

Whatever may be thought of the illustrations just given, the main contention of this paper is that it is now possible to apply the scientific method to investigate the characters of God. The facts of religious experience will ultimately be a great aid in such investigation, but as yet they have not been sufficiently studied. This method of investigation, being the most reliable and accurate known, must supersede all others and give later a scientific theology in which men of all creeds and races will agree.

In conclusion, the method of investigation here outlined and illustrated leads toward the center and source of being, which center is generally designated as God. The use of any other term instead of "God" would lead to wrong inferences. Outside of this center there is no known God, and he is known only through study of the universe.
