

the usual addresses by leaders should be given at the top of the hill near the summer residence of the late Lt.-Col. Dennis.

Some of the leaders were unfortunately prevented from attending the excursion, and there were consequently only two addresses.

The president speaking for the botanical leaders delivered an admirable address upon the various plants collected during the day, explaining how the different species of Aster and Solidago might be distinguished, and drawing attention to their medicinal properties and various uses.

Mr. H. M. Ami, the leader in geology then followed with a sketch of the geological features of the locality, explaining how the Laurentian mountains were formed and enumerating the most important minerals contained therein.

This pleasant day was brought to an end by an enjoyable drive home, the city being reached by 7.30.
