ADVANTAGE was taken of the presence of a large number of Gaelic-speaking ministers at the General Assembly to have a Gaelic sermon preached to the Highlanders in the city. Accordingly, a goodly number gathered last Sabbath in the lecture-toom of Knox church to hear have Adam Mesonance of Blates. Rev. Adam MacQueen, of Ripley, discourse in the vernacular of the Gael. The reverend gentleman selected Heorew

The reverend gentleman selected Heorew iv. 16, for his text, and delivered an excellent sermon. An announcement was made that another sermon in the same language might be expected in the same place on Sabbath next.

THE Sunday school scholars of Knox, Erskine, and St. Andrew's churches, city, were massed in the body of Knox church Sabbath afternoon. Pully eight hundred children were present, and they certainly presented a most unique and interesting congregation. The infant classes occupied the front seats, and behind them were arranged the older scholplace on Sabbath next.

TORONTO, June 6, 1839.

DEAR Sin,-My many esteemed patrons and friends will please pardon this public means of answering the many and often-remeans of answering the many and often-repeated questions asked on my return from a long visit in the North-West and Rocky Mountains a little before Christmas, when, on meeting and receiving with the many greetings of my return, came the earnest enquiry, "What do you think of the new process for filling teeth?" and by some, "What do you think of the porcelain fillings?" Being in perfect ignorance of the subject so introduced, I was forced to answer, as everyone in Ignorance can but in justice do, "I do not know anything of it," and at the same time, from earnest requests, I promised to faithfully anything of it, and at the said the said fully carriest requests, I promised to faithfully Coloan—Read.—At North Bay, on June investigate and report my convictions after 5th, by the Rev. J. M. Goodwille, M.A., gathering the fullest evidence in both theory w.m. Henry Colgan to Charlotte Read, all and practical results from demonstration, many of which I witnessed, both in the offices of Dr. C. H. Land (the inventor), of Detroit, Mich, and Dr. H. Hipkins, of Toronto, Ont. Many and Dr. 11. Hipkins, of Toronto, Ont. Many of the operations, though being difficult and complicated, were crowned with a success that no other known process could possibly have achieved. Being at this time disabled by an injury in my left shoulder from a fall in November last, I was pleased to find something new to awaken an interest in my mind, and to be of some use to suffering humanity. thing new to awaken an interest in my mind, and to be of some use to suffering humanity, even intheotesining and impatting of the knowledge of truth, from which alone is wisdom, and by which only can the prejudices of ignorance be overcome. In this respect, I regret to say we too often hear even professional men express their opinions on subjects which most seriously affect a public or human interest, while they as individuals in the true sphere of use are but mediums in the interest of the greater number, which alone is justice in the interest of all. In this principle is the basis of my answer to the important question of what is fast becoming of universal public enquiry, and will welcome in the greatest improvement of modern dental art. Thus the question: What do you think of the porcelain fillings for the teeth? I answer t liceause it is the most fully in accord with the physical law of our fully in accord with the physical law of our being, in its freedom from all thermal and electrical influences, as compared with any of the metallic substances now in use, which in the metallic substances now in use, which in my forty old years' experience have proved a source of much and protracted shocks of pain from heat and cold, which too often resulted in the death of the tooth pulp (commonly called the nerve), and from the posson of its decomposition follow inflammation, suppuration, and too often (from a sort of revenge) and the posson of the content of the posson of the content of the posson of the po extraction. Hence I say, because the most rational intelligence would proclaim it the superior filling, to say nothing of its degree in the perfection and heavy, in the klending of

AMERICAN FAIR

THE LARGE NEW STORE AT

334 Yonge Street

(OPPOSITE COULD STREET),

Was Opened Saturday, June 15th, 1889.

The people of Toronto and the many who make this splendid city their place of supplies will be interested in this new enterprise.

It has been the marvel if merchants who sell a few similar goods, and who buy them in the usual way, how the best goods, new and fresh, can be sold at retail as cheap or cheaper than they buy them, by such stores as these. It is not selling goods for less than they cost us, for with expert buyers watching all the markets, and in connection with other stores in which we are interested, we are enabled to buy so largely as to close out whole accumulations of factories, and large holders in great need of money often sell at one-half the cost of manufacturing. No amuggling or trick, but legitimate, straight and vigilant work, by which we bring within your reach these splendid lines of goods at so little cost.

Study carefully the following prices, which are but a few, as samples of the large

Commencing with the kitchen—Mrs. Potts' Polished Flat Irons, full set, $1.19, worth $2.50; Eddy's Celebrated Matches, 7 cents; 2 three string Brooms of best green broom corn for 25 cents; 3 dozen Best Star Clothes Pins for 5 cents; 7 bers best Electric Sosp in the world for 25 cents; 10 bars of ten cunce Ruby Laundry Soap for 25 cents (this one of the best laundry soaps); full three-pound bars Choice Family Soap for 10 cents; 4 cakes Choicest Glycerine for 9 cents; 0 Oatmest Skin Soap, 5 cents; a ten-cance bar Pure Castile Soap, 7 cents; Baby's 0 wn Soap, French Heliotrope Soap, 10 cents—this, no doubt, is the best and most royally perfamed soap mado; a sixty-foot best six ply Jute Clothes Line, 10 cents; Pure flum Macliage, 7 cents, worth 12 cents; 2 papers of best eight-cunce Carpet Tacks, 7 cents; Cutling Tongs, 7 cents, the Rattler Washboard, 10 cents; Britannia Metal Spoons and Forks—the same metal all through—very durable and clegant; Tea Spoons, 50 cents per dozen, worth $1; Table Spoons, 50 cents per half dozen, worth $1; Forks, 75 cents per dozen, worth $1.25; one quart Pieced Dipper, 5 cents; Large Dipper, 7 cents; in:quart Pail, black handle, 10 cents; a Galvanized Pail, 17 cents, worth 30 cents; a large pressed ro-inned Dish Pan, 21 cents; best Copper-Bottom Tea Kettle, 49 cents, worth $1; aplendid covered Slop Pall, 25 cents.

A WORD ASIDE to the FARMERS.

Pest Creamer, 99 cents, such as you have paid $2 00 and $2 50 for; Mop Holders, 15 Pest Creamer, 99 cents, such as you have paid $2.00 and $2.50 for; Mop Holders, 15 cents: Cow Ties, 8 cents, with enameled spring clasps tonly two to any one person; Rgg Poscher, 39 cents, clear here 75 cents. Rockingham Ware—a nino-piece beautiful Chamber Set, $2.39, worth $5; a Blowl and Pitcher, 69 cents; a splendld assortment of Rockingham Ware at one half usual prices. The celebrated Queen Oil Stoves, from 89 cents up; Non-such Stove Polish, 10 cents; the celebrated Benson's Laundry Starch, four-pound cart-on, 25 cents; Satin Gloss, 8 cents a pound; Corn Starch, 3 cents; the best, 0 cents; 36 sheets of best Note l'aper, 6 cents; l'apetries at comparative prices in large variety. A large importation by ourselves from one of the largest English factories of Combs and Brushes of all kinds enables us to show the finest lines of these goods at about one-half the usual price. The Unbreakable Comb for 14 cents equals any 30-cent comb in the market. A large purchase of Window Shades in all the leading popular colours, so we can sell you in both plain and decorated at 30 cents each. You know whether these are a bargain.

One of the most striking advantages we will offer you is from a large purchase of Glassware from one of the most noted factories in the States. Come and see if they are not beautiful and cheep. A good Cotton Wood Chopping Rowl, 8 cents; Chopping Knives, last resulted and the contest of the best polished steel, 7 cents.

Carriage and Riding Whips, over 100 styles to select from. A good six-foot Buggy Whip, 7 cents, and all kinds up to the best Raw Hide Whip made, for $1, usually $2 to $2.50.

Our space is up-we have told you of a few things, come and ace the many,
