AN INTERESTING REPORT

PRESENTED BY DR. HINGSTON TO THE CENTRAL BOARD OF HEALTH.

At the regular tri-weekly meeting of the Central Board of Heulth yesterday afternoon. the chairman, Dr. Hingston, made an extensive and interesting report of his recent visit to Washington to attend the meeting of the National Health association of the United States, as a representative of the Central He said that on his arrival at Washington, as in Philadelphia and New York, there were most erroncous impressions regarding our recent epidemic, its introduction to the city and the means taken to eliminste it from the province On the second day of our meeting he was afforded the opportunity of correcting these errors and misapprehensions. He told them that smallpox had not had spontaneous origin nor a permanent habitat in the Province of Quebec, nor was it, as some seemed to think, manufactured here, that the city of Montreal had been reputed free from it for several years, that the first two cases were traceable through the sister province of Ontario, to Michigan and Illinois, thence through various States of the Union to the Atlantic seaboard and thence to Germany. This freedom from smallpox had led to carelessness and unpreparedness ter its reception, and for several years the children in a large section of our population were unvaccinated. This accounted for the large death rate in Montreal. The mortality was chiefly in children bern within the past ten years, a period during which vaccinaion was most unfortunately attacked in pamphists, lectures and by correspondence in the public press. Within the period of nirth and ten years of age the mortality amounted to about 82 per cent. of the whole. Among grown persons the mortality had been very small. He then refers to the great opposition to vaccination and to the valuable aid rendered by the clergy and employers of liber in enforcing the prophylactic. He also referred to the herenium efforts put forth by the Local Board of Realth for isolation, the work of the city of Montreal it may be and that of Ireland. truly stated that never were greater and more persistent efforts made. No city of the United States had anything like the completeness of the arrangements that were made in Montreal, and from none of them was the system. disuse eliminated so quickly as from that offlicted city. Here he refers to the fact return by the avenues offered by the outlying municipalities. The creation of the Central Board followed, which enforced the formation of local health boards in the municipalities all over the province. A minute description of the work done by this Central Board is then given, and of the aid given by the railway companies centering in Montreal. Judging from the discussions which took place at the congress, he goes on to say, this is probably the first time in which a measure of so great sanitary importance was carried out in America. Compulsory vaccination at an early period was ordered to be enforced by the local boards, but a formidable difficulty suggested itself in the fact that there was no system of registration of

In the afternoon the same day (Tuesday, December S), a meeting of the State boards was held. Each State was called upon in alphabetical order to report progress, beginning with Alahama. All the states having boards reported; but it turned out that several states, including Nebraska and Virginie, had no boards, while it is only a few months since boards were established in Maine and Onio. After each State had told its tale, four representatives claimed that Quebec had done more than all the states put together, for not only had she created her own board and worked it under extraordinary difficulties, but had forced the creation of boards in Maine and Pennsylvania, and could Montreal be unshipped from her moorings and dropped alongside the still recreant states, boards would be created there without delay. From the statements made by various representatives as to what their states had accomplished it appeared to your representative that the provinces of Ontario and Quebec had done their full share of the work, and this claim seemed to be readily admitted by the representatives of the various states. .
Had any member of the Sanitary Associa-births in the Province of Quebec, and the machinery to carry out obligatory vaccination was in consequence wanting. This, it is hoped, will be remedied at the next meeting of the Legislature, for anything like an effective system of vaccination without a proper registration of hirths is impossible.

tion been ignorant of the extent of the epidemic in Quebec, and of the efforts made to control it that ignorance did not extend to the United States Government. The matter of exercising surreillance over Canada had been delegated by the executive to the Department of Marine, and the surgeon-general and staff were possessed of information the most correct. From the United States Surgeon General he had received every evidence of sympathy and good will, and had obtained the assurance that anything like a suspension of entire freedom of relations would be made as little onerous as possible, consistent with public safety. He had ascertained further-more that not only were these the sentiments of the central Government, but they were those of every State in the Union. Your representative has with pleasure availed himself of this his first opportunity to acknowledge thus formally the extreme courtesy with which he was treated by the representa-lives of power in the United States.

The Central Board passed a vote of thanks to the National Board of Health and to the Surgeon-General of Army, Navy and Marines and others for the uniform courtesy wnich they extended to their representative, Dr. Hingston, while in Washington.

AN ELOPEMENT FRUSTRATED. NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—On the steame Egypt, which arrived here yesterday, there was among the passengers Fanny Jennings, 18 years old, whose father is a resident of Birmingham, Eng. Accompanying her was Joseph Snape, a butcher, who lived in the house adjoining that of Fanny's father. Snape left a wife and three children behind and eloped with Fanny, who was shortly to have been married to another man in England. A detective of the Emigration board arrested the parties, and they were brought before the United States authorities. They could do nothing and Snape was discharged, while Fanny was remanded to the care of the emigration authorities. The jilked lover in England and the care of the state of the care of the emigration authorities. land sent a cablegram offering to pay Fanny's Passage back to England and to marry her upon her arrival.
