reach. Being too lame to walk a quarter of the distance, how to get there became the question, which was solved by 'phonoing to the nearest livery stable for a rig and driver. It was a lovely ride on that beautiful Sabbath morning. I greatly enjoyed the drive along Bloor, Jarvis and other streets. It was a costly trip, but might have been taken at an expense of only eight cents, if the street cars had been running. I had other illustrations of this phase of Toronto plety before the day was over."

As to Canon Dumoulin

In speaking of Canon Dumoulin

In speaking of Canon Dumoulin the writer says:

"Canon Du Moulin is a mighty preacher, though his oratory is calm and unimpassioned. There are fervid passages in his discourses, but it is the fervor of a modern coal heater. There is no blaze or roar, but a heat that is pervading and steady and warms thoroughly with its ardor. No contingent are consentiously were more and the fervor of a modern coal heater. It is like a piece of mosaic. Every word is the right one in Halifax. Tickets at the Winter Exsaic. Every word is the right of the right place. There is never a moment's hesitation. It does not seem to be memoriter, but it scarcely is, for the correctness and appropriateness of expression could scarcely be secured in any other way. Toronto is indeed favored in having such a preacher. There is great power, without the slightest demonstration. There is modesty and humility such as are not often found with such magnificent. often found with such magnificent ability. Withal there is a devoutness, without any affectation of solemnity, and a cheerful ring about it all which and a cheerful ring about it all which makes you forget for the time that life has any ills or the world any bitterness. Listening to such a discourse is like ascending a lofty mountain peak, where there is eternal sunshine, where the view is magnificent, and where you see the clouds far away beneath your feet."

An Excellent Suggestion.

Editor World: Now that the Island season is over and the parks practically dead the only places of entertainment for the people of this city after the closing of the Fair and the opening of the rinks will be the theatres of Toronto. As every one must have remarked, the past summer has been phenomenal for the number of garden parties and outdoor fetes held in and about the city, a fashion which seems to be steadily increasing, and is only now stayed by the lateness of the year. A very favorite place with the public for the holding of these was the grove of ex-Ald. Small in Queen-grove of ex-Ald. Small in Queen-grove and remanded to A very favorite place with the public for the holding of these was the grove of ex-Ald. Small in Queen street east, partly due, no doubt, to the favorable situation of the spot, and partly to its beauty and seclusion and the absence from it of the rough element. As a frequenter at these parties it has occurred to me why these grounds, which are unrivalled for the and the absence from it of the rough element. As a frequenter at these parties it has occurred to me why these grounds, which are unrivalled for the purpose, could not be made a permanent public resort, a sort of summer and winter garden for the benefit of Toronto, a desirable place of amusement which, as every one will admit, is at present altogether lacking. Now, here within 20 minutes from Yonge-street, and to be reached for a single fare, are three acres of ground laid out as beautifully as those of an English manor, and, though entered by a gate immediately in Queen-street, as secuided as if five miles beyond the city limits. The grounds are abundantly shaded with trees of all kinds, have winding gravel walks, a dancling platform, fringes on a natural sheet of pure water, 30 acres in extent, and has a large roomy house, standing, on it, available for the purposes of a payfliom.

If the Toronto Street Railway, for instance, were to acquire the property, either by lease or by purchase, and merely illuminate the grounds with some 200 or 300 variegated lights, as Hanlan's Point was this summer, place af ew boats and boating houses on the water, in the winter time keep the ice clear for skaters and curling clubs, the former of whom make use of it every year as it is, and then in the house turn different rooms into refreshment, dancing and billiard rooms, respectively, they could, at a cost of a few hundred dollars, open a pleasure resort into which the public would flock in thousands. It is suggested that the Street Railway Company undertake the work, because, as it owns the means of transit, makes its own light and has a band of its own, it that the Street Railway Company undertake the work, because, as it owns the means of transit, makes its own light and has a band of its own, it could do the thing far cheaper than anyone else. In case the grounds are considered too small, there are some 20 acres adjoining, which could be acquired at a nominal figure, but there are parks enough as it is—a summer and winter garden is needed, and for that purpose three acres is probably all that is required. Asking you, Mr. Editor, to kindly insert this letter, to ascertain the public feeling on the point.
