

Canada and the Muslim World

Video Presentations

www.cfp-pec.qc.ca

Some presentations and interviews are available (in both RealPlayer in Windows Media formats) on the CCFPD website.

Video Presentations included:

Karen Armstrong (London-based Author and Commentator on Religious Affairs)
Fundamentalism: The Challenge for Foreign Policy
October 1, 2002

Daniel Pipes (Middle East Forum, Philadelphia), Sandra Mackey (Atlanta-based Author and Journalist), and Immanuel Wallerstein (Yale University)
A Discussion on Islam, Iraq, and American Foreign Policy
September 19, 2002

Benjamin Barber (University of Maryland) Can Democracy Survive the War Between Globalization and Terrorism?
May 2, 2002

Participants interviewed in online video include:

John English (University of Waterloo)

Sumit Ganguly (University of Texas, Austin)

Mushirul Hasan (Jamia Millia Islamia University, New Delhi)

Riffat Hassan (University of Louisville)

Tareq Ismael (University of Calgary)

Josef Joffe (Die Zeit, Hamburg)

Paul Lalor (International Institute for Strategic Studies, London)

Roy Mottahedeh (Harvard University)

Daniel Pipes (Middle East Forum, Philadelphia)

Immanuel Wallerstein (Yale University)

Discussion papers are also available online at (www.ecommons.net/ccfpd-thinkers2002), including:

Mushirul Hasan (Jamia Millia Islamia University, New Delhi)
September 9-11 and its Aftermath

Andrew Johnson (Bishop's University)
The Role of Democracy in Overcoming the Causes of Conflict in a Divided World

Narendra Subramanian (McGill University)
Protracted Ethnic Violence and Prospects for Peace

Paul Lalor (International Institute for Strategic Studies, London)
Lessons from Israel and Palestine

James Lee Ray (Vanderbilt University, Nashville) Democracy Versus 'The Clash of Civilizations'