Makes Buildings 30 Degrees Cooler

On a hot summer day the temperature in the upper part of a building covered with J-M Asbestos Ready Roofing is from 15 to 30 degrees cooler than with any other roofing. The white asbestos surface reflects the heat instead of absorbing it and transmitting it to the rooms below. This is only one of the exclusive features of

J-M ASBESTOS ROOFING

Besides making a building cooler in summer and warmer in winter, it is the only ready roofing that never needs painting. J-M Asbestos is also the only ready roofing that is fire-proof.

The Broader Issue
(New York Globe)

As we think of Belgium; as we think of the non-combatants bombarded from air and sea, with women and children wantonly slaughtered; as we think of attacks being made on principles that we deem essential to civilization — as these come into mind and we recall that we have peeped no protest the mood of boastfulness passes.

The big issue before the heart and conscience of every true American has not been the Lusitania case, important as that has been. It is the issue of whether we have done and are now doing our full share towards maintaining civilization, toward laying the foundations of a future permanent peace, toward upholding the principles of menaced democracy. If wild beasts are abroad in the world are we doing our part toward chaining them up? The answers to be returned are not clear enough to warrant Americans in vaunting themselves.

It may be we have done and are doing our full duty. But if the result of the war is to establish an imperialism comparable to that of Rome, if predominant military and naval power passes to a nation that has seemingly been caught by the lust of empire, then future Americans will hardly say that America did all to be asked of it. If civilization is in peril it can hardly be said that the vindication of the right of our citizens to travel fulfills all our obligation.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

The Shudderer

"Here, my dear," said the husband, producing his purse, "here is the tenner I won playing cards in the smoking-room last night. You may have it to buy that dress you wanted."

Reluctantly the conscientious wife took the money, then said, with an expression of rigid rectitude: "I simply shudder at the thought of using money gained in such a way. Henry, promise me that after you have won enough for me to buy the hat to go with the dress that you will never again touch those awful cards. I don't want my husband to become a gambler."

MUCH ADLER-I-KA USED IN WATFORD

It is reported by Taylor & Son, that much Adler-i-ka is sold in Watford. People have found out that ONE SPOONFUL of this simple buckthorn bark and glycerine mixture relieves almost ANY CASE of constipation, sour or gassy stomach. It is so powerful that it is used successfully in appendicitis. ONE MINUTE after you take it the gasses rumble and pass out. It is perfectly safe to use and cures gripes.

The World's Greatest Tragedy

The war grows in magnitude—a magnitude that must appal the Germans with all their slaughterful preparedness. They have let out a demon that they might well wish under seal again. Others can play at frightfulness when they must. And it would seem as if an awful retribution were about to overtake the monsters who would wade through the blood of millions and the devastation of Europe to establish a hell-born domination of humanity at large.

Never will the world forgive or forget the nation and its leaders who brought civilization to the unparalleled conflict and slaughter now centred in France and Belgium, in Russia, in Austria, in the Dardanelles in Asia Minor, and that has almost paralyzed the rest of mankind.

Forced to enter into this Armageddon we must continue in it until the Huns who brought it on are vanquished for ever. There can be no quarter and we must ask none; we must take the consequences and the destruction that will come to our sons and allies, let it be what it may. We must meet slaughter with greater slaughter and out-match nefariousness at its own play. There is no other appeal now but to slaughter and the ingenuity of slaughter. History may justify us, but only the bloodiest of warfare will save us.

Our people must steel themselves for the world's greatest tragedy now unfolding in our time and in our midst.

Had Eczema 20 years
Cured by Zam-Buk

Mr. Joseph Johnson, 584 Broome St., New York, writes: "Over twenty years ago eczema appeared on my hands and face. I went to a doctor, but his treatment afforded only temporary relief. Finding medical attention and treatment of little avail I commenced to try first one and then another of the so-called remedies which were recommended, but for over twenty years I suffered from this painful, humiliating disease. During this time I spent hundreds of dollars and all I got was temporary relief. At last Zam-Buk was suggested to me; I decided to give it a trial, but did not expect a cure.

"The first few applications proved this remedy entirely different to the score of preparations I had used in vain. Preservance with Zam-buk and Zam-buk soap, I am more than glad to say, has effected a complete cure.

"Zam-buk is beyond all question a marvellous preparation and I most heartily recommend it to all sufferers from eczema."

Think of it, suffering day in and day out for twenty years! Think of the grip this disease must have had on the entire system! Think the healing power of Zam-buk which, despite the long-standing nature of the disease, effected a cure! How much more easily and more quickly the cure could have been effected had Zam-buk been applied at the outset.

If you suffer from any skin disease or injury, piles, ulcer, abscess, rheumatism or scintica, take this lesson to heart. Try Zam-buk FIRST and give it a fair trial.

At all druggists and stores, or postpaid from Zam-buk Co., Toronto. 50c. box; 3 for $1.25. Zam-buk Soap, 25c. tablet. Send 1c stamp, this ad, and name of paper, and we will mail you free sample of Zam-buk.

CODE OF THE SEA.

Maritime Law Was Really Cradled in the Island of Rhodes.

The Phoenicians were the first to make long voyages and the first to arm their vessels for war. They readily availed themselves of the advantages of a marine and there by soon secured an extensive commerce. In time they assumed the empire of the sea, a sovereignty they long continued to enjoy, during which time they became tyrants of the sea and exercised piracy. They were the first sea pirates known to history.

After the Phoenicians, the Egyptians and then the Cretans assumed dominion of the sea during various epochs, but it remained for the inhabitants of the island of Rhodes to create, digest, and promulgate the first system of maritime laws of which we have any authentic knowledge. So great was the success they attained their code has always been referred to as the "cradle of maritime law."

Nevertheless as far back as the reign of King Hammurabi, who was a contemporary of Abraham, 2,250 years before Christ, we find in the Code of Hammurabi numerous sections which fix the obligations arising under contracts for boat building, hire or charter of vessels, transportation of goods for hire, collision, etc., and the principles therein laid down are in many instances recognized at the present time as the rule of decision.

The Persians and then the Greeks in turn succeeded the Rhodians as masters of the sea. These two countries maintained large fleets of war vessels, called by the ancients as a class "vessels of force," as distinguished from their merchantmen, or "ships of burthen." The great naval battle of Salamis, fought by these countries, in which it is said over 1,500 vessels took part, followed by that of Platea and of Mycale, demonstrated to the Greeks, with the success of their arms, the immeasurable value of sea power. They lost no time and spared no efforts in the creation of a still greater navy and adopted measures they deemed judicious in furthering the interests of their merchant marine. Among other things, they established a special jurisdiction of Athens, to pass upon maritime transactions.

Richter and His Pets.

Jean Paul Richter surrounded himself with pets as though they were the necessities of life. A favorite poodle accompanied him in all his journeyings and must not be excluded from any house where he entered. "Love me, love my dog," His birds hopped over the page on which he was writing, he waiting the while with suspended pen and continuing patience until they should pass. A tame squirrel sat upon his shoulder in his walks about town, and once, at the christening of a friend's child, where Jean Paul was to leave the creature behind, he was obliged to put it in his pocket and with difficulty prevented its escape with his left, while with his right hand and arm he held the babe.

Mother Shipton's Prophecy
(London, England, Year 1448)

A house of glass shall come to pass, In England, but alas be by his side; War will follow with the work In the land of the Pagan and Turk; And State and State in fierce strife Will seek each other's life. But when the North shall divide the South An Eagle shall build in the Lion's Mouth. Carriages without horses shall go, And accidents fill the world with woe; Primrose Hill in London shall be, And in its centre a Bishop's See; Around the world thoughts shall fly In the twinkling of an eye Water shall yet wonders do. Now, strange, shall yet be true: The world upside down shall be, And gold found at the foot of a tree; Through hills man shall ride. And no horse or ass be by his side; Under water men shall walk, In the air men shall be seen; In white, in black, in green; Iron in the water shall float. As easy as a wooden boat. Gold shall be found, and found In a land that's not now known. Fire and water shall more wonders do England shall at last admit a Jew; The Jew that was held in scorn Shall of a Christian be born. Three times three will lovely France Be led to dance a bloody dance Before her people shall be free, Three tyrant rulers shall see, Three times the people rule alone, Three times the people's hope is gone Three rulers in succession see. Each springing from a different dynasty. Then shall the worse fight be done, England and France shall be as one.

VALUE OF HONEY.

This Article of Food Should Be Used Freely.

The food value of honey is not generally comprehended. In fact, honey, as a rule, is regarded merely as a pleasant sirup to be used upon griddle cakes and certain other dishes, whereas it is really a nourishing food as well as a sweetening and should be given freely to children spread upon bread. It is much purer and more wholesome than many of the so called jellies of commerce.

In cooking, too, honey often can be substituted for sugar. For example, a rhubarb betty is greatly improved by the use of honey instead of sugar for sweetening. The dessert is made in the usual way—first the breadcrumbs, then a layer of short lengths of rhubarb, covered with honey and a sprinkling of cinnamon, repeating the layers until the dish is filled. Butter is dotted on the top and the pudding baked in the oven for thirty minutes.

Apples baked in honey furnish a dish that is both novel and delicious. The apples are cored and placed in a pan with a lump of butter in each cavity. A cup of honey then is poured over them and the pan put in a slow oven, the apples cooking until they are tender.

A rhubarb sauce made with honey instead of sugar and mixed with cornstarch made with water instead of milk is a very palatable dessert. The mixture should be put in individual molds, and when turned out each portion should be served with a teaspoonful of honey added.

Some persons contend that honey added to a pot of beans before baking is a great improvement over the usual quantity of molasses. It certainly gives a very delicate flavor to sweet potatoes in reheating them. The potatoes can be sliced or cut lengthwise in fingers. Each slice or finger is dipped in honey and laid on a buttered pan. Butter is dotted generously over the top, and the dish is placed in the oven and kept there until the potatoes are brown. Only those who have eaten sweet potatoes prepared in this way can fully appreciate them. A sprinkling of pepper and salt may be added before serving if this seasoning is favored.

As a luncheon dish that is somewhat substantial as well as dainty, cut slices of whole wheat bread a day or more old and spread lightly with fresh cream cheese. Add a layer of honey and place the slices together, sandwich fashion.

In making candies or popcorn balls, honey may be substituted for sugar or molasses. The flavor will be found much more delicate.

A spoonful of honey will soothe a sore throat, and if mixed with lemon juice will probably cure a mild case.

It is not difficult to obtain pure honey, but the safest plan is to buy it in the small boxes that hold a pound each. The honey habit, once acquired, is not likely to be abandoned.
