ORDINARY GRAVES, COMMON GRAVES AND RESERVED PLOTS.

49. The fabrique may, in concert with the parish priest, from time to time, appropriate a part of the cemetery which they judge suitable, except those already reserved for plots and for single graves, for the burial with ecclesiastical interment, of the bodies of persons who have no plot or single grave, and for which the right of sepulture has been paid. This portion shall be divided into two, one for the burial of adults and the other for that of children.

50. The Fabrique may also reserve, on the portion appropriated for ordinary graves, such extent of ground as it judges suitable for the burial of the members of society of the Union of Prayers, of Notre-Dame parish.

51. There may be placed on an ordinary grave, for the space of five years counting from the day of the burial a cross or tombstone, not ex-
