

of the committee not heard from too often, should pay a tribute to our chairman. I hope this is not a usual course, that anyone who presents a report should have bouquets thrown at him.

Hon. Mr. Connolly (Ottawa West): Why not?

Hon. Mr. Haig: The honourable Leader of the Government has mentioned quite often the work of the committees in the Senate. This committee report, I think, breaks new ground, in that we have discussed and considered certain aspects of the Glassco Commission Report and certain recommendations made therein. These certainly will affect the operation of the estimates and the financial arrangements of the Government and their consideration by both houses of Parliament.

Therefore, I have pleasure in moving adjournment of this debate until the next sitting of the house, so that the members may read this report. I would recommend that they also read the reports of the proceedings of the Finance Committee.

In closing, I repeat the attitude of all members in the committee, in expressing appreciation of the help and co-operation given to the committee by its chairman, honourable Senator Leonard.

On motion of Hon. Mr. Haig, debate adjourned.

CONGO ATROCITIES

EXPRESSION OF SYMPATHY TO RELATIVES OF VICTIMS

Hon. R. B. Horner: Honourable senators, I believe that no one in this chamber has yet said a word about the enormous tragedy which has taken place in the Congo. I have been mindful of it because I am familiar in my travels with the Bible Institute at Three Hills, Alberta.

I noticed in the press that a Canadian missionary was over in the Congo with his wife and six sons. He was one of those who was shot and killed, and two of the boys were slightly wounded.

Of course, from all over Canada people serve as missionaries, in foreign fields, to assist the less fortunate people in any way they can.

It is sad that this tragedy should occur, in this day and age. Although one might say the Congo is a long distance away, it is only about one day's travelling time by modern means of transportation.

Perhaps we should check a little to see if some mistake was made, to see if some of the loss of life could have been avoided. I hope we might learn something for the future, that might save the lives of people who go out as missionaries. There are several missionary sisters who are not accounted for yet.

Honourable senators, I would like to extend my heartfelt sympathy to the families who have lost their relatives in the Congo.

ADJOURNMENT

Hon. John J. Connolly: Honourable senators I move, with leave of the Senate, that when the Senate adjourns today it do stand adjourned until Tuesday next, December 1, at 8 o'clock in the evening.

Motion agreed to.

HON. W. ROSS MACDONALD, P.C. AND HON. NORMAN MCL. PATERSON

FELICITATIONS ON APPOINTMENT AS UNIVERSITY CHANCELLORS

Hon. Olive L. Irvine: Honourable senators, may I be permitted this afternoon to pay honour to two of our most beloved senators on the high honour that has been bestowed upon them recently.

Senator Ross Macdonald was a few weeks ago appointed Chancellor of Waterloo Lutheran University, succeeding the late Senator Euler. I congratulate you, Senator Macdonald, and I know that you will grace the position with dignity and charm.

Our second colleague to be honoured is a native of my own Province of Manitoba, a great Canadian, in the person of Senator Norman McL. Paterson. He is a man I have honoured and admired for many years. His qualities are the qualities of the heart—he is gentle, honourable and sympathetic. Throughout the years his heart has gone out to many good causes, and in his own quiet way he has been a benefactor to many. In the western provinces he has been active throughout the years, in its rural and urban development, and still maintains that position in the great organization which bears his name. Although he is now a resident of Ottawa, we of the Prairie Provinces look upon him with strong affection.

In late October, Senator Paterson accepted the invitation to become the first Chancellor of Lakehead University, situated in Port Arthur, Ontario. His long association with the Lakehead in the past, and his continuing interest, will add immeasurably to the stature and position of the university throughout Canada.

The Lakehead College of Arts, Science and Technology will change its status from its present form to that of a full university and will grant degrees in arts in the spring of 1965.

The emergence of the college into the status of a university marks a monumental
