How to Exact Obedience

children was asked not long ago what was her first step in the training of each child. Her answer was illuminating: "My first step was to teach my child that there are very definite limits to his privileges, and that to exness. That arrested his attention at once, and commanded respect for me. I always explained to him why I asked him to do anything. If I reduced I gave a reason always. I never allowed the slightest request of mine to go disregarded. I never ordered; I never commanded; I always asked, requested; and always got the same result of course. The first noticeable result was that, as little as he was, my child always looked at me when I spoke to him. That may seem a small matter but it is not. It is the beginning of a respect for mother that is so desirable and so very rare today. It is also the greatest aid in securing obedience. To address one's instruction to the back of a child's head is an injustice to the child. One cannot be sure whether he understands or not. If he does not, to punish amounts to a lesson in disobedience and disrespect. I always spoke his name in a distinct and positive way; I never raised my voice, I put firmness in it. I was always fair; listened to his little side of a matter, or, before he could explain, tried to project myself into his point of view. He knew I was fair, and so he was never afraid of me. I never expected him to remember from one day to the next; I was content with the lesson of the moment that he must heed and obey. The next day the same instruction was repeated, and after a few repetitions that particular point sank in. So with each point. That was my first step with each child, the girls as well as the boys; and in the case of all six I do not believe I could count a hundred cases of disobedience. And in every other case that this plan has been tried it has succeeded." ceed them will be fatal to his happiness. No single garment is more generally used than the guimpe. Since this one can be made in a number of different ways, it seems to fill all needs. Open necks have brought the demand for a great many short and sleeveless guimpes and this one treated in that way is perfectly satisfactory but the entire garment with sleeves sewed to the armholes is the one sure to be needed for many occasions. On the figure, it is shown just as a guimpe of plain material with a facing of lace but, in the back view, there is a suggestion for a simple blouse that is in every way attractive, for plain waists are so much worn that the one model answers both purposes. CAUSES LOCAL DEARTH

Domestic Fruit Is Coming in Slowly-Yesterday's Prices on Market.

The reason given by the Charles Kimpton Co. for the scarcity of fruit in the Toronto market is, that shippers are sending much more to Montreal than in former years. Big prices are being paid there for home consumption. Ottawa, too, gets some, and Montreal gets the bulk. Another thing is that Toronto does not save all for home sales, but ships some to outside points.

American peaches yesterday had a drop of fifty cents. McWilliam & Everist had a carload which was reported to be first-class quality. The Canadian fruit is coming in slowly, but it is the opinion of Stronach & Son that the Canadian peach crop will be at least up to the average in quantity and of excellent quality. It is probable that by the end of next week the Canadian supply will be plentiful. Yesterday American potatoes were also lower, selling at a drop of fifty cents. There have been only three shipments of Spanish onions this season. They come direct from Spain via Liverpool and are selling well. Cherries are scarce, there's no great demand as most calls have been met.

demand as most calls have been met.

Should Visit Market.

How is it that housekeepers do not go direct to the fruit market? They would save money and get fruit and vegetables fresh by doing so. Every dozen boxes of berries or other small fruit means a saving of at least two cents on the box which is a quarter on the whole. So with other varieties. To buy direct from the wholesaler is saving all round. A few women are alive to the advantages of marketing but their number is so small that they scarcely count. At the same time they are the wise ones and it is they who may be depended upon to have a good and plentiful larder.

TWO FINE ATTRACTIONS.

The polo game played on bicycles every evening at Scarboro Beach Park is sufficient of a novelty to draw unusually large crowds, and no doubt we shall see numerous imitations of this act in the future, for it is a decided acquisition to the vaudeville stage. D'Urbano's Royal Italian Concert Band has been long enough in Toronto to require no further description. These who have heard it, agree that it is the best band that has been seen in a summer park for a long time, and the patrons of the Beach will be sorry when its engagement comes to a close at the end of the week.

In giving fludgment for defendants, Judge Morson declared that according to the evidence, the building only cost increased insurance payments.

PARIS, July 23.— The mystery of the imitation pearl necklace, found in the Bois de Boulogne, was cleared up late this aftornoon by the appearance at police headquarters of a Greek jeweler named Zygomalas, who said he had read descriptions of the original stolen pearls, and having seen photographs of them in the newspapers, had made an exact copy.

He took them, he said, to a theatrical man, proposing to him that it would be a good hit for a vaudeville theatre to exhibit the imitation necklace thereby showing that anybody could possess a good necklace for fifty francs. The theatrical man bought the necklace and lost it at the Bois restaurant.
