

period of the Cholera, in taking upon yourself heavy personal responsibilities, are all circumstances which have created indelible impressions on our grateful recollections.

Your unwearied efforts for the benefits of this City, and the Province at large, demand our grateful acknowledgments; your having placed at the disposal of the Corporation the roads and bridges leading to the Peninsula, has been peculiarly acceptable to the City.

The establishment of that valuable institution, the College, under circumstances of great difficulty, and heavy personal responsibility, the concentration of the Public Offices, under similar difficulties, deserve the sincere thanks of the Inhabitants of the City, and of the Province.

But above all, we feel it due to your Excellency to express our gratitude for your unwearied and indefatigable attention to the business of the Province; your unceasing and successful efforts in promoting Emigration, by which alone the best interests of this Province can be secured; your anxiety for the general extension of Education, and the improvement of our public roads; and your efforts in obtaining surveys of parts of the Province before unexplored, are all proofs of your paternal solicitude for the well-being of those who are placed under your government; and will hand down your name to posterity as one of the greatest benefactors of the Province.

In conclusion, we beg most sincerely and affectionately to express our anxious hopes, that prosperity and happiness may attend yourself and LADY COLBORNE,
