Cobalt--- Heavy Dealings in Mining Stocks at Slightly Improved Quotations.

Brighter Undertone to Cobalts And Prices Firm Up a Little

Some Improvement Noted in Mining Market Under More Substantial Buying Movement—Timiskaming Higher.

World Office, Friday Evening, Dec. 9.

Cobalts showed an inclination to firm up on today's markets, there being a fairly substantial buying movement in progress, under which prices for several of the generally active issues recorded gains of small volume.

Trading was again of heavier volume than is usually the case, and there was a pronounced demand for some of the cheaper stocks, but there was still a disposition to put out stock, and this served to hold any material advances in abeyance.

Timiskaming was picked up at higher figures on the assumption that the directors would declare another dividend at their meeting in this city to-morrow. It has been stated that the company has been earning about a thousand dollars a day from the mill, and it is thought that a bonus will be given in addition to the regular stock dividend. It is understood that the total declaration will amount to eight per cent, the less optimistic prophets believe that the bonus will be not better than two per cent, which would mean five per cent. in all.

Right of Way gained a couple of points to-day, being bought solely for its dividend return. However sold off early, but was up at the close, while Little Nipissing after recording a decline on the morning board, also picked up in the late trading. Nipissing sold as high as $10.50.

The market showed signs of being in better control than during the earlier part of the week, and it was felt that if liquidation was held in check, prices might continue to show advances from recent low figures.
