

Handwritten text in red ink, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The text is faint and difficult to decipher but appears to contain several lines of information, possibly a title or a list of items.

(Also available in English)